Being in love was a gift. Being able to hold the person you love the most in the comfort of your arms, able to enjoy their touch, their laughter, their soft kisses in the dead of night and their sweet whispers of sweet nothings in the early hours or morning where no soul stirs.

It was total bliss.

Being able to kiss them and feel them felt like a dream, but then there are those who refuse to have it happen at all. They are afraid of being left alone in the dark pits of loneliness refusing to crawl out by themselves. So they make sure to keep as many people there as possible. They take any and all action to ensure it stays that way.

Like right now.

Standing in front of the civilian council were Naruto and Sasuke.

One was once the dead last of the academy and the other the last of his blood. Now they were both more than anyone expected of them.

Naruto made himself a friend to the Kyuubi-no-Kitsune and the other became an avenger. They were both the hero's of Konoha. The definition of unimaginable strength.

However, sometimes in times of great distress the strength you have fades away into nothingness.

Naruto was crying his eyes out and Sasuke was glaring at the people in front of him while trying to hold his boyfriend up.

"You can't do this. You can't meddle with our love lives. Just because you want to. It's not right," Sasuke said.

He was fuming. They called him to this meeting, made his blonde cry and now they want him to marry that pink banshee Sakura. He hated her. She was desperate, annoying, and pathetic. She was his stalker for Kami's sake. What idiot would marry their stalker.

"Yes, we can. This thing you have with Naruto is unnatural and it won't suit your clan image," Mebuki Haruno, Sakura's mother, said arrogantly. Her nose was in the air and her arms were folded over in front of her chest.

"What do you know about clan image? Three of my Uncles had been married to men. Their union brought forth children stronger than any seen before. Do you want to know why that happened? It's because of love. You just don't want to see me marry someone else, because that would mean that you can't brag about Sakura marrying an Uchiha." Sasuke said.

Mebuki scoffed, "My daughter deserves only the best. She has loved you for years. She stood by you and continued to love you even when you left. So you can repay her by marrying her and giving her your children. She is best suited for the role of your wife. Now get ready, because the Hyuuga-Uzumaki and Haruno-Uchiha wedding will be taking place within a week."

With that, the matter was closed. No one could change what would come next. They couldn't run because they would be declared fugitives, Mebuki would do that, and if they did run an Uchiha and an Uzumaki out in the open could spell trouble for the both of them.

The entire week that led up to the wedding Sasuke had shown his love for Naruto.

Soft whispers of I love you, kisses all over his body, sweet love making, and sweet nothings. Naruto was the only one for Sasuke and he wanted the blonde to hear it, understand it, feel it with every fibre of his being.

They had made a promise to each other. Long ago.

They were each others and no one else's. They can be forced into a marriage but they won't be forced to love someone they didn't, couldn't, wouldn't.

They had gotten married and on that night, as is customary and expected, their wives wanted to copulate after the beautiful wedding. They had each created a shadow clone while in the bathroom and sent them to do it. It was a clone so they would only have the memories and not the feeling that it gave them.

That night Naruto and Sasuke were in the old Uchiha compound. They were sat at the lake looking at the stars and enjoying the scenery.

They sat there for hours. Making jokes and kissing in the brightly lit moon's glow.

It was a few hours later when their clones dispersed.

Naruto's smile dulled and Sasuke's shoulders tensed up at the memories. He really didn't want to see those memories. Naruto leaned into Sasuke resting his head beneath Sasuke's chin.

"We will be okay," Sasuke said as he threw his arm around Naruto's shoulders.

"How do you know?" Naruto asked.

"Easy. Loving you is worth every risk we are about to take," Sasuke said as he kissed Naruto's temple.

Sasuke meant what he said. Every risk was worth it.

Now what both lovers didn't know was that at the time Naruto was pregnant with their first son Boruto.

Sasuke was overjoyed. He was going to be a father. A father to his and Naruto's child.

However, he was a bit shocked to find out that Sakura was pregnant too. Turns out when his clone was going to pull out she pulled him in making him cum in her.

Naruto was distraught, but he had gotten over it. It meant that their family was getting bigger. Even if the child wasn't his. He would love them just as much. He had just thought of Sakura as a surrogate.

They had taken their wives on vacation when Naruto reached six months. He was going to start showing and Sasuke was not risking the council finding out about their kid.

Knowing Mebuki she'd try killing their child or giving their kid to the ANBU black ops to create another weapon for Konoha.

They went to Naruto's homeland, Uzushiogakure. Once they arrived they put both Hinata and Sakura under a genjutsu.

They had made them believe that they were there throughout the entire pregnancy. When in reality they had been spending the rest of Naruto's pregnancy together.

They had gone out on dates, made love, and had a lot of cuddle sessions.

When the children were born they were only born two days apart.

The youngest baby that was born was Sakura's. Sakura had a beautiful baby girl. Her name was Sarada Uchiha.

She was a beautiful little girl with a mop of dark black hair. Her cheeks were dusted a light pink. The black eye's to match. She looked like a baby gender bend Sasuke.

Sasuke was going to lock her away from all men. That he knew for sure.

[image]

The first to be born was a beautiful baby boy. His name was Boruto Uzumaki Uchiha. The Uchiha was silent. He had a mop of blonde hair. Two big beautiful eyes. He had two whisker marks on each cheek. He looked like an identical copy of Naruto.

Sasuke couldn't be happier, but a bit worried. If Boruto looked like Naruto now that would mean he would grow up to be as beautiful as Naruto. That could lead to boys trying to get with him.

[image]

Sasuke had vowed to keep his son and daughter away from men who would even try it with them. They wouldn't stand a chance.

They had gone home about a week and three days after they had given birth. It was so that Naruto could rest and not strain himself.

Now Sasuke was given a mission by the current Hokage at the time, Kakashi Hatake. He had to go and collect intel on villages. Inside and outside the fire lands.

He did it. He left home. He sent Naruto letters daily. Told him how it was going. He sends a letter to Sakura about once a month. He claimed to be too busy to be sending her letters daily. Naruto was just more important to him than Sakura ever was or will be.

While on his mission he had heard Hinata had gotten pregnant. Now he wasn't pissed at Naruto in any way shape or form.

The reason being you may ask.

He knew that the baby was not Naruto's. There was one little thing that can never be denied.

Naruto has eurotophobia. He has a very big fear of the female reproductive system. Won't even come near one, much less stick his dick in one. That and he doesn't stick his dick in shit. He is a born-bottom.

So Sasuke's question was who the fuck did she sleep with and how does she have the audacity to pass the kid off as Naruto's?

Naruto had gotten the job of Hokage when he was twenty-five and Boruto was five. He had made sure to bury himself in his work. He wasn't going home most of the time and when he was home he had made it his mission to give Boruto all the much-needed attention that he craved.

It kind of hurt him when he heard Boruto call Hinata mom because he was Boruto's mom. He just made sure to spend extra time with him.

He and Sasuke continued to see each other, behind Hinata and Sakura's backs.

They didn't love their wives. Not the way that they wanted to be loved.

Sasuke had no love for Sakura whatsoever. Naruto did. She was his sister and Hinata was his friend. They were loved but not in the way they had hoped.

The only pure love that was shared was the love between them and it will continue to be as pure and unconditional as the day it was created.

Years after Boruto's birth Naruto was elected Hokage.

It had been his dream and with that dream came planning.

Naruto's first act as Hokage was to completely disbanded the entire civilian council.

For years they had walked over Hiruzen, faught with Lady Tsunade and tried getting Kakashi to do as they wanted not him.

Naruto was sweet and kind but he wasn't a push over.

He had made it clear that they were not to put their noses into Shinobi affairs because it had nothing to do with them. They were tasked with upholding village standards. Clean streets, health code, the works.

They didn't seem to think so and went against the Hokage's orders and tried getting their hands on important Shinobi documents. Naruto didn't like being disobeyed so he took action.

They disobeyed him so they had to be shown that he was not going to be played with. Naruto showed he was not going to be a pawn and that there was a food chain and that he was at the top.

Once they were gone Naruto started dealing with more paperwork. The Shinobi council and their wants and need were not hard to be met. Better equipment, safer working conditions that sort of stuff.

However, now Naruto was taking on the entirety of the civilian councils workload.

Complaints came directly to him, and all the paperwork that followed along with it. Now he had to listen to why the man on the street corner wanted to build a shop and then either approve or deny the paperwork. He was also in charge of solving civil disputes over anything and everything.

He once had two brothers fight over who was getting the nanny goat their father left behind on his farm after he passed away.

The extra workload was an inconvenience but he did it with ease and didn't complain about it at all. All his years of sitting in his Jiji's office had taught him how to deal with paperwork. That and Tsunade had taught him a lot while she was Hokage. She was drunk half the time and called it training for the future whenever she was tired of looking at paper.

Once Mebuki had no control over what he and Sasuke did he started setting up divorce papers.

Sasuke was still on a mission outside of the village. So he hadn't mailed the papers to Sakura.

When Naruto gave Hinata the divorce papers she was very nonchalant about it.

She had admitted to knowing that Boruto wasn't her son. She just didn't want to say anything. She knew what the council did and she didn't want to complicate the matter.

She had admitted to Himawari not being his daughter. She had, had an affair with a man and got herself pregnant.

When he found out she was pregnant he dropped her like a hot potato and ran for the hills. Turns out he was married and Hinata getting pregnant was not going to work out for him. Moron didn't want to wrap it before he tapped it.

Hinata and Naruto had  come to a collective agreement. They both decided to stay friends and that there was not going to be a custody battle. It would be pointless and put the kids in a distress.

Naruto was going to take Boruto and Hinata would take Himawari. They will both be able to see each other whenever they wanted to. They were still siblings after all.

Now all they had to do was tell the kids. Hinata said that she would do it. Naruto was like Sasuke when it came to bad news. He got straight to the point and didn't sugarcoat any of it.

So it was set.

Chapter 1

Boruto was walking down a dirt road that had lose rocks strewn all over. They were headed back to Konoha.

They had just recently finished up a mission escorting a merchant back to his village. They wanted to get home as soon as possible wanted to get home as soon as possible. B ranks are cool and all but traveling the road does not bode well for someone who's used to taking nice baths and sleep in comfortable beds.

So Boruto was just itching to get home.

He had been walking ahead of his team when he heard it. The crunching and then a thunderous rumble.

He turned his head and saw one of the bigger rocks was racing down toward the road they were on.

In its path was Mitsuki, frozen. Whether it be fear or shock he didn't move.

It is said that it only takes a few seconds to change the outcome of an event. Whether it be in someone's life or the entire world.

Boruto doesn't know how it happened. Naruto hasn't taught him the body flicker technique and Konohamaru-sensie hasn't even began to master. But somehow, someway he body flickered and appeared in front of Mitsuki.

He doesn't know when he started forming it but he did. His hand moved on its own and he threw the fully formed Rasengan at it.

It splintered into thousands of little pieces.

Konohamaru was gone, and most likely went to get whoever tried killing one of his students. Boruto turned around, wanting to make sure Mitsuki was okay.

Mitsuki wasn't always very expressive but his eyes were blown open and his mouth hung. Sarada, who was a few feet behind the two jogged up to them.

Her eyes widened and her mouth hung open as soon as she came to a stop and saw Boruto.

"What? What's wrong? Why are you two looking at me like that?" He asked as he looked between them.

"Boruto. Your eye." Sarada said.

"What about my eye?" He asked.

She pulled out the little mirror she kept in her pouch. She held it up to his face letting him get a look at his eye.

He could understand why they were shocked.

There it was. Prominently displaying itself in his left eye was the first stage of the Sharingan.

He stood frozen. Rooted to the ground. Maybe this was just a very weird dream or he's been drugged. Either way this couldn't be real.

But it was real.

They stood on the road for ten minutes with Sarada coaching Boruto on how to try and get the Sharingan to rest. It wouldn't do him well to keep it active for long.

Konohamaru wasn't as surprised as they thought he would be. He just sighed and told them to get moving.

Konohamaru knew that taking more A-B ranks was going to bite him in the ass. He just didn't think that it would be because of Boruto activating his Kekkei genkai. Oh brother, Naruto was going to freak out.

Sasuke was going to celebrate the fact that his son finally unlocked his Sharingan.

Yes, Konohamaru knew of the entire relationship. He was one of the few people who knew.

Others like Gaara, Shikamaru, and obviously him knew.

They were Naruto's most trusted friends. Well he one upped both of them because he was Naruto's little brother. He was the first to know about their relationship. You don't exactly forget your big brother having his tonsils inspected by a fugitive now do you.

It pissed him off. Knowing that his brother couldn't be with the man he loved but hopefully with the civilian council now gone things will go much smoother.

That's why he and Sasuke worked so well.However, no matter how much of a momentous occasion this is Naruto was going to freak out. His brother was the worlds strongest Ninja and the most unpredictable but he was also the most emotional.

As soon as Naruto was made aware of this he was going to freak out. It's one of the reasons Sasuke and Naruto's relationship made sense. Naruto was emotional and Sasuke helped regulate it.

Now his nii-san was gonna have to deal with this thing on his own.

They quickly made it home and went straight to the Hokage's office.

After handing him the mission report there was a noticeable silence that fell over the room.

"Dad," Boruto said catching his dad's attention.

"Yeah?" He asked.

Boruto was fidgeting with his fingers before he asked, "Are you, my real dad?"

Naruto stopped what he was doing and looked up. First, he looked at Boruto then he turned his attention to Konohamaru.

He silently asked his little brother if something happened.

Konohamaru nodded his head and shook it to the side. It was to be discussed in private. Which Naruto would have done anyway but now he knew he had to activate the silencing seals that surrounded his office.

"Can we be excused please?" Naruto asked.

However, Sarada was outside trying to listen in.

Naruto bit his thumb and activated the silencing seals. He made a motion to his Anbu to give them the room and when he was sure they were all gone he looked at his very impatient son.

"What happened for you to ask this question?" Naruto asked.

Boruto sat down on one of the chairs that was in front of his father's desk.

"Well, I have the Sharingan." He said looking at his father.

Naruto spine shot up straight. Boruto unlocked his Sharingan? The very same thing that only activates in times of great panic or when you have seen death. When those two came to mind Naruto jumped out of his chair and moved like never seen before.

He worriedly ripped Boruto out of the chair and crouched down to his level before inspecting him.

"I knew I shouldn't have sent you off on that stupid mission. It was too dangerous and you almost lost someone dear to you. How did it happen? What exactly went down for you to activate it?" Naruto asked as he inspected Boruto's face and arms.

"Well, when we were coming back to the village there was a guy who tried to kill us. He threw a really big rock at us and it was about to hit Mitsuki. So I ran over and saved him, but when I turned around to ask if he was okay he couldn't talk or anything. Sarada pointed out that I had the Sharingan. She helped me get it to go away, but everyone saw it." Boruto explained.

Naruto took deep breaths to calm his heart down. He needed a clear head to think this through.

"Okay. Boruto I am going to need you to go sit down on the couch. I have to call someone right now. So give me a couple of minutes."

Boruto groaned but nodded his head. He headed over to the green couch that was in the attached room and sat down with a huff.

Naruto quickly picked up his phone and called Sasuke.

It took two rings before he picked up.

"Look who called first. You miss me beautiful?" Sasuke asked. You could hear the smirk in his voice and you could feel the arrogance through the phone.

"No time for flirting this is important," Naruto said.

"What is it? Did the paperwork get too much? Sakura's on your ass about me taking so many missions? Mebuki come to your office again? You're horny? You want-" he was cut off by Naruto hurriedly exclaiming,"It's about Boruto!"

Sasuke's entire demeanor changed. Now he was just about ready to slaughter an entire village.

"What happened? Is he okay? Did he get hurt? Someone attack him? Oh, if I get hands-on whoever hurt my son they are dead. Naru give me-"

"No he's fine, but on his way back to the village he and his team were attacked. Thank Kami no one got hurt but right now there are a lot of questions."

"Then what happened?" Sasuke asked in a much calmer voice.

"Sasuke he unlocked it. His Sharingan. He unlocked it in front of Mitsuki and Sarada and right now he's asking me questions. Questions that I can't answer because right now I wanna cry or hyperventilate because my baby unlocked his SHaringan and we didn't tell him shit. What do I do?" Naruto asked. He was taking shorter breaths but at a faster pace then he was supposed to.

"Naru I'm gonna need you to calm down okay. So take a deep breath and clear your head. Okay after me. Breath in, one, two, three, four, five. Breath out. Breath in, one, two, three, four, five. Breath out. Just keep going." Sasuke said.

Naruto did as told. Breath in.

One.

Two.

Three.

Four.

Five.

Breath out.

"Okay now I'm going to quickly summon one of my snakes so they can keep an eye on things over here and then I'm gonna come back. You and Boruto stay in the Hokage tower and wait for me. Don't leave there. Don't do anything. Don't say anything okay. Just stay calm. I will be there in about half an hour. So get some water boiling and make us some tea." Sasuke sternly but softly instructed.

Naruto nodded his head before he remembered you can't see that while on a phone call.

"Okay. I will." Naruto answered back.

"Okay, I love you," Sasuke said.

Naruto felt his body relax at that. Everything will be okay.

"I love you too. See you in a few," Naruto said.

They hung up and Naruto was quick to compose himself.

Boruto just sat on the couch and watched his dad make tea. Which was weird because he didn't know his dad could do that.

Naruto was trembling something fierce as he poured the water almost spilling it in the process.

Boruto was a bit worried. His dad has never been like this. In fact he doesn't think he's seen his dad like this ever. Who was he on the phone with that made him worry so much? Why was he worried in the first place?

They sat in silence on the couch for about twenty minutes, before someone climbed through the window.

Naruto was the first to jump up and run towards Sasuke. His tea all but forgotten on the little table that was sat in front of the couch.

Sasuke opened his arms and Naruto basically flew into them with how fast he was going.

"Where's Boruto?" Sasuke asked.

"Right here. Now, will somebody please tell me what's going on?" He asked. He was a bit tired of waiting for his dad to tell him what was going on. Why did they have to wait for his Uncle to get here?

"Boruto you might wanna sit down for this. Come on let's go to the couch." Sasuke said.

Boruto just groaned but once again he went and sat down on the couch. Can't exactly say no to someone who was going to give you answers to the questions you ask.

Sasuke picked his blonde up and held him tightly against his chest. He sat down and looked at his son.

Who was looking at him funny as if he was asking 'what the hell he was doing?'

"Okay, Boruto. Now you and I both know you are smart enough to know that the Sharingan only runs in the Uchiha family?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah. I know. Which means one of two things is a possibility. Either my dad has an Uchiha Ancestor or you are my real dad. So which is it?" Boruto asked.

"I am your real dad. Or well your biological one that is," Sasuke said.

"Then why aren't you the one raising me? If you are my Dad then where is my real mom and why is Naruto raising me?" Boruto bluntly asked.

"Boruto you do not call the person who has raised you all these years by their first name like some spoiled brat. Naruto will be shown respect. I will not stand for anything less than that to be shown," Sasuke scolded.

"Why? He's not my real dad. So why should I care about someone who lied to me my whole life?! I don't like leiers," Boruto said yelled.

"Because he might not be your father but he is still your parent. Lying to you was not a choice either of us had to make. It was forced on the both of us. Lei to you or get you killed. Your mother, Naruto Uzumaki, made it so that you grew up loved. He made sure you didn't have to grow up having to look over your shoulder in fear of someone trying to kill you," Sasuke seethed out.

Boruto had a counter argument one that left no more room for this conversation but the words stopped before they could even reach his tongue.

Naruto's nerves had finally pushed his body to express what it was feeling and he had started crying. His breathing was erratic but he tried grounding himself. Tried holding on to anything that would make sure he didn't start panicking.

"H-he's my mom?" Boruto asked. He would have said more but his words were lost in his throat. a Jumble of what's, who's and why's refused to leave his throat.

Sasuke nodded his head trying to calm down the crying blonde in his arms.

"Why did you have to lie to me? Why couldn't you just raise me?

Where were you?" Boruto asked as tears were slowly forming in his eyes.

Sasuke sighed. If he didn't talk fast he would have two crying blonde's on his hands. This conversation was not going as planned.

"We had to. It was to keep you safe. You have no idea how badly we wanted to raise you. Side by side like we always wanted but the council would never have allowed you to live if we did," Sasuke said.

"What! Why?" He asked.

"They thought it was unnatural and wanted us to marry women so that we could continue our bloodline. Naruto wanted to raise you and he was afraid that if people, especially Sakura, found out who your actual parents were that they would hurt you." Sasuke explained.

Boruto took in the information, processed it, and then he looked at the man who has been raising him since he was a baby. Helped him with his homework and when he got sick sat up with him the whole night so he didn't have to be alone.

He pulled, Naruto's- no his mom's arm toward wanting him to look at him. Naruto slowly but surely turned around and Boruto threw his arms around his mother's neck. Hugging him tightly.

He whispered his sorry over and over.

Naruto looked at Sasuke who nodded his head in confirmation.

Boruto knew about everything. They didn't have to lei to him anymore.

Naruto couldn't be happier. He took Boruto into his arms and held him close.

No one was really keeping time but Naruto was exhausted from almost having a panic attack and Boruto was exhausted from both the information he had just received and not getting the best of sleep for almost three days straight.

Sasuke just sat there and ran his hand through Naruto's hair as he looked at his lover and his son.

So different but so similar at the same time. It amazed him and terrified him at the same time. Naruto wasn't exactly the most careful person in the world but boy was he stubborn. He saw it all first hand.

He had thought that all the things he pulled when they were both younger would make Naruto leave him.

This was not the case. Instead, Naruto showed Sasuke that he would stay loyal to him and nothing would change that. The blonde was stubborn he would tell you that.

Not even when he had gotten married. Speaking of Naruto still had to tell him how the entire divorce topic went with Hinata.

She had a major crush on him and their divorce might have gotten her a bit pissed. So he wanted to know what had happened during it all.

He looked down at his son and smiled. Naruto did a good job raising him.

He was smart.

In the academy, he had finished second in all his classes, but that was only because Shikadai was in his class and you can't compete with a kid who has genius imprinted into his DNA. They were both on par in the academic part of the school and took turns on first and second place. Boruto didn't finish first because he scored a 99 and Shikadai scored a 100 on their last test.

Now some ask how Boruto could be on par with a Nara? It's because his dad was Sasuke Uchiha. He was book smart and knew how to retain and use information as he saw fit.

He had finished first in his pe as well as his ninja training in the Academy. His ability to learn and adapt in situations was on a level that only came from a prodigy or a very experienced Ninja. Boruto's chackra and his agile mind was what helped him get to where he was at such a young age.

There was no question on where he got this from. Naruto was a threat to all his enemies and was seen as one of the strongest Ninja ever to be born after the birth of Madara Uchiha and Hashirama Senju.

He had the perfect balance of brains and strength. He was the perfect balance of mother and father.

Sasuke's thought process was cut short when he heard the door to the office creak open.

He looked behind him and was met with a teary-eyed Sarada.

"Is Hokage-sama my mom too or is he just Boruto's?" She asked a couple of tears going down her cheeks.

That's when Sasuke's heart dropped into his stomach.

Sarada had heard the conversation that had taken place between him and Boruto. This was not how they planned it.

Chapter 2

(TW: mentions of abuse)

Sarada sat outside the Hokage's office with her head in between her knees.

Boruto was her brother. He was her brother.

How was she supposed to deal with this? Why didn't they they tell her? Was she their daughter? Why didn't they tell her too? Was it because she wasn't as strong as Boruto?

Why would her grandmother do this? Why did she separate them?

She wanted to ask so much more but she couldn't. She didn't know how.

She slowly got up. Trying to get her shaky knees under control.

She took a deep breath but it did nothing to calm her nerves.

She turned toward the door and slowly pushed it open. A loud creaking sound was the only thing that signaled to everyone in the room that the door was opening. She walked into the office and looked at her dad.

"Is Hokage-sama my mom too or just Boruto's?" She asked and she could see her father freeze up like a deer in headlights.

Sasuke beckoned his daughter closer. She closed the door behind her. She opened it just a few inches and sat outside to listen in on the conversation when she realized the silencing seals had been activated.

She sat down next to her dad and looked up at him. Her eyes were heavy with tears that wanted to be shed.

"Is the Hokage-sama my mom or not?" She asked again. This time more firm.

He knew that sugarcoating wasn't going to work. Not with Sarada. Besides how do you sugarcoat something like this in the first place?

Sasuke sighed, "No he's not."

Sarada burst into tears. Big fat tears ran down her cheek one by one as sobs ripped through her chest and escaped through her mouth.

Sobs that woke Naruto up from his sleep. He slowly sat up, which made Boruto stir.

Naruto handed his son over to his father and got off of Sasuke's lap. He cradled the girl in his arms. Rubbing circles on her back and trying to comfort her. Get her to stop crying.

"Hey, what happened? Why are you crying?" He softly asked her.

Boruto fully woke up at the question. He looked at his mother in question and saw him cradling Sarada.

The tone of Naruto's voice had the opposite effect of what the blonde was hoping for. Sarada just started crying harder.

"I had really hoped that you would be my mom too," She said through broken sobs.

"Oh honey, why? You have Sakura. I know her cooking is atrocious but she is a great mom," Naruto tried but it didn't work.

"No, she's not. I don't like being alone with her. She's mean and she blames me for dad leaving all the time. It's not my fault and I know it's not my fault but I don't like it when Dad leaves us alone." She cried out.

"What does she do? Does she say mean things to you?" Naruto asked.

Sakura had a way with words.

"My wrists. When she's really angry she grabbes them and she won't let go. I don't like wearing my gloves or tapping my palms or my arms but if I don't she'll get mad and tell me I'm looking for attention. I don't, I promise I don't I just don't want to be in trouble anymore," She cried.

It was no secret that Sakura got physical when angry.

Naruto was living breathing proof of that. Having been Sakura's punching bag most of his life.

Sakura has always shown her love and devotion to Sarada. She never had anything negative or condescending to say about Sarada. So most would think that the girl was lying. How could the woman who devoted all her time and energy to you be capable of hurting you in any way?

Naruto knew though that people can be deceiving. That they can hide the truth. Anything can happen behind closed doors.

"Show me." He ordered her.

He needed to see just how bad Sakura was to Sarada. Make sure she didn't need any medical attention.

Sarada lifted up her arms and took off her gloves. She struggled with the bandages not wanting to detach themselves from each other. It didn't help that her hands were shaking. Boruto sat forward and ]helped Sarada unbandaged her hands and arms.

They were a deep blue and some were turning a bit yellow or a greenish yellow color. Indicating that they had been old marks. Which means this had been going on for a while. There was no indication that they were an accident. They were too deep and there were too many for them to be anything but deliberate.

Accidents are more erratic and all over the place. This was in one place and the bandages could be explained as either a sprained wrist from training or supports for her to throw the kunai.

Naruto was pissed. That was clear from his expression. Sasuke was thoroughly terrified by his lover's glare.

"Where is Sakura right now?" He asked Sarada. He was not gonna allow this.

He was not gonna allow Sarada anywhere near Sakura if this was happening. Something worse could happen if he didn't act fast. Cases of domestic abuse between a parent and a child don't usually end well.

"She's at grandma and grandpa's house." She said.

"Well, then this is going to be one hell of a reveal. Sasuke there are papers on my desk. They are your salvation at the moment. Grab them. Boruto you are coming along. Now let's go." Naruto said.

He jumped off of the couch, took off his kunai pack to make sure that he didn't actually kill Sakura as soon as he saw her. In his haste to put away his weapons he angrily picked up Sarada. and placed her on his hip before he made his way out of the Hokage's office.

It was a sight to behold.

Naruto Uzumaki marched down the cobblestone streets of Konoha. A look of pure anger on his face and blazing determination in his eyes. Some swore they saw his mother's spirit there with him. As soon as Kakashi saw him he dissapeared into the shadows while trying to make sure his Icha-Icha Paradise book was hidden away.

Sarada Uchiha was in his arms with a bewildered look on her face and tear streaks down her cheeks. Some of the more aware took notice of the bruises that littered the girls. Naruto was on his way to a confrontation was the conclusion most came to.

Boruto Uzumaki followed his father closely. A look of concern on his face but his eyes. They had the same determination as his fathers did.

Then there was Sasuke Uchiha who was following after his daughter and his Hokage. He carried a few papers in his hands and looked about ready to pass out from what some deciphered as fear.

Naruto quickly made his way to the Haruno home.

He furiously knocked on the red door. If he knocked any harder he would have broken down the door or cracked a few walls in the house.

Mebuki Haruno opened the door. She smirked seeing the Hokage. She thought he was there to beg her to come back. She told him he needed her, but he wouldn't listen.

Before she could open her mouth and say she told him so he barged into the house and started yelling Sakura's name.

He was followed by Boruto and Sasuke.

"Sakura where the fuck are you!" Naruto yelled out.

Sakura stood up from the couch in the sitting room and was met with an angry Naruto and Sarada's tear streaked face.

"Oh my god, what happened to her? Is she oka-" Sakura was cut off by Naruto slapping her hand away.

"You know exactly what is wrong with her. I knew you were terrible but blaming someone who had no hand whatsoever in your misery," Naruto said.

Sakura's expression changed from shocked to enraged. How dare the blonde dead last stick his nose in matters that had nothing to do with him?

"She's my daughter. What actions I take to discipline her are none of your concern and Hokage or not you don't have any right to questioning my parenting," She said. Folding her arms looking smugly at the Hokage.

"What exactly are you disciplining her for? Because I know for a fact that Sasuke not being around is not her fault! Besides, you can't exactly blame her! She is a child and what you did was abuse and not discipline! You physically assaulted her!" Naruto yelled.

"Who else would be at fault? The minute she was born Sasuke left. He doesn't even take breaks to see us. To see me. So who else would keep him away if not her?" She asked.

"You. You could be the reason that Sasuke isn't around much. Ever think about that? You stalked him his entire life, when he went rogue you put it on me to bring him back, you gave up on him, tried to kill him and when he came back you changed and all of a sudden you didn't turn your back on him. You are the reason Sasuke is leaving and not Sarada. The daughter he loves," Naruto said.

"That's not true. Sasuke went to my mom and asked her to marry me. He loves me!" She yelled at him.

"No he doesn't! He's only still with you because he hasn't gotten the time to give you the divorce papers. While you're trying to put the blame on others for your misgivings Sasuke has been coming home to me," Naruto said.

"Why would he be coming home to you?!" She asked.

He lifted his hand to cover Sarada's ears and motioned for Sasuke to do the same with Boruto.

"Because he loves me and is screwing me every chance he doesn't have to see your face!" Naruto said.

Sakura was stunned. Her Sasuke-kun was coming home. He came home to see Naruto. They were having sex. She was fuming.

Naruto had led her Sasuke-kun astray. He had somehow gotten her Sasuke-kun to like him and was making him do these things.

She walked towards Naruto and lifted her fist. She had gone in for a punch only to be stopped by Naruto punching her into the wall.

He turned around and took the papers Sasuke had in his hands to give them to Mebuki, "If she doesn't sign these and have them in my office by tomorrow then I will arrest her. On account of attempting to attack the Hokage, Neglect of a child, and Domestic violence. She can have the house we don't care about it but Sarada is now in Sasuke's custody. Do not test me Haruno. I will bury you under a mountain of lawsuits for not only what has happened here but what you and the council have been doing for the past five years. So do as I say," He said.

He walked out of the house and walked back down the cobblestone path and went straight back to the Hokage's office. He had tea and biscuits in his office.

Sarada loved them and it would help her.

They quickly went back to Naruto's office. Naruto put Sarada on the couch, where she was joined by her dad and brother.

Naruto put the kettle on again and made himself and Sarada some chamomile tea and for Sasuke and Boruto he made some green tea. Neither of them liked anything sweet.

He gave Sarada her tea and sat beside her.

"How are you feeling?" Naruto asked calmly.

His anger was gone and his soft, nurturing voice had returned.

"I could have made her go away sooner if I just told you," Sarada said. She was feeling like an idiot for not telling him earlier. She was just so afraid that her mother would do something to her.

Naruto stroked the girls back in comfort.

"You were afraid that she would hurt you more. There is no reason to be ashamed of keeping quiet. I am so proud that you spoke up about it before it was too late because things could have gotten out of hand if you didn't." Naruto said.

"Yeah, they could have. Naruto was usually the one who got punched when Sakura lost her temper. I should have known that she would do something like this. She's too shallow to think about anything." Sasuke said.

"Yeah. Don't beat yourself up about it at all," Boruto said as he rubbed her shoulder.

Sarada nodded her head but she still felt like an idiot.

Boruto just sighed and hugged her. She needed her big brother.

Sasuke watched as his kids interacted. His eldest comforting his youngest and both of them feeling safe around each other.

Sasuke then looked at Naruto, his angel, his saving grace and his other half before. he took his hand and intertwined their fingers.

He smiled his rare Uchiha smile making Naruto's heartbeat quicken. Sasuke's smile was something truly sculpted by angels. Mostly because it isn't seen very often.

Boruto and Sarada looked at them and they could see it. The look of pure love and adoration. Sasuke was never home and when he was he never showed his affection or love towards Sakura. She wasn't his light or someone he genuinely cared for.

The same with Hinata and Naruto. You could see that there was love, just not Romantic. They were more like friends. Naruto and Hinata had only stayed together to raise their kids in a stable environment.

That's when it hit him. They hadn't talked about Hinata.

"Mom, what about Hinata?" Boruto asked.

Naruto looked away from Sasuke and smiled at his son.

"Well we wanted to tell you this when you got home, but Hinata and I are getting a divorce. She took it quite well." Naruto said.

"What about Hima?" Boruto asked.

"Well, Hinata had disclosed to me that Himawari was not my daughter. I already knew, I just didn't want to bring it up. We decided that we would take our biological kids with us, but if you want to see her you can just ask." He said.

"Is Hinata getting the house? If she is where are we staying? Is it already worked out or are we staying with Hinata for a couple of months?" Boruto asked making Naruto smile.

His son was proud of the fact that he was going to be living with him. He also enjoyed that Boruto called him mom instead of dad.

He liked it that way.

"Well, I got some people to clean up and repair the old Uchiha Compound. So when it's ready we can move in." Naruto said.

"The old compound? Why not the one where I used to live? Why there?" Sasuke asked.

"It could bring back some bad memories for you. Tobirama had moved the Uchiha further away from the village to exclude them. We aren't doing that. Besides, I think it would be better to live in the village and show unity. We can't be divided again. It's also the place where your parents and clan died. It can't be used for housing. I'm making it a historical landmark." Naruto said.

"Why?" Sasuke asked.

"So that people can remember what corruption can do to you. What hurting others can lead to. I don't ever want what happened to your clan to happen again." Naruto said.

Sasuke gave a small smile. No matter what anyone said his blonde was smart. He wasn't as book-smart as others, but street-smart. He knew how to handle certain things. That and if Naruto wanted to he could be book smart too. He was Hokage after all. That's not a job for an idiot and what he's doing right now the shows that he is smart enough to leave a reminder.

"Then we will move into my ancestral home and raise our family there." He said kissing the blonde's cheek.

Naruto giggled at the action.

Sarada and Boruto just looked at each other and silently agreed that they would forever protect this family. The love and adoration that they felt must be protected. Their family must be protected.

Chapter 3

Sasuke had to go back on mission a few days after the incident. His snake had been dispersed and he couldn't leave his post for too long. Naruto didn't mind. He and the kids were having fun together.

Sarada had moved all her stuff out of her old house and moved it into the house Naruto and Hinata shared for the time being.

Naruto and Hinata worked better together as friends than they did as husband and wife.

Some of the villagers questioned how they could still be so civil after everything that had happened.

The Anbu had families and Naruto let them talk to their families about everything. When the divorce was made public those women and men went public with everything the council did.

Then the villagers saw the way the two worked together and just let it go.

It would have been a week since the big reveal when Naruto moved himself and the kids out of the house and into their new one.

Hinata would get to keep the house for herself and Hima so that they wouldn't need to move into the Hyuuga compound.

Hiashi was not a very kind man. He was old school. If you have marital problems and try getting a divorce he will scorn you.

She was already in therapy for her commitment issues. She did not need to also go because Hisashi was making off-handed comments about everything she did.

He's an amazing grandfather but he sucked as a dad.

Naruto walked through the sunlit streets of Konoha, down the dirt paths.

They walked past malls and little shops. Food stalls, the works.

From the distance, you could see the old Uchiha compound. The one where they all stayed before Tobirama became a giant pain in the ass.

Since it was the old compound it had to be fixed up and refurnished. It had to be given the works for it to work.

Boruto and Sarada were Uchiha and thanks to Hiruzrn and Danzo not doing their job right most of the history of the Uchiha was stolen or destroyed.

Sasuke's absence had a negative effect on Sarada in another way. She had no idea where she came from. Her heritage, everything.

In fact, Naruto had to explain to her where her Sharingan came from and how to use it.

It was not easy.

The little family of three came to a stop in front of the large gate.

It was big and looked to be able to fit three Choji's in there.

The entrance was formed like a bridge and on top of it was very clearly written Uchiha clan. The fan that symbolized their clan was perched above it. Standing proud to display itself to the whole village.

They entered the compound and there were a whole lot of old and restored houses.

All of them looked the same and they were big. It looked like the village. It could very well be a village. With the way the Uchiha reproduced they could have created an entire village all on their own.

The cobblestone path led right through the compound and branched out to the rest of the houses.

All the houses had a wooded texture but it was made with brick.

The roofs were either red or green and the houses themselves were painted either an off-white or just plain beige.

The main house, which housed the clan head and his family, was painted a beige color. The symbol for the Uchiha clan was painted on opposite sides of the door.

It was bigger than the other houses because the clan heads tended to either have more wives, or a lot of children, or both.

"Mom is this where we are going to be staying?" Boruto asked as he looked at the house with his mouth agape.

"Yes. This is the main house and as the clanheads and heirs we get to stay here," Naruto said as they started walking to the center of the compound.

"We are?" Sarada asked.

"Well your dad is the clan head," Naruto said.

"Is he just the clan head because he is the last Uchiha male?" Sarada asked.

It was a mission to explain the entire massacre to Sarada and Boruto. Why it happened, what led up to it, everything.

To Sasuke, it was a sore spot. The only way you could get him to talk about it was if you got him drunk.

He accepted that he would never get them back. That they are gone forever and he'll never get to see them again. He just hasn't gotten over it.

Naruto doesn't think that he ever will.

"Well, your father was the youngest son of Fukagu Uchiha and Mikoto Uchiha. Before the massacre, they were the clan heads. His older brother Itachi would have been the next in line for the title, but sadly Itachi died. So the title was immediately passed down to your father. So even if the clan was alive today we would still be living within the walls of the main house or near it in any case," Naruto said.

"So if dad is clan head wouldn't that make you, by definition, the clan matriarch?" Boruto asked.

"Yes. Your father is the Uchiha and I am marrying into the family. So by logical standards, I would be considered the matriarch or in this case the head matriarch of the Uchiha clan," Naruto said.

He never really gave it much thought but if the clan was still alive and Itachi didn't want to be head then that would make Naruto clan Matriarch.

"Does that mean you're going to start wearing women's kimonos? Like Aunty, Ino does at social events?" Boruto asked with a snicker.

Naruto thought about it for a couple of seconds before answering, "Sure. Sarada and I will be going shopping for kimonos tomorrow anyway. There is a festival coming up and we could use some new clothes. Besides I would look better in a dress anyway."

That and Sasuke would freak out if he saw him in a Kimono. Even more, if it was a Kimono with the Uchiha symbol on the back.

In fact, that would most likely fuel their next roleplay scene

What would the rest be though?

"Why do I have to get new Kimonos? It's not like I don't have any and I don't even wear the ones I have. So why should I get a new one?" Sarada asked. Her arms crossed while she looked the other way.

"The Kimonos we are getting you are going to be for social events only. I am getting you new Kimonos because the ones you have are not your style. You like your darker, richer colors. You didn't pick out the ones you have so we can keep them, if you want, or donate them, if you want. Either way, you are getting two maybe three new ones so that you can have something formal to wear," Naruto said.

Sarada's eyes turned wide.

Only two or three? Not an entire closet full of them?

She wanted to celebrate. Finally, something she wanted.

"When are we leaving? How early do I need to get up? Can I get anything I want?" She asked as she tried keeping up with Naruto's steps.

"How about we sleep in and then we go shopping? You have had a lot of missions lately. I remember being a Genin and it was so tiresome. So you can rest up and be full of energy for the day," Naruto said.

They had made their way up the steps of their new home. Naruto unlocked the red door and walked into the house with a bright smile on his face.

Naruto quickly got to unpacking the clothes and their furniture.

Boruto and Sarada were in charge of finding their rooms and decorating them as they saw fit.

That way they could have it look exactly the way they wanted it to look.

By nightfall, thanks to clones and well-placed storage seals, they had unpacked everything and the whole house was in order.

Moving furniture around all day and the excitement of the new house made them all way too tired to cook or go out to eat so Naruto placed an order at the Akimichi Barbeque shop.

Δ•°°•Time Skip•°°•Δ

Sasuke was sitting in a large, and very uncomfortable tree enjoying the light breeze that was lightly running over his face.

It was like a breath of fresh air after having to struggle trying to breathe. It was hot here.

He was currently in a small village.

The other nations including Konoha had asked him to investigate a possible trafficking ring.

He had tracked them all the way to this little village.

They kept the "product" in an underground level which was hidden behind a secret door in the basement of the house that they had bought.

It was a man and a woman.

Sasuke was raised to never attack a woman unless she attacks you but boy did he want to destroy this one.

She was the ringleader of this entire shit show.

She was the one who got the girls or the boys or in some sick fucks cases the kids and she'd also "keep them in line" which was code for torturing them as much as her heart desired.

Her partner got the clients to come and he spotted potential buyers.

This mission took months because Sasuke had to track down all the clients and the suppliers. One he would stoop to torture to get what he wants the other he would let the "product" handle it. Some of the suppliers were just as messed up as the actual sellers and buyers.

He was just staking the place out because he wanted to get in and out. Kill the bastards and free the people inside so they can go home.

He wanted to be with his family. They were most likely watching a movie with Naruto. Enjoying his company.

Something he could really use right now. Some of these kids are as old as Sarada and Boruto and there was one man who was tiny, tanned, and blonde. He looked just like Naruto and it freaked Sasuke the fuck out.

He could be spending some very much-needed time with his family.

He laid his head against the tree and closed his eyes. His snakes will keep watch. He was envisioning what they would do in the future.

Mornings with the family.
Waking up bright and early next to Naruto.
Taking the kids out to the arcade and festivals.

He loved doing that.

However, now it was going to be a reality.

He had his family back. He got to wake up next to Naruto every morning without the fear of the council.

So he decided to screw it. He had been staking the place out for a month and he was ready to hit a bitch.

[image] [image]

Sasuke had gotten home around nine pm.

The village streets were dead silent and there wasn't a soul in sight. He had quickly made his way to the compound. He wanted to see his blonde and fast. The kids were most likely asleep by now.

Unpacking and arranging an entire house is what could put a teenager to sleep in seconds.

He arrived at the compound and was amazed.

It looked to be brand new. As if it hadn't been abandoned for years.

He quickly made his way to the head house. The front door was locked.

Luckily for him, Naruto was smart enough to know that if Sasuke showed up unannounced that he would need a key. So Sasuke got the key out of the fake ground in the potplant and opened the door.

He locked it behind him and took in everything that was in front of him.

Naruto had put a rack for shoes on the left side of the doorway. On the same wall was a key holder.

He took off his shoes, hung the key, and walked down the hallway. There were no boxes so Sasuke knew that Naruto had packed everything away.

He looked into the living room, which was the first entrance he saw that went down the hall.

It was beautiful. There were three couches.

The longest one was against the wall opposite of Sasuke. The two smaller couches were on the left and right sides of the room. The set was entirely black in color and looked to be new.

a Black coffee table in the middle of the room. It was entirely black in color and had a glass cover on top of the wood.

On the left side of the room was a window. There were black curtains with gold embroidery hanging from the curtain railing.

Naruto had fun with the photos because there were a lot of them. He looked at the walls decorated with all of their photos.

There were a couple of them at different places.

That one vacation they took to Suna. Naruto had left a shadow clone to do the paperwork because he didn't want it to pile up.

He and Naruto had gone on dates and had a whole lot of hotel room sex.

There was another one where they arrived at Uzoshiogakure. They went there when Naruto claimed to be at a meeting between him and Gaara concerning trades.

They had celebrated their 10th year of them dating.

That was an anniversary that Sasuke would never forget. He can't disclose many details, but what he can say is that it involved a short maid's dress, a pair of handcuffs, and a whole lot of toys.

Yeah, their sex life was never dull. That's what he loved about his blonde vixen.

Sasuke walked further down the hallway and walked into the kitchen. Naruto made sure that he could work in it that's for sure.

It was big and looked to be enough for Naruto to want to spend hours in there just to bake.

Sasuke did not mind that. Many thought that Naruto only lived on ramen but living alone he had to learn how to make do with what he had.

He could make some of the most delicious dishes with just a few ingredients. He just didn't do it much, because he was usually in a hurry.

Sasuke could say that he would enjoy his blonde cooking for him.

Sakura couldn't really cook. She had the worst kitchen skills. He still wonders about the phenomenon of how to make bacon dry.

He walked into the kitchen and turned left into what looked like the dining room.

He walked up the stairs that were on the right side of the room and walked up the stairs. He was met with a long hallway. He turned around and saw that there was a lounge area and a couple of extra rooms behind him.

Naruto must have put new carpeting in because it looked wonderful.

Sasuke wanted to cry.

He was so proud of his lover. He had made sure to fix up his old ancestral home and not change a thing. Making sure to keep it as close to the old one as possible.

He turned back around and followed the hallway.

He walked past Boruto's room and Sarada's room. Both doors were closed so he could only guess that they were currently sleeping.

He walked up until he reached the end of the hallway.

He opened the door and was met with a sleeping Naruto.

He walked over to his blonde and crouched down. Kissing him on the forehead.

The action woke the blonde up.

He looked at the raven through sleepy eyes. He sat up when he was fully aware of who was with him.

He placed his hands on Sasuke's face and gave him an eye-blinding, sun-rivaling smile.

"Welcome back home Sasuke." He said.

Sasuke smiled at his blonde and hugged him.

"Hey if you want to get into your sleepwear look in the cupboard near the vanity," Naruto said.

Sasuke nodded his head and walked over to the cupboard near the vanity. He got out a clean pair of boxers, took off his clothes, and put them on.

He looked at his blonde, who was blushing up a storm, and smirked.

He walked over to the bed and got in under the covers. He pulled his blonde down, making him giggle.

"I missed you," Sasuke said.

Naruto snuggled into Sasuke, breathing in the freshly dropped rain on the forest floor scent.

"I missed you too. You have no idea how lonely it is without you here." Naruto said.

"Well, I will be sticking around more. Can't have my little sun looking after the kids and this house all alone. No matter how strong he is." Sasuke said.

Naruto giggled, "So you aren't gonna be taking extra long missions just for me?" He asked.

"Why would I? I have no reason to not come home anymore. My sun and stars are all together. I wouldn't want to leave them, now would I?" Sasuke said.

Naruto giggled and snuggled deeper into Sasuke.

Kami stood in their humble abode. Jumping with joy.

Their OTP was finally together.

They had decided to reward the couple for coming out on top. They deserved it.

He called upon them.

"What the hell is going on here?!" Yelled a raven-haired man.

"Calm down honey. We need to listen to what Kami-sama has to say." a Raven-haired woman that was next to him said.

"Thank you. Now as a favor from I the great Kami-sama, I would like to give you life once more. To roam the earth in the flesh you once bore." They said.

The people in the room froze. Why would the great Kami-sama grant them such an honor?

"Will I see him? Will I be able to see my little boy?" Asked another woman. Her hair was red and her eyes brimming with unshed tears.

Kami smiled and nodded their head.

The woman started crying, "You hear that Minato. We are gonna see our baby." She said.

The mentioned blonde took the crying redhead into his arms in comfort.

"What about us? Are we gonna see Sasuke? Am I gonna see my little boy?"

Kami nodded their head again.

Mikoto busted into tears.

"How have they been? Is Naruto healthy? Is he happy? Who did he marry? Do I have grandbabies?" Kushina asked.

Kami just smiled and nodded.

"Is it just us that you will be reviving or will you revive the entire Uchiha clan?" Fugaku asked.

"Yes. The entire Uchiha clan." Kami said

"Including Madara and Obito?" Minato asked.

"Yes. Including them. They are Uchiha's as well." Kami said

"What if they try to start another war? This could be the Shinobi world's downfall." Minato said.

"Trust me. They won't. Not when they see what they would have to go through to start another war. So do not worry Minato." Kami said.

"When do we get to see them? When do I get to hold my baby boy again?" Mikoto asked.

"Within a month you will be able to go back to your sons. So please be patient while you wait." Kami said.

They snapped their fingers allowing them to return to where they were before.

Kami looked through their crystal ball at the sleeping couple. Smiling in glee at the overwhelming cuteness.

Chapter 5

The next morning when Boruto and Sarada woke up they immediately ran to their mother's room.

They had to wake him up.

Sarada had never done this before, because Sakura would be in a bad mood if she did.

So Boruto had decided to give her the luxury of waking up their mom.

He explained the plan to her and both, on the count of three, opened the door with a bang making both their mom and dad wake up. They quickly ran in and jumped onto the bed.

Both landed on Naruto. He was luckily prepared for the impact of the fall.

Both were stunned to see their dad sitting right next to their mother. They didn't hear him get in last night. They didn't even detect his chakra.

They were frozen for a couple of seconds, then they jumped onto their dad. Successfully welcoming him back.

"Morning Mom, morning Dad!" Sarada said happily.

"Morning my babies," Naruto said with a smile as he pulled Boruto closer to him.

Sarada soon followed. Naruto hugged them both and held them close. Sasuke just smiled and pulled all three of them into his chest.

"Morning," Sasuke said.

The two just snuggled into their parents.

"How did you kids sleep? Was there any discomfort or anything like that?" Naruto asked.

He himself knew that the first night in a new house could cause discomfort for most people. So he needed to hear what they had to say.

"Hmm, nothing on my side. It was actually quite peaceful and I didn't have any problems with the cold. What about you big brother?" Sarada asked.

She had for some reason taken up calling him Big Brother because she was younger than him.

"Hmm, nothing. So same as Sarada I guess." Boruto said.

"Hey, when exactly did Dad get back?" Sarada asked.

"I got home at around midnight. I snuck through the house and didn't want to wake you both up." Sasuke said.

Sarada and Boruto nodded at the answer and started talking about what they would be doing with their uncle at training the next day.

Naruto looked at Sasuke, who was looking at him. His eyes were full of happiness.

The reason as to why Sasuke was so happy was because he was finally with the family that he wanted. He wanted to be there for them. He wanted to stick around because his sun and two little stars were together. They were together now.

Sarada's stomach growled out in hunger, making Naruto and Sasuke look at her. Said girl encircled her stomach and out of embarrassment started blushing up a storm.

Naruto giggled at his daughter's reaction.

"Come on babies. Let's go make you some breakfast." Naruto said.

Boruto and Sarada got up and ran to the kitchen.

Naruto got up and Sasuke almost got a nosebleed. Naruto was in his boxers and one of Sasuke's shirts, said shirt reached to Naruto's thigh. He looked so hot right now.

"You coming down with me?" Naruto asked. He was on the bed on all fours he had already put his shorts on and he was looking at Sasuke.

Naruto being as close as he was pulled Sasuke out of his lewd thoughts.

"Uh no not yet. I still gotta get dressed. So why don't you go start breakfast while I get dressed." Sasuke said.

Naruto smiled and nodded. Then he pulled Sasuke in for a kiss. It was soft and gentle, but turned hard and heated.

Naruto was seated on Sasuke's lap grinding on the raven's hard-on. Every time Naruto felt it twitch or jump even a little bit he moaned.

"Mom?!" Boruto shouted from downstairs.

Making both adults pull away from each other with a groan.

"Yes, sweetie?" Naruto shouted back.

"What do you want us to get out for breakfast?" Boruto yelled back.

"Well, what do you want to eat?" Naruto asked.

"We want waffles," Boruto shouted back.

"Then get the ingredients," Naruto said.

Boruto shouted back an okay before going to get the ingredients for the waffles.

Naruto sighed, "I guess we are not finishing up right now." He said as he stood up.

"I will just finish in the bathroom," Sasuke said.

"No need. While I make breakfast every morning the kids watch TV in the living room." Naruto said.

"What do you propose I do then? Grind into you're perky ass while you're making breakfast?" Sasuke asked with a smirk.

Naruto smirked at the raven and said," Well you could grind, but if you wear your cape, which wouldn't allow any unwanted eyes on us, I could always jerk you off."

With that Naruto left the room. Making the raven quickly get up and slip on his cloke.

He walked out of their room, down the hall, down the stairs, and into the kitchen.

No kids were currently present in the kitchen. He could hear the TV in the living room.

Naruto had cut up some bananas and strawberries, while he had chocolate on the stove in a bowl surrounded by warm water. So chocolate-covered waffles with bananas, strawberries, and blueberries. Most likely with whipped cream.

Naruto was done with cutting the fruit so he turned on the six-plate waffle maker. (Don't know if it exists, but just pretend it does.)

The blonde turned around and smirked.

Sasuke walked closer and opened his boxers so that Naruto could put his hand in.

Naruto smirked and slipped his hands into the raven's boxers grabbing hold of his hard cock.

He slowly started moving his hand up and down the raven's shaft.

Sasuke held onto the counter as to keep his balance and steadily threw his head back.

Naruto has always had small hands. Both were just big enough to encircle his cock. The feeling the blonde usually gave him was magical.

Naruto's second hand slipped into the raven's boxers and started fondling his balls.

Sasuke leaned forward. Enjoying the feeling of ultimate pleasure he was getting.

He looked at his blonde and pulled him in for a kiss. Their tongues clashed and entangled with each other. Sasuke pulled his blonde sun closer by cupping his ass.

When Naruto started running his finger over the tip of Sasuke's cock was when the raven started leaking pre-cum.

Naruto sped up his pace and pretty soon Sasuke cummed in his hands.

Naruto pulled his hands out of Sasuke's boxers, licked the excess cum off, and gave Sasuke one last kiss before going to wash his hands.

He wasn't gonna touch the food that he would serve to his kids with cum filled hands.

Sasuke quickly ran back upstairs to change into some clothes.

Naruto continued with the waffles.

He poured the batter, stirred the chocolate, and made the whipped cream. No way was he gonna go with that store-bought crap.

He could make it better anyway.

Sasuke came back down about ten minutes later, he made sure that he put his clothes in the laundry basket, Naruto would kick his ass if he didn't, and helped his blonde with the food.

"Oh, Sasuke. Sarada and I are gonna go shopping for Kimonos after this. So you and Boruto can either come along with us or you could do you're own thing." Naruto informed.

"Me and Boruto will spend the day together. That way we won't bother you or Sarada." Sasuke said as he was setting the plates.

"What would you two be doing?" Naruto asked.

"How about I take him to the forest of death? I'm sure he would enjoy the exotic animals there. He could also get some training in if he wants to." Sasuke said.

Naruto smiled, "I think he would love that."

When the waffles were done Naruto put them into plates and topped them with melted chocolate, and whipped cream, he put the fruits on the cream and to top it all off he poured orange juice for each of them.

"Kids come and eat." He shouted.

A few seconds later both Boruto and Sarada were in the kitchen and sitting at the little island that was in the middle of the room.

"Itadakimasu," They all said before they started eating.

"Ooh this tastes so good," Boruto said.

"Mom, when exactly are we leaving?" Sarada asked.

"About an hour after we have finished eating. I still have to get in the shower." Naruto said, making Sarada nod

"If you and Sarada are going out what are me and Dad gonna do?" Boruto asked.

Sasuke swallowed his food before answering, "We are going to the forest of death. We could either train or go sightseeing. Thought you'd like it."

Boruto nodded his head. It would be fun.

They finished their food and each of them went to get ready.

Chapter 6

Boruto and Sasuke made their way out of the compound.

Both Naruto and Sarada were getting ready for their day out. Naruto was in the shower and Sarada was taking a nice bath. It was really fun to have your own personal bathroom in your room. They were taking too long so Sasuke and Boruto just said goodbye through the doors.

They slowly made their way to the forest of death.

"Hey, Dad why was Sakura such a bitch to Sarada? I know it's because she thought Sarada was keeping you away, but she couldn't have been that stupid, right?" Boruto asked.

He had asked his mom many times, but every time Sakura's name was mentioned Naruto would scowl. He really didn't like the woman.

"Sakura is a very easy woman to describe. She is strong, but only physically. She could use that strength to be a better ninja, but in reality, she is just not fit to be one. You see Boruto being a good ninja has nothing to do with just brute strength it is only a small fraction of being a ninja, but it has mostly to do with smarts. You need to be able to work out a strategy and if you only rely on brute strength you are done for. Now this brings us to your question. Sakura has gotten used to only one mindset, she is right and no one else can have a say in it, that she uses it in her daily life." Sasuke said.

"So she thought that her assumptions on why you weren't there the whole time were right," Boruto said.

"Yes. She has also gotten used to blaming others for her problems and the mindset of its not me it's them is permanent. Everyone is wrong and she is right. Everyone else is the problem and not her."

Sasuke said.

"So you left most of the time to get away from her. That I understand, but why wouldn't you stay more than a month to be with Sarada?" Boruto asked.

"The longer I stayed the more she tried to pressure me into having another kid with her. I wasn't going to let that happen." Sasuke said.

"What are we going to do when Sakura comes after us?" Boruto asked.

"What makes you think she's gonna come after us?" Sasuke asked as they neared the gate of the forest. It was a large gate that made sure people didn't accidentally enter and get hurt.

"I've heard from Inojin who heard from Uncle Sai, who heard from Aunty Ino who said that when they had their girl's night out that Sakura had made threats to come after us. She was drunk when she said it, but what a drunk person says is a sober person's actual thoughts." Boruto said.

Sasuke unlocked the gate and both he and Boruto walked in.

"Hm well if she does come after us then I wouldn't have to worry much about it," Sasuke said locking the gate behind him.

"Why is that? You don't see her as a threat?" Boruto asked.

"I didn't say that. Sakura poses a threat to all of us one hundred percent. There is no doubt about that, but your mother scares me more than she does." Sasuke said.

Both he and Boruto walked into the forest taking in the scenery and looking at the exotic animals that were all around them.

"Why does mom scare you more than Sakura does?"

"Well, your mom is a very nice, kind, very loud, energetic, and caring person. He doesn't get angry easily, but when he does get angry it's scary. His hair raises up a bit and his smile gets replaced with a glare that would make Madara Uchiha himself quiver in fear.

He gets real quiet too." Sasuke said.

"When mom saw the bruises on Sarada's arms his hair lifted. Is that why you were scared of him at that moment?" Boruto asked.

"Yeah. Your mom had gotten pretty pissed because of that. That's why I don't do things that would get him the least bit upset or worry him too much." Sasuke said.

Boruto nodded at that.

They sat down against a rock. Taking in the scenery. If you ignored the death part the forest was quite peaceful and very relaxing.

"You know you remind me a whole lot of your mom," Sasuke said.

"How so?"

"Well your looks are a dead giveaway, your need to show that you are stronger is something you get from both of us, but your personality it mirrors his from when he was you're age."

"What was mom like when he was a kid?" Boruto asked.

"Well, when he was younger he was so energetic. I still don't know where he got it from, must be a Uzumaki thing. He always had a smile on his face. He was also strong. For such a small person he could pack a punch. One that could rival Tsunade's. He always had a strategy when rushing into battle, didn't always look like it. He was and still is battle-smart, resilient, and just plain dangerous. It's why the Kage's of the other nations mind their steps when it comes to your mom." Sasuke said.

"Wow. So I was birthed by a badass." Boruto said.

Sasuke smiled, "Yeah, you were. You know your mom still is a badass. He just doesn't show it." Sasuke said.

Boruto knew that.

"So how are things going with your ninja training?" Sasuke asked.

"Oh, it's going great. I'm almost as strong as Oji Kanohamaru. He's teaching us a lot too. He even told Sarada that if she really wanted to she could go into medical jutsu." Boruto said.

"It seems like Kanohamaru is still following in your mother's footsteps. Encouraging people to realize their true potential and follow their paths to destiny and whatnot." Sasuke said.

"No way really?" Boruto asked.

"Yeah and did you know your mom was actually the one who trained him? It was a real nuisance at first," Sasuke said.

"Wait seriously?!" Boruto exclaimed.

"Yeah. Your mom and your Oji met when Naruto had just recently graduated from the academy. Your Oji came in and challenged the third Hokage, your mom's sorta grandfather. He tripped over his own scarf and said Naruto must have done it. He even threw out that he was the honorable grandson of the third Hokage. Called your mom stupid and got bonked in the head by your mom. Kanohamaru had asked Naruto to train him after that. He obviously did otherwise your Oji wouldn't be as skilled as he is today," Sasuke said.

"Oji actually did that? Tell everyone his grandfather was the third Hokage?" Boruto asked with a snicker.

"Yeah. It made him sad to use it though. People would just randomly start treating him like a King because they found out he was the Hokage's grandson. Made it hard for him to make actual friends who didn't have an ulterior motive." Sasuke said.

Boruto nodded understanding his Oji's pain.

"Yeah, I know what that feels like. Some kids in the academy tried to become my friends only to try and earn a title for themselves. It was a bit upsetting each time." Boruto said.

"Yeah, I know that feeling. Just don't feel sorry for yourself. It's their idiocy that made them lose out on such a valuable friend." Sasuke said.

Boruto smiled at his dad.

The rest of the day continued like this. They talked and talked and talked and they had the most fun they have ever had.

Naruto and Sarada had taken a bit longer to get done, but they still enjoyed their quality alone time.

Right now they were leaving the compound and made their way towards the tailoring shop known as Silks and Threads.

It had only the best quality that anyone could buy.

They entered the shop and some people, mainly the woman, stared.

Everybody knew of what had happened between the two main couples of Konoha. Some of the women pointed out that the children would need a woman in their lives. A mother to coddle them, love them, and be there for the children.

With two men who would be there for the children.

However, seeing Naruto walk into the shop with the confidence of a gay at a pride parade was a sight to see. It quickly made them change their tune.

He even allowed Sarada to pick out her own colors and fabrics.

"Okay, so what we gotta keep in mind while picking out colors is that the colors that go with it should fit with it. So pick the fabric with the color that you want and don't forget your patterns. That is if you want patterns. You do get some, you don't leave them. You need me I will be on the other side of the store checking out the rest of the fabrics." He said to the girl.

Every mother in the store continued to watch as this grown-ass man started going through fabrics and colors as if it wasn't his first time.

Naruto got his orange, with its patterns, and made his way back over to Sarada.

He started going through the blacks. Matching them up with the orange.

"Mom?"Sarada asked. Every woman in the store had the biggest glimmer in their eyes.

'He even allowed her to call him mom, to make her feel more comfortable.' Almost every woman thought.

"Yeah," Naruto answered back.

"You know you don't have to wear a woman's Kimono just to make me feel more comfortable, right?" Sarada said.

"Huh? Who said I didn't want to?" Naruto asked.

"Well, I know that men don't like wearing things remotely related to girly thing's so I just thought that you were forcing yourself to do this," Sarada said.

"Nope. Nothing is forced on my end. Besides I look hotter in a Kimono anyway. Now have you picked out what you want? Cause I have and we got like three more places to go." Naruto said.

Sarada nodded her head and they quickly went and got measured. The designs were put down on paper and Naruto was told that they would be done within about four to five hours.

Naruto paid in advance and he and Sarada went to the salon. Sarada had been looking at some new hairstyles but didn't bring it up.

So Naruto decided that if she wanted one she could get one.

They had decided to grow their hair out a bit and after a haircut, Naruto looked like his sixteen-year-old self.

Sarada decided that she wanted a pixie cut. Sakura would never let her get one, because she said that Sarada was trying too hard to look like a man.

Naruto coo'ed at the hairstyle. His daughter looked so Kawai.

They paid and Naruto decided to pamper his daughter. She was gonna feel like the princess she was.

So they went and got manicures and pedicures.

"So when did you and Dad start dating?" Sarada asked.

"Well we started dating when we were both eighteen, but we knew the other's feelings when we were both sixteen," Naruto said.

"If you knew why didn't you two start dating then?" Sarada asked curiously.

"Well, you see your dad was still considered a rouge nin. So we couldn't exactly act on our feelings for one another. Though there were times where we did more than just fighting." Naruto said. His cheeks burned red in embarrassment.

"Oh. If it happened the first time why didn't you just immediately start dating?" Sarada asked.

"Well your father, at the time, was dead set on repopulating his clan. He, like everyone else, knew that men couldn't get pregnant. Up until Kurama told us both about it. That was the first time I have ever seen the man smile." Naruto said.

He smiled fondly at the memory. Sarada's eyes dimmed in sadness. She wasn't Naruto's biological daughter and in her mind she would always be second best. Naruto saw this.

"Your dad has always been very open about who he loves. You know. When you were born he was the proudest man on earth. Holding both you and Boruto was such a blessing to him. The first time he saw you he said that his heart swelled with pride. He was proud of how far you had come and how strong you had gotten. Without his help even." Naruto said.

"Dad really said that?" Sarada asked.

"Yeah, he did. When he saw that you had mastered the Sharingan on your own he came to my office. He had claimed to me over and over again that you would be the best Kinouchi that the world has yet to meet. He even told me that you could fulfill your dream of becoming the first Uchiha to become the Hokage. I agree with him one hundred percent." Naruto said.

He held his hand out for Sarada. She took it and Naruto squeezed her hand in comfort.

"Your father loves you and he always will. He will back you up on anything one hundred percent. Don't question his love for you. You are his little princess and nothing can change that " Naruto said.

"Not even if I like girls?" Sarada asked.

"Sweetie I don't know if you have noticed, but neither me nor your dad have a vagina. So I can say with certainty that he would be your biggest supporter. Might get a little protective every time a girl approaches you, but he won't shun you." Naruto said.

Sarada smiled.

"Now tell me who is this girl that has captured your heart?" Naruto asked. He was excited to know that his daughter liked someone.

"Well me and Cho-Cho have been getting to know each other a bit better before we started dating, but I really really like her," Sarada said.

"Oo Cho-Cho. I like her. She is so sweet and kind. Really pretty too. I think you should go for it. Ask her out and if she says yes then jump into it. If she says no then it wasn't meant to be." Naruto said.

After the pampering, they got to painting their nails. Naruto went with a nice blue and white and Sarada decided to go with Vanta black.

Their time was up and they went back to Silk's and Threads to pick up their Kimonos.

They had come out so perfect.

Naruto and Sarada went home and put on some face masks. They felt pretty afterward.

Chapter 8

They had been living in the house for six more days when it happened.

It started with Naruto smelling Sakura on the outside of the house. He smelled her near the compound entrance. He swore there was even a time he saw the bitch in the window.

Now Naruto thought this was all in his head. He had heard it happened to some people when they were aware that the ex-wive was still in the same vicinity.

However, when he woke up in the middle of the night he was startled to see Sarada in the corner of their room.

She was pressed so deep into the corner that Naruto almost didn't see her.

He quickly got up and walked towards her. She was shaking like a leaf, pressing her hands to her ears, and she had her eyes blown wide.

Most likely a nightmare, Naruto thought. So instead of questioning her, he helped her stand up and go downstairs. A nice glass of warm milk would help her.

It was quiet while they were downstairs. So much so that Naruto almost yelled out when Sarada spoke up.

"She was standing outside my window." She said.

"Who was outside your window?" Naruto asked as he sat her milk down in front of her.

"Sakura," Sarada said.

"What? You saw Sakura outside your window?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah. She looked so angry. She even tried to open my window. She knew if she broke it you would hear." Sarada said.

"How long ago did you see her?" Naruto asked.

" a few minutes ago. I left after I realized I was awake and not dreaming." Sarada said.

"Do you think she might still be there?" Naruto asked.

"I don't know." She said.

Naruto nodded and took his daughter's hand. They walked up to her room and Naruto could smell Sakura's scent. It was coming through the window crack. It still was, but Naruto couldn't let Sarada know that.

The girl was already on edge.

"Okay well I can definitely smell her, but she's not here anymore, but just to be safe I think you should sleep in our room tonight," Naruto said. Sarada nodded and grabbed an extra pillow. She quickly ran to her parent's room.

Naruto stayed behind for a little bit.

Once she was out of sight he started sending killing intent towards the window. Where he knew Sakura was hiding. The dumb bitch just crouched down.

He felt killing intent come back his way so he boosted his own.

"Remember this Sakura you fucked up your relationship with your daughter. Now she's mine. So word of advice. Don't come near my daughter if you know what's good for you. I will attack and I will go for the jugular first." Naruto said. His voice dripped with venom and hate.

Sakura knew that if she took him head on now she would lose. So for now she would go home and come up with a plan.

She jumped away and Naruto stopped his KI.

He went back to his room and saw Sarada curled up into a ball. She looked so vulnerable and small.

Naruto climbed into bed and held his daughter's tiny little body close to him. She was shaking a bit. Her nerves were all over the place.

He stroked her hair, as if to say have no fear mamma's here. It seemed to do the trick as she fell asleep in minutes.

If you asked Naruto's honest opinion about how small Sarada was compared to other children her age he would tell you that it upsets him.

Sure the girl was active, but in his opinion, Sakura didn't feed her enough. If you take into consideration her age, gender, and physical activities you would see that she is way too underweight for someone of her age.

That's why he always brought some extra food to training for the both of them. He had also slowly and discreetly increased her food intake.

It wasn't big. If he went big the first time she would get sick and regurgitate everything she ate. That could lead to even bigger problems.

She wasn't gonna be the girl who ordered a salad on the first date. Naruto wouldn't allow his daughter to be afraid of eating.

He fell asleep shortly after ensuring that she was safe in his arms.

•• The next morning˚••

When Sasuke woke up he expected to see his lovely boyfriend. What he was not expecting was to see his daughter holding on to his boyfriend for dear life. So he couldn't even pry her off.

So he sat there and just stared at both his boyfriend and his boyfriend hogger.

His staring stopped when Boruto came into the room. He looked very tired, most likely because he played games till midnight.

He climbed onto the bed and quite literally fell onto Sasuke. It wasn't hard, because Sasuke caught him mid-fall and laid the blonde down next to his sister.

He fell asleep shortly after that. Sasuke just looked at his sun and stars and sighed.

They weren't getting up any time soon. He knew that, the village knew that, hell the universe knew that.

So he decided that if they do wake up he was going to give them something good.

He stood up and walked out of their room, down the hall, down the stairs, and into the kitchen.

He quickly got to work with making chocolate chip waffles with whipped cream. After Naruto saw Sasuke make the store-bought waffles he had quickly taught Sasuke how to make homemade waffles. Sasuke hasn't had store-bought in a while.

He had got out the trays from the cupboard and set the plates. His sun and stars were going to get breakfast in bed this fine morning.

He put the waffles on plates and brought them to his room. Lucky for him Naruto was awake.

Said blonde was very happy to see his raven with a plate of waffles.

Naruto shook the kids awake, who had somehow both ended up on Sasuke's side of the bed. It took a few minutes to get them to wake up but they did.

Sasuke handed the kids their trays first. Both immediately dug in.

Sasuke gave Naruto a kiss on his forehead, before putting his tray down.

The blonde moved over a bit, making some place for the raven to sit down.

Sasuke sat down and held Naruto by his waist as the blonde fed him some of his waffles.

They sat there for an hour. Eating and enjoying each other's company.

The kids went downstairs with their trays as well as their mother's trays. They wanted to watch some movies.

Sasuke went to go take a shower before he froze at the words his blonde uttered.

"Sakura was here last night," Naruto said.

Sasuke turned around and looked at the blonde," What do you mean she was here last night? Like she was in the house or something?" Sasuke asked.

"No worse. She was at Sarada's window trying to get in. It sent Sarada into a panic and she came and hid herself in our room." Naruto said.

"Was she still there after Sarada left?"

"Yeah. I smelled her and I could sense her chakra. She was still outside the window, but she left after seeing she couldn't take me head-on. Sasuke this wasn't the first time that she has been in the compound. Her scent lingers at certain places. I just thought that I was imagining it. You know my paranoia acting up and stuff but she was here. She was actually here," Naruto said.

"Do you think she meant to do any sort of harm to Sarada or Boruto for that matter?" Sasuke asked.

If Naruto felt that his kits were in danger then Sasuke would take the entire thing seriously.

"All I'm saying is that she could have used the front door to talk," Naruto said.

"Give it to me straight, my life. Do you think she poses a threat to the kids?" Sasuke asked again.

"Yes. I believe that she does pose a threat to the kids." Naruto said.

"Okay, then we will monitor the entire situation. If she's still doing it at the end of the month we will have to confront her. That doesn't work we turn her in for trespassing on private property and attempted breaking and entering." Sasuke said.

"But what if she gets violent?" Naruto asked.

No matter how strong his kids are if Sakura got a couple of punches in she could do some damage or worse. Kill them.

"Then we will take care of it. If Sakura is to throw the first punch we are in our right to defend ourselves." Sasuke said.

Naruto nodded his head. It was only fair.

[image] [image] [image]

Today was the day.

It was Founders Day and there was a festival to celebrate it.

Today was also the day that Sasuke decided he wanted more kids. Why you may ask?

Naruto was wearing a woman's Kimono and he looked hot.

It was his signature color, orange it had yellow flowers on the edges and some white flowers that ran along the bottom and the boob area. Sasuke loved it. He was also proud of the Uchiha crest on the back.

Sarada was also wearing a Kimono, but she decided to go with the shorter one. It was red and black in color. A very beautiful design. With the Uchiha crest on the back.

Both Boruto and Sasuke wore the traditional men's Kimonos. Black and grey in color with white, grey, and black belts.

Naruto coo'ed at his kid's adorableness. They looked like angels.

"Naruto come on. We have to have to get going. Or we will be late." Sasuke said.

"Yeah yeah. Come on." Naruto said. They quickly made it out of the house and started walking towards the center of town.

While walking Hinata and Himawari joined them.

Himawari instantly took Boruto and Sarada's hands.

Hinata, Sasuke, and Naruto made light conversation. Ranging from how the kids are doing to what new recipes the mothers have found.

"What have you heard of Sakura?" Hinata asked.

"What do you mean?" Naruto asked

"Well we were having another girl's night, I have to remember to invite you, and Sakura was there. She had a few sakes in and disclosed to us that she's making plans to take you down and Sasuke back. I know it's not good to listen to a drunk, but I didn't want to take any chances." Hinata said.

"Well thank you for warning us Hinata. We will be sure to keep a lookout for Sakura." Naruto said.

"Please do. You know how bad Sakura's tantrums can get." Hinata said.

"Don't worry we will be fine. Now how have you been? I haven't exactly heard a lot from you." Naruto said.

"Oh well me and Himawari have been good. I do however think that I just broke up a marriage." She said.

"How so?" Sasuke asked.

"I went to his house. Himawari's father. His wife answered the door. I wanted to leave after that, but when she saw Hima she pulled me in. Turns out I wasn't the only person he had cheated on. I was just the only one to get pregnant. When she heard Hima was ten she almost burst out in tears. Turns out they had had a kid at the time too. So yeah. I think I destroyed a marriage and a family." Hinata said.

"I think that's a good thing. He married her and in those vows are to be faithful be truthful. He didn't uphold them. That relationship was as toxic as you get." Sasuke said.

"Yeah, I agree. If he cheated before he will cheat again. Some with a murderer. He will do it again." Naruto said.

"Do you think I will cheat again?" Hinata asked. Her voice sounded scared.

"No. You already apologized for it and I know you are going to therapy for it. So no. If you keep doing what you're doing then everything will turn out fine." Naruto said.

It was true. Hinata going to therapy was her way of saying she had a problem. She hurt herself by sleeping with the man. She was getting better and healing herself every step of the way.

"Thank you for believing in me," Hinata said.

"You have to believe in yourself first," Naruto said.

"Yes. Now when are you two gonna start having kids again?" Hinata asked.

Naruto was blushing up a storm and Sasuke was thinking about it.

"Why would you ask that?" Naruto asked.

"Well, Himawari needs more siblings, and Boruto and Sarada need more too," Hinata said.

Naruto was redder than before and trying to get the words out.

"Hmm. Well if you could take Boruto and Sarada home with you tonight then me and Naruto could get started on it." Sasuke said.

"Wha-what? Sasuke!" Naruto exclaimed.

"Oo that sounds fun and I think Hima would love to have people that could play with her. I still have their rooms ready and everything." Hinata said.

"Then Boruto and Sarada are coming home with you," Sasuke said.

Hinata nodded her head. Naruto was just embarrassed and Sasuke was very proud of himself.

Kids are gonna be away and Naruto's gonna be all his. No more cock blocks.

The entire family arrived at the festival. It was just starting and it looked to be in full swing. Naruto took Boruto, Sarada, and Himawari to go play some games. They left Sasuke and Hinata alone.

Hinata looked at the raven and smiled at him, "Thank you for being who Naruto needed." She said.

"What do you mean by that?" Sasuke asked.

"Naruto needs and craves you. He is always worried about you and hate's when you're away for so long. So I thank you for being who Naruto needed most in every part of his life. I would have fought for him if it wasn't you." She said.

"Why would you only fight if it wasn't me? Am I not worth fighting?" Sasuke asked.

"No, because even if I won Naruto would always long for you. You are after all his soulmate. The sun and moon always dance together." Hinata said.

"Then I thank you for being there for him when I couldn't be and I hope that you find someone who completes you," Sasuke said.

Hinata smiled brightly at that.

"Whooo!" Himawari screamed as Boruto won another prize for her and Sarada.

Naruto just stood there watching and making sure that no harm came their way.

Δ˚••˚Δ

Sakura was standing a bit away from Naruto and the kids, but just close enough to see them.

She watched as Himawari hugged her new plushie. She watched as Boruto won a new plushie. She watched as Sarada was having so much fun with someone who ruined her life.

Naruto had ruined her life. He took her daughter away. She now calls him mom and acts as if he was the one that birthed her. She acted as if Sakura didn't exist. When she gets her hands on that girl she will show her who is her real mother.

He took Sasuke too. As if taking her daughter wasn't enough she just had to take her husband too. Sasuke was the man of her dreams. Dark, brooding, and strong. He was supposed to love her and not some dumb blonde who she considered an inconvenience.

He had taken her title as the Uchiha's bride. She was now seen as an abuser and many at the hospital refused to let her treat them. She has had to result to doing desk jobs.

He had destroyed her life by going for what was her and he will pay dearly for it.

Naruto felt it. The anger and rage. It felt volatile.

He knew who it came from. He looked around and saw pink hair in the distance. She had been watching them.

She will most likely come to their house again tonight. Naruto knew that what she was gonna see was not what she would wish to see, but oh well. Might as well show her what Sasuke does when it comes to his blonde.

Naruto smirked. It was going to be a long night for Sakura.

Chapter 10

Boruto and Sarada where staying at Hinata's and Sasuke was planning on doing exactly what he was promised. He also had a surprise for the blonde.

Naruto was going to get pregnant by the end of the night and nothing was stopping that mission.

As soon as they entered the house and closed the front door Sasuke pinned Naruto to the wall furiously kissing the blonde.

It was only when they ran out of air when they pulled away.

Naruto was as red as a tomato and Sasuke was smirking up a storm.

"What do you say to being all round and feeling pretty again?" Sasuke asked. Consent was key in all of this.

Naruto giggled,"What made you think that I would have said no?"

Sasuke's smirk enlarged as he picked the blonde up. The blonde's well defined leg's encircling the raven's waist. Sasuke pushed the blonde against the wall and into him.

Making the blonde feel the raven's growing bulge.

"Ahhh,~" Naruto moaned out. His head flew back and his back arched. Sasuke has always been big and Naruto, from experience, knew that the raven had been holding it in. So it was going to be a long night.

When Sasuke put the blonde down they moved their way up the stairs to their room. Kissing and groping each other.

Luckily for them Naruto had made sure the Kimono had a zip on the back. Naruto knew the raven well enough to know he was impatient when it came to taking of clothes.

So he pushed the raven onto the bed and unzipped the Kimono.

Letting the piece of fabric fall off his body like it was nothing, good thing he was wearing lace.

Sasuke found it hot. He has never seen anything more on turning than that.

Naruto, on all fours, crawled onto the bed towards the raven. He situated himself on the ravens lap before he pulled him in for a kiss. Naruto opened his mouth and Sasuke's tongue darted in to the hot cavern.

This continued for a couple of minutes before Sasuke felt Naruto had control long enough. He flipped them both around and quickly pushed his blonde into the mattress.

He tore the underwear that the blonde wore and started kissing down. Going from the neck to his belly to his oh so glorious thighs.

"You get beautiful by the day my love." Sasuke said as he kissed Naruto's inner thigh. Enjoying the feel of the blonde in his hands.

"Oh really?" Naruto asked as Sasuke started nibbling on the soft flesh.

"Everyday every hour and every second. Beautiful, smart and strong. My one and only blonde. So my little sunshine," He said as he got up and laid on top of the blonde,"will you give me the honor and the privilege to take you as my wife? To have and to hold? Will you allow me to be you're husband?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto was stunned for a second before putting his hand on the ravens chest and saying," I would love to be the one to stand by you're side for an eternity, mi amor."

Sasuke swore that he was the happiest man on earth.

This prompted what happened next.

Sasuke went back to kissing his blonde. While doing this he had somehow gotten his Kimono and boxers off.

Both where naked and luckily for Sasuke, Naruto produced his own slick.

Sasuke put both of Naruto's legs on his shoulders and lined up with his blonde.

He leaned down and gave him a kiss on the lips, before he thrusted in full force.

Naruto threw his head back with a mewl, his back arched and his hands on Sasuke's chest.

Sasuke pulled out, only leaving the tip, before thrusting back in to the blonde's warmth.

"S-sasuke fa- ohhh faster!" Naruto yelled out.

The raven smirked. His blonde wanted it.

He picked up his pace and as his pace increased he cept hitting certain spots looking for something.

"Oh Kami right there!" Naruto yelled out. His back was arched and his nails dug into the ravens back marking the territory.

"Found it." Sasuke said as he kept hitting the spot head on.

Naruto's orgasm approached when Sasuke decided to drop his legs and encircled one of his hands around Naruto's neck. Squeezing ever so lightly.

Sasuke felt the blondes walls tighten around him with each thrust.

So he prepared for Naruto's orgasm to erupt. When it did Sasuke followed after.

Seven rounds later and Sasuke was exhausted, but Naruto still had one more round in him. So Sasuke allowed the blonde to ride him.

He shakingly positioned himself over Sasuke's member and slid down, almost with ease, up until Sasuke was balls deep in the blonde.

Naruto felt so full.

He put both his hands on Sasuke's shoulders and slowly started jumping. It was a bit hard with how much his legs where shaking.

"Having a little trouble are we?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto just rolled his eyes and started jumping again. Not only was the blonde trying, but he as also giving Sasuke a lot of pleasure so the ravens eyes where closed and his head was against the headboard. Small moans could be heard exiting his throat.

Naruto made sure that his prostate was hit and that Sasuke felt as much pleasure as possible.

After a while he stopped jumping and started grinding. His hips going in circles. Sasuke's head fell forward and landed on Naruto's chest. He encircled the blonde's waist with his arms and held him close. Every movement the blonde made was felt and it was very much appreciated.

Sasuke felt the blonde cum and it wasn't long before he came in the blonde.

Sasuke layed back and Naruto fell on his chest. He was out of breath and energy.

Sasuke went to pull out only to be stopped by a hand.

"Don't pull out. It could leak out and I don't want that." Naruto said.

Sasuke smirked and layed back again. Allowing Naruto to lay back and steady his breathing.

Sasuke stroked Naruto's hair enjoying that he and his blonde got to be together. He couldn't always show his love to Naruto as it would have gotten them both caught.

It had made Naruto sad and almost hallow at the time.

Although they both found their ways to do so.

Naruto snuggled deaper into Sasuke and quickly fell asleep. Sasuke followed soon after.

Δ˚••˚Δ

Sakura was pissed.

She had to watch as Naruto and Sasuke screwed each other.

She had to watch her Sasuke kiss Naruto. She had to watch as her Sasuke asked Naruto to marry him. She was hoping she didn't hear right, because she didn't see a ring. She had to watch her Sasuke make love to Naruto.

She hated it. Naruto was living her dream. Sasuke never initiated anything with her and when she tried anything he would blow her off and tell her he had something to do.

She jumped from rooftop to rooftop up until she saw the house she was searching for.

She jumped to one of the windows and looked through it.

There in one of the twin bed layed Sarada. She was sleeping like a rock. Himawari was cuddled up into her chest. She was sleeping like a baby. Boruto was in the bed right next to the two girls.

Sakura tried to open the window, but it was locked. Hinata must have know she would come here.

Speaking of Hinata. Sakura couldn't feel her chakra in the house at all. She looked to her left just in time to see a kunai coming her way.

She jumped out of the way and landed on the floor. She got up and as she dusted herself off she saw Hinata standing a few feet away from her. Her byakugan activated.

The Hyuuga was ready for a fight.

"What are you doing here Sakura?!" She yelled out.

"Hinata you know about everything I had to do to get Sasuke to marry me. I know exactly what you went through to get Naruto to marry you.

So why would you allow Naruto to do this to you? To the both of us?!" Sakura yelled out.

"Naruto and Sasuke didn't want to marry us. It was yet another thing that your mother ordered. She knew you couldn't get a man on your own so she decided to interfere. They aren't doing anything wrong. They are merely doing what their hearts told them too. They belong together and if you even think about ruining what they have than medic nin or the not I will knock your ass out!" Hinata yelled out.

"I don't care. How could you still allow Boruto in your house after what Naruto did? He lied to you and you just accept it!"

"He had a good reason. Your self absorbed, idiots breeding, bimbo of a mother would have killed him. Besides Boruto is still some what my son and I will protect him, Sarada and Himawari from you. So don't even think of laying a hand on either of them." Hinata said. Her glare large and intimidating.

Sakura knew she wouldn't be able to take on an angry Hinata. She could easily kick her ass with just her byakugan.

So Sakura quickly left.

Hinata ran inside and locked every door and window. Sakura could come back and she wasn't risking her getting in.

She quickly walked over to the kid's rooms to check on them.

She stuck her head in and saw all three of them still sleeping soundly. She sighed in relief. They should not be going up against Sakura this early.

She would not allow it.

Chapter 11

The kids came back in like a week and two days later. They wanted to hang with Himawari for a while longer.

This gave Sasuke enough alone time with his blonde. They put it to good use. Starting early in the morning, after breakfast, to in the late hours of the night.

So Naruto was definitely pregnant.

However, when the kids got home they were a bit stunned to see Hinata carrying what looked like an overnight bag.

"They mentioned something about Himawari sleeping over tonight. I brought an overnight bag just in case." She said.

"Oh that's okay. If she wants to stay she can. Hey Hima do you want to sleep over tonight?" Naruto yelled to her.

She replied with a very loud,"Yes please!"

"Okay. How was everything at your end? No problems right?" Naruto asked.

Hinata looked into the living room and decided there where too many ears.

She pulled Naruto into the kitchen, where Sasuke was busy eating cookies.

"Hey where they like bad or something?" Naruto asked.

" No they where pure as angels, but something else did happen." Hinata said.

"What happened?" Sasuke asked.

"Sakura." Hinata said.

"Did she attack them? Threaten them? What did she do?" Naruto asked.

"She came to my house and tried to get into Sarada's room. Luckily the window was locked, but she knew I was onto her. She jumped out of the way as I threw a kunai at her." Hinata said.

"What happened after?" Naruto asked.

"She's sounded so angry and at the sight of her she looked crazy. Her eyes where shifty as if she was on something. Naruto I don't think she wanted to get into that room to greet Sarada. She wanted to do some harm. If I hadn't had my gut telling me to lock the window she would have gotten in." Hinata said.

"Yes and thank you for that. Where there any words exchanged during you're confrontation?" Naruto asked.

Sasuke was too busy plotting murder.

"Yes a couple, but she seemed to have a personal vendetta against Boruto. It's like she wants him severely hurt or worse dead. She wants Sasuke and Sarada back and she's gone crazy trying to do it." Hinata said.

"What happened after that?" Naruto asked.

"She left after she saw that I was ready for a fight. She was too afraid to take me head on, but I ran inside and locked everything. Luckily during the yelling none of the kid's woke up." Hi ata said.

It was silent for a moment.

"I'm killing her." Naruto said. a Glare present on his face and hate in his eyes.

"No we are not. You do that people would think it was because you where jealous of her. They wouldn't listen to anything you had to say." Sasuke said.

"Than what do you propose we do huh? Wait around for her to attack the kid's. It's not just Boruto and Sarada, but Himawari too. She's small and just learning how to defend herself. Sakura could easily hurt her or worse. Kill her." Naruto said.

He wasn't the girl's real father, but the thought of an innocent child getting hurt because of what aas going on between three grownups was worse than death to him.

"We isolate her. Take away all her escapes. Work her to the bone. Make sure that she can't come after us. Show her that if she try's then she will lose something important to her. Show her you are not taking shit from her. Only when she physically assaults the kid's may we hurt her." Sasuke said.

"Sasuke you know how Sakura is. We take away what she loves than she would get angrier." Naruto said.

"If that happens and we have enough leverage over her then we tell her to back off. If she doesn't we could turn her in for attempted breaking an entering and attempted assault. She did it twice so her sentence will be longer." Sasuke said.

He knew what going down that path of hate was like. Naruto was and always will be a rational person. Sasuke just needed him to see that.

Naruto stood still. Sasuke was right. If he went after Sakura than she would win. Sakura couldn't win.

"Okay. Okay. What exactly is you're game plan?" Naruto asked.

"Make her work overtime at the hospital. With the increased work she could tire herself out. If she's still bothering us, that includes you Hinata, than we start taking away the important thing's. Like her image. It's a bit damaged, but not enough. If we could expose her for things she did in the past her image will be ruined. She won't be able to fight back. So calm down. Besides you might be pregnant remember. You fighting with Sakura could hurt the baby." Sasuke said.

Hinata gasped,"You might be pregnant?" She asked. She looked so excited.

"Yeah. I still have to get the signs and take a test, but after the entire week with Sasuke we can expect to have little Uchiha's running around in nine months." Naruto said.

"Oo this is so wonderful. We should hold a baby shower. I have a couple ideas for a gender reveal and we still have the crib that Boruto and Himawari used. It would be so beautiful." Hinata said.

"That's all good and done, but we should wait for the test." Naruto said.

"Oh please Sasuke's swimmers are good. You are pregnant and I can't wait to be an aunt." Hinata said.

Her excitement was noticeable by the way she jumped on her toes.

Hinata couldn't wait for what was to come.

Chapter 12

It had been a week. Himawari went home after four days and Naruto had yet to confirm if he was pregnant.

It was currently night and quiet as a can be.

"Oh fuck. Oh fuck. Sasuke gentle. Oh Kami." Naruto moaned out as Sasuke was thrusting into him.

Well as quiet as Naruto could be. Naruto was on all fours and he was enjoying it, but he was afraid that the kid's would wake up.

Sasuke just smirked and pulled Naruto up, holding the blonde against his chest.

"Who gave you the idea that we were going to be gentle?" Sasuke asked as he pulled out and thrusted in again.

Naruto's head flew back. He hated how easily the raven convinced him to have midnight sex.

He wasn't complaining about it though.

It wasn't long before both finished up and just like last time Sasuke left it in. Luckily for him he didn't have to pull out with Naruto.

"You know we should realy start putting some silencing seals on the walls. Kami forbid one of the kids wake up to you balls deep inside of me." Naruto said.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and thrusted into the blonde making him moan.

"From that moan it sounds to me like you enjoy when I'm balls deep inside of you." He said.

"Never said I didn't enjoy it." Naruto said.

"That I know. I know from experience that you enjoy me being balls deep inside of you're tight little hole." Sasuke said.

"Shut up and go to sleep. I have to get up early tomorrow morning for work. So please sleep." Naruto said.

"Hmm I might just keep going all night long just to keep you at home. All to myself."

"How about I make you a deal. Hinata loves when the kids are at her house so why not this weekend. You could have me for the entire weekend, but only if you don't try and fuck me into oblivion tonight." Naruto said.

"I will take it. Dream of angels my love." Sasuke said as he held Naruto closer to him.

Naruto smirked in victory and fell asleep shortly after.

Δ•°•°Δ

Naruto was seated in his office. Breezing through paperwork like it was nothing.

He had something to look forward to when going home now.

So he wanted to get it done and fast.

However, halfway throuh the paperwork the door was thrown open and an angry Sakura marched into the room.

"You took my husband and daughter and you are punishing me for what exactly?!" She yelled as she slammed her hand onto the desk.

Mebuki soon followed her daughter.

'Great', Naruto though,'entitled mother and the brat she raised.'

"What exactly is the problem?" Naruto asked.

"You are making me work overtime. I want to know why?" She said.

"Easy. You have been breaking into the compound and trying to get into my house. I can't exactly allow you near my children if I find you a threat to them so I just decided to give you overtime. Especially after what you pulled at Hinata's." Naruto said.

Sakura's eyes widened.

"What you though Hinata, my best friend Hinata, my kid's favorite aunt wouldn't tell me that you threatened my baby's? Please. This was the best way I had found to get you as less of a threat. Now what do you want wrinkles?" Naruto asked Mebuki.

"I am the picture of youthfull beauty so don't give me that. What I want is for you to reinstate the civilian council. The way that you are running things aren't working for me." She said.

"Oh you meen like not giving the shops that have been apart of Kanoha's history for years serving the tourist and people of Kanoha good food in favor of giving shops that have the worst customer service on earth, the entire place smells like there is a dead rat in there and the boss isn't even there half the time, isn't working for you? You're just pissed that I'm doing a good job." Naruto said.

"You're the hokage! The only business you have is with the shinobi! So stay out of our affairs and get the civilian council back in power!" She yelled.

Naruto wasn't standing for the disrespect and stood up. Both woman backed up.

"You both seem to be forgetting who is the Hokage around here. Sakura if you ever come into my office the way you did today I will have you escorted out of the building and not allow you back in. Mebuki I as the hokage play a big role in the village. My village gets represented by me. My village will be clean, neat and not look like a fucking whirlwind went through it. The civilian council had been in power for too long and looked at what happened. From this moment forth there is no civilian council. I am the Hokage and everything inside and outside the village is my business. Including the well being of my people." Naruto said.

He glared at both the woman and they decided they where beat. So they quickly got out of the office.

Naruto just went back to his seat and sat down. He took a deep breath and calmed his nerves.

It wasn't soon after when Tsunade knocked on the door.

"Hey Gaki. How are you feeling today?" She asked.

"I'm okay Baa-chan. Just the Haruno idiots. How did you survive them when you where in charge?" Naruto asked.

"Well I would just glare at them up until they left. Sakura got better after a while, but than she turned back into the crazy fan girl she was before."Tsunade said.

"Yeah she did." Naruto said with a sigh.

"Now I don't believe you just called me here to complain about them. What's wrong Gaki?" She asked.

"Well Baa-chan I have a feeling that I might be pregnant again and I don't really want to ask someone that I don't trust. So Baa-chan will you check for me?" He asked.

She smiled at her grandson and walked over to him. Already warming up her hands.

Naruto lifted his shirt and Tsunade placed her hands upon his stomach. She felt around for a few seconds before smiling big.

"Look's like I'm gonna get more grand babies. Gaki." She said.

Naruto jumped up and hugged his granny. Tears flowing down his face. Tsunade was also crying, but that was because she was excited. Naruto was happy. He was getting more kids to look after and protect and raise.

Chapter 13

Naruto was pissed. He had kept the pregnancy a secret for a week because he wanted to surprise Sasuke.

However, the Mizukage of Kirigakure had called him and said it was urgent.

Sasuke had gone to the land of mist, which is a three-day walk from here to there.

Boruto had decided that he was staying at Shikadai's house and Sarada was staying at Cho-Cho's house.

Naruto still teased her because of it.

Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ

Sasuke stood in shock in front of his, dead, family.

Mikoto, his mother, was smiling at him. Itachi, his brother, gave him a gentle smile as if to say everything was going to be good. Fugaku, his father, glared at him as if saying do better.

Madara Uchiha stood there and looked about as awkward as a fish out of water. The entire Uchiha clan was glaring at Sasuke. He internally scoffed, he has seen scarier.

However, he was not taking the disrespect and turned to the Mizukage, "So this a play date, or can I just leave em with you?" Sasuke asked.

"Sasuke Uchiha watch what you say!?" Fugaku bellowed.

"Shut up dawn of the undead. Now Mei I hope you know that you pulled me away from something very important." He said.

"What's that?" Mei asked with a snort.

"Rendering the mother of my children cripple. Now, where do I sign them out? I gotta get them home. It's past their bedtime and they look cranky." Sasuke said.

"Oh my God, you spend way too much time with Naruto." She said.

"Naruto!" Sasuke heard someone yell.

A woman with bright blood red hair came to the front, along with a man with bright yellow hair.

"Is Naruto here?" She asked.

Mikoto put a hand on her friend's shoulder wanting to tell her that he was still in Konoha, but Fugaku beat her to it.

"No, because Konoha had decided to send their weakest," Fugaku said.

Mikoto went to tell her husband that was uncalled for, but Sasuke pointed his finger at Fugaku and said, "Okay when we get home you're getting put down for a nap. I ain't dealing with a grown-ass man child. I got two kids at home and both are more mature than you. Now start marching. I promised mommy sexy time after this shit is over."

He was the first to walk while Kushina started giggling uncontrollably and Mikoto ran after Sasuke.

She wanted to get to Konoha, she had grandbabies to see.

Now they set up camp and Fugaku was getting pissed at Sasuke. He completely ignored everyone except his mother, his brother and Minato, and Kushina.

"Sasuke!" One of the clan members yelled.

Sasuke looked back and saw he was holding out his bowl.

"What do you want me to do with it?"

"Take it and refill it." He said as if it was the most obvious thing.

"I ain't your mom, your wife, or your whore so go fill it yourself. I ain't doing shit." Sasuke said.

That was only the first night. Sasuke was exhausted after the entire trip. He just wanted to go home and have some mind-blowing sex with his fiance.

However, when he got to the village he was met with Mebuki Haruno. Who told the entire clan that they needed to get to the civilian council meeting room.

Sasuke went to tell her to fuck off, but Fukagu told him to shut up and just go.

Sasuke grabbed a villager and told him to get Naruto because the civilian council was up to something.

They had gotten into the meeting room, no one noticed the door getting locked, and quickly got situated.

"Now before we start I would like to welcome you back to the village," Mebuki said.

"Thank you, council woman."

"It's my pleasure. Now we as the council fear for the safety of the civilians of Konohagakure we as the council feel obligated to ask you what you plan to do while in the village?" Mebuki asked.

"Well, we plan to stay low. Reconnect with our family." Fugaku said.

"Do you plan on becoming shinobi again?" She asked.

"Yes. It has and always will be the Uchiha way." Fugaku said.

Madara did not like this. The woman was getting nosy and last he checked civilians don't meddle with Shinobi.

He looked over at the young Uchiha that was sent to bring them home. He had a scowl on his face and was glaring at the councilwoman, Mebuki, Madara believes her name was. He knew they should have listened to him. He was alive during the change of the village. Yet, his father has shown nothing but distaste and disrespect. He did not like it.

He walked toward the young Uchiha and stood by his side.

"When that woman told us to follow her what exactly did you tell that villager?" Madara asked.

"I told him to go get the Hokage." He said.

"Why exactly?"

"Because the civilian council hasn't been in power for a long time. So this meeting is just so that she could get information on the Shinobi world. My fiance, the Hokage, put a stop to that. Even gave them a second chance to stay out of it, but they blew it." Sasuke said.

"Where would your fiance be now?" Madara asked.

"By the amount of KI coming from behind that door, I'd say pretty close," Sasuke said.

"What?" Madara asked.

"Duck," Sasuke said as he got down and pulled his mother and Kushina with him. Madara, Itachi, and Minato soon followed.

They were looked at funny, before the door blew open and as the smoke cleared everyone could see the pissed of Uzumaki with the Hyuuga princess hot on his tail.

"Who the fuck approved this meeting? Who the fuck gave you permission to form the council again? Who the fuck gave you power hungry cock sucking assholes any power again?" Naruto asked.

The blonde was pissed. Obito cowered at the sight of his hair floating.

"My baby," Kushina said happily.

"My Goddess." Sasuke lovingly sighed. Looking at Naruto as if he was a Goddess.

"Hokage-sama, we gave you enough time to reconsider your decision. We saw you were taking too long and decided to reinstate ourselves. As a show of power." Mebuki said.

"Reconsider? I am your Hokage your ass bows to mine and show of power you say. I'm gonna show you power. Hinata hold my earrings and my purse. Imma beat a bitch." Naruto said as he handed Hinata his purse and earrings.

Mebuki jumped down and got ready to fight.

Madara stopped the rest of the council from running away by putting them in a genjutsu.

Naruto was about to punch Mebuki but stopped.

"Wait a minute I can't fight you. The only skill you have is sucking people off. Besides, that wouldn't be a fair fight. ANBU!" Naruto yelled.

Pretty soon around three men dropped down and bowed to the blonde-haired Hokage.

"Please take the council and throw them in jail, but take miss Mebuki over here to Anko-chan. Maybe she could make her brain start working." Naruto said.

"Yes, Hokage-sama." They said and quickly got to work.

As soon as the Anbu cleared out and closed what was left of the broken door Sasuke ran to Naruto. Picked him up and spun him around.

"I missed you. You have no idea how long and tiring my week was." Sasuke said.

"Aww. I missed you too." Naruto said hugging the Uchiha back.

Madara was very impressed that Sasuke could pull an Uzumaki.

Well, any Uchiha for that matter.

"So Sasuke is this your Hokage?" Fugaku asked.

Naruto was put down and held his hand out for Fugaku, "Naruto Uzumaki. Hokage of Konohagakure and the most unpredictable ninja known to man at your service. Datebayo."

"Charmed," Fugaku said sarcastically. Refusing to shake Naruto's hand.

Naruto's smile turned into a glare as he said, "Better dislodge that stick that's up your ass before I do it myself."

Fugaku looked at the blonde and sneered, "Watch how you speak to me Uzumaki."

"No. Watch how you speak to him Fugaku. He is after all your son-in-law and your Hokage." Madara said.

He wasn't going to allow Fugaku to disrespect the Uzumaki like that.

"HE'S MY WHAT?" Fugaku yelled out. Enraged by the news.

"I'm your future son-in-law. Now shut up." Naruto said.

He turned to Madara and quickly walked over to him. The blonde looked at him and Madara was getting nervous. He doesn't usually get nervous, but he was standing face-to-face with who he considered the strongest Uzumaki he has ever met.

Naruto turned to Sasuke and yelled, "Sasuke can I keep him!?"

Madara was mystified.

"He's a human being. You can't keep him." Sasuke said.

"I know that, but can he stay with us? Please." Naruto begged.

Sasuke went to answer, opened and closed his mouth, and then he said, "You run the house. That's up to you, but you gotta ask him first."

"Oh yeah. I am the boss. Madara, do you wanna live with us in the head house?" Naruto asked.

Madara thought it over it wouldn't be a bad idea. The Uzumaki was very nice and looked to be calming. Something Madara knew he needed. However, in his mind, it was up to him.

"That is entirely up to you." He said.

"Okay, then you're staying with us," Naruto said.

Kushina saw this as her chance.

She got up and walked toward her son. Naruto looked at her in shock. He had thought that it was only the Uchiha's.

"Mom? Your alive too?" He asked.

"Your father is alive as well. Now give your mamma a hug." She said.

Naruto, not one to waste such an opportunity, hugged his mother.

Minato soon joined.

Fugaku growled after about five minutes into the hug and said, "You said you had children. How can you have children if you are with a man?"

"Naruto can get pregnant. His chakra reserves are huge, but they overflow easily. They made him a functioning womb and Naruto's a Jinchuriki." Sasuke said.

"I still can't believe you fell for a man. Of Uzumaki blood no-less." Fugaku said.

"I for one, think it's an amazing ordeal. It shows strength of character considering Uzumaki are stubborn. No offense Kushina and Naruto." Madara said.

"None taken." They said to him.

"Oh shut up. You've been dead for years and you don't exactly have a say in this." Fukagu said.

"He wasn't the one who died at the hands of his teenage son. When in reality you could have gone after Danzo. No offense Mikoto-chan." Naruto said.

"Oh, none taken Naruto. Now, how about we go home. I wish to see how well taken care of the compound is." Mikoto said.

"The one where you guys lived is no longer in use. It has another purpose." Naruto said.

"What would that be?"

"It's a memorial ground now. a Remembrance of the past. However, the old compound is currently in use. So come on." Naruto said.

He took Sasuke's hand and looped his arm with Madara's.

They all made their way toward the old compound, Hinata had returned Naruto's belongings because she had to go pick up Himawari from school.

Madara could safely say he was impressed. It looked brand new and everything was the same. Nothing had changed.

"You did all of this?" Madara asked.

"Yeah. Wanted to keep it as close to the original design as possible. Now come on. I'm pretty sure everyone could pick out where they want to stay. There is fresh linen in the closet." Naruto said the last part over his shoulder and they quickly pulled Sasuke and Madara towards the house.

Madara got situated and took a nap and Naruto took Sasuke to their room.

"I need to tell you something," Naruto said.

"What about?" Sasuke asked.

"Well you remember when Boruto and Sarada stayed over at Himawari's house and we screwed the whole week?"

"Vividly. Why?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, you see. Before you left I asked Tsunade to do a check-up and as it turns out there will be more little Uchiha's running around." Naruto said.

Sasuke took a moment to process the entire thing. Before he jumped up and spun Naruto around in his arms.

Both excited to have another bundle.

This time Sasuke would be there.

Chapter 14

Madara was not expecting this.

He was expecting people to cower in fear at the sight of him, but instead they just smiled at him.

He think's it's because Naruto is with him at the moment. They must think that if the blonde doesn't think he's a threat than they shouldn't either.

Naruto was just happy that he could go with Madara to the market. Fukagu has been picking fight's with Sasuke all week and Naruto was finger touching close to kicking Fukagu's ass into next week.

They stopped at a little stand that had fruit's.

"Hokage-sama what can I get for you this fine morning?" One of the woman who worked at the stand asked.

"Oh well I was hoping to get some tomatoes." He said.

"Oh well we just got some fresh tomatoes in this morning." She said as she pointed to some in the basket.

"Okay hmm. Give me that one those three and those six."Naruto said as he pointed to each one.

She quickly picked them out and handed the bag to Naruto. He payed and they made their way through the village and into the hospital.

"What are we doing here?" Madara asked.

"Oh well I have to walk through the village from time to time and inspect the place. I thought I could bring you along for some chit chat. I also didn't think you would want to listen to Fukagu and Sasuke fighting over who should be clan head." Naruto said.

"Well I thank you then. I really didn't want to sit there and listen to them." Madara said.

"Yeah I wouldn't either. Now how exactly was your trip to Kanoha?" Naruto asked as he started eating the tomato as if it was an apple.

"Well it was quiet entertaining. Sasuke was very snappy, as you would say, with people and would fire jab's at them if they pissed him off. So I quiet enjoyed the entire ordeal. Well except for when that woman tried to get information on us." Madara said.

Naruto nodded with a sigh,"Yeah she has been a thorn in my side ever since I divorced Hinata."

"Do you mind me asking what the entire thing was about, because before all this you where married to a woman. So what exactly happened?" Madara asked.

"Well you see when Sasuke and I where sixteen we started doing thing's. We started dating when we where eighteen, but kept it on the down-low. When the civilian council found out about it Mebuki was pissed. So she had me and Sasuke marry Hinata and Sakura so that she could be known as the grandmother of an Uchiha child. We decided to divorce after I told Hinata everything."

"Hmm. You told me that you have a son and daughter. How exactly where they born if you where still married?"

"Well me and Sasuke had slept with each other before the wedding and I found out afterwards that I was pregnant with Boruto, my son. Sakura was pregnant with Sarada, my daughter. We decided that when I started showing we would go on our honeymoon as a cover up. I had Boruto in Uzshio along with Sakura." Naruto said.

"Hmm. If Sarada is not you're biological daughter why did you allow her in you're house. I meen no offense by it, but most wouldn't."

"I don't take any offense to it. Sarada isn't my blood, but she is my daughter. I practically raised the girl. When Sakura had to work late at the hospital I refused to let Sarada stay home alone. I fed her and clothed her and made sure she knew proper hygiene. Hell I was the one who helped her through her first period. Sakura was just the fly on the wall. I raised Sarada so she is my daughter." Naruto said.

Madara nodded his head with a small smile present on his face,"You truly are an Uzumaki mother." He said.

"What does that meen?" Naruto asked.

"Well in my time, when the Uzumaki clan was thriving, I had met many of them. The mother's especially interested me. The definition of an Uzumaki is loud, brash, stubborn and quick to anger. Yet I saw them care for children who where not their own, but the children of their husbands mistresses. I found it heartwarming. Considering most would wish death upon the child." Madara said.

Naruto nodded with a sigh,"Yeah. I know a woman like that at the moment."

"How do you know she wishes death upon a child?"

"Because she has openly told people that she is going to kill my son." Naruto said.

"She is going after you're son?" Madara asked.

"Yeah. Her name is Sakura. She's Sasuke's ex-wife. After she found out that Boruto was our biological son she went crazy. I think she got crazier when she heard Sarada call me mom." Naruto said.

"How do you know she is crazy?"

"She comes into the compound at night and tries to get into the house. She hasn't succeeded yet. She even watched me and Sasuke have intercourse. So yeah crazy ex-wife. That and she's a child abuser."

"How did you find that out?"

" The day we told Boruto about who his real family was Sarada heard us. She came into the room and asked if she was also my daughter. One thing led to another and Sarada showed us where Sakura had grabbed her. Sakura said it was discipline. It didn't end up so pretty for her."

"I would think. Child abuse isn't something that a mother should use as an excuse of discipline. Their is obviously a difference." Madara said.

"I told her the same thing. She still thinks I'm the bitch who stole her husband and daughter and ruined her life." Naruto said.

"I have met woman like that. Be aware Naruto. I will be you're shadow and protect you. If you believe someone is a threat to both you and you're child than I will act." Madara said.

Naruto looked back at the man and smiled at him.

He was glad he and Madara where friends. He is just a big cuddly teddy bear who got hurt by someone he cared for.

Chapter 15

Today was the day Boruto and Sarada came home. Naruto was planning a dinner, Sasuke said it looked more like a feast, Mikoto and Kushina where getting ready to great their grandbabies and Madara was helping Naruto in the kitchen.

"Where do you want these?" Madara asked. Showing Naruto the baked potato's that Naruto had instructed him to make.

Naruto smilled at the man and said,"Right inbetween the smoked pike and mashed potatoes."

Madara did as told and looked at the entire table.

"Why exactly do we need so much food?" He asked.

"Well I'm trying to get Sarada to eat more and Boruto can eat an entire bull in one setting. Sasuke tends to get hungrier all throughout the day and my Mom and Dad are also eating with us. Along Fukagu and Mikoto. I'm eating for two. Oh and you too. I figured that you would like to have as much as you want." Naruto said. Itachi wasn't coming because he and Shisui had already planned a date so they where not coming to the dinner.

Madara nodded his head and quickly got to work on the rest of the meal.

When Sarada and Boruto got home they where greated by their mother, father and a bunch of people who they thought where dead. They heard the rumours, just didn't believe them.

Fugaku was sour faced through out the entire meal. His grandchildren didn't fit his standard of strong. He voiced his opinion too.

Yeah Sarada and Naruto are still glaring at him for it.

Madara and Boruto got along pretty well. They even arranged for Madara to help Boruto train his Sharingan when he's not on mission.

Naruto loved that they where both getting along so well.

Halfway through dinner Fugaku decided to pick another fight.

"So Sasuke as I understand it you allowed you're Fiance to anly cook this meal?" He asked.

"Allowed? Naruto does what he wants." Sasuke said.

"So you allowed him to cook this meal by himself and didn't help him?" Fugaku asked.

"I didn't help him because if it where just me and him in the kitchen I would- You know what I don't have to explain to a self-centred six inched dickead why I didn't help in the kitchen. If Naruto needed my help he would have asked." Sasuke said.

"Watch how you speak to me!" Fugaku said.

"Why? Because you know that if you continue any further that I would bruise you're ego more?" Sasuke asked.

"How about you bruise me like a real man instead of using you're word's?!" Fugaku said.

a Boom of hand's hitting the table entered everyone's ears. The source stood up and looked at Fugaku.

His hair afloat and his ussualy calm Cerulean blue eyes now burned with pure raw anger and rage.

Somewhere across Kanoha both Kakashi and Obito felt a shiver going down their spine. They didn't know why. Just something in the air.

"What did you just say Fu-Ga-Ku? Naruto asked. He even made sure Fugaku knew he was serious.

Fugaku, who hadn't learned from his younger days with Kushina, stood up and glared down at the blonde,"I said that if he wanted to bruise me he should do it like a real man."

"Did you imply that Sasuke was not a real man, because he is able to fire back with word's and not like a barbarian with his fist?" Naruto asked.

"All I am saying is he has gone soft over the years. No Uchiha would allow their partner to be incharge of the household!"

"Sasuke hasn't gone soft. He grew up. Something you can't seem to do!"

"What the hell is that supposed to meen Uzumaki?!" Fugaku yelled.

"Sasuke got over the mentallity of being in control all the time. It's tiring trying to please everyone. He learned that it was okay to let others be in control instead of being a spoiled, selfish man child who has no respect for the people around him. If you ask me you're the lesser man compared to Sasuke. Sarada's more of a man and she's a girl. So sit your ass down and shut up, because if you make one more jab at me, Sasuke or my bloodline than I will show you the wrath of an Uzumaki." Naruto said his glare hard and cold.

Sasuke was very turned on, because the blonde looked like an angry goddess. He also enjoyed the view he was getting from where he was sitting.

Fugaku, seeing that he had lost the argument, sat down and grumbled.

Naruto sat down and started eating his food. Sasuke placed his hand on Naruto's thighs. Sarada contineud eating and Boruto went back to talking with Madara. The rest of the table just started eating too.

Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ

It was later that night when Madara had gone to bed, after helping Naruto with the dishes, Boruto and Sarada where called. Into the living room.

"Alright so we wanted to talk to you both about something. It's very important." Naruto said as they sat them both down.

Boruto was imediatly on defence mode,"Okay mom. Me and Shikadai didn't meen to pick a fight with Inojin. He came at us first. We where just defending ourselves when we knocked him into the wall." Boruto said.

"You did what!" Naruto yelled outraged.

"Oh so that's not what we are talking about." Boruto said. He just outed himself to his mother.

"No we are not. Boruto I know that Inojin is strong enough to hold his own and protect himself, but you can't just punch him into the wall. Oh my Kami. Ino's most likely gonna call me." Naruto said.

"Okay Sunshine we can get to Boruto's punishment later right now we have to tell them the actual news." Sasuke said.

"Oh yeah right. Okay kid's we know this is a bit uncalled for and stuff, but me and you're father have a surprise for you and depending on your reaction this could either go really really good or really really bad." Naruto said.

"Mom what exactly is going on?" Sarada asked a bit worried.

"Okay so a few weeks ago I had asked Baa-chan to do a test on me and see of my theory was correct. The test that we did came back one hundred percent positive." Naruto said.

"What test was it exactly?" Sarada asked.

"It was a pregnancy test. You are gonna have a little sibling." Naruto said.

It went dead quiet.

One minute...

Two minutes...

Three minutes...

Four minutes...

Fiv-,"I'm gonna be a big sister!" Yelled Sarada.

She was jumping up and down in excitement. Boruto just got on his knees and put his head against his mother's belly.

Sarada stopped and quickly got on her knees too.

"I wanna listen too." She said as she put her head against her mother's belly.

"What do you hear babies?" Naruto asked.

"I think I hear a heartbeat mom." Boruto said.

"How can you hear a heartbeat, but I can't?" Sarada whined.

"That's because Naruto's fox genes where past down to your brother. Inhansed hearing being one of them. So Boruto can hear it, because of that." Sasuke said.

"What does it sound like Boruto?" Sarada asked.

"It sounds like magic. I have never heard something so small and yet so wonderful." Boruto said.

Naruto giggled at his son's description.

"Wow. Wish I could hear it, but I will just stick to you telling me what it sounds like." She said. Her smile big as she softly and gently rubbed her mother's belly."I can't wait for you to be born." She wispered to the growing baby.

Chapter 16

Sasuke was a bit worried.

During Naruto's first pregnancy they relied on Kurama to tell them how everything was going. They couldn't exactly go to the doctor for that.

However this time their relationship was out and everyone knew Naruto was pregnant.

He was two weeks into his pregnancy and Tsunade said that she wanted to do an ultrasound.

Naruto wanted to get the ultrasound picture.

He had started a baby book. He did the same with Boruto and Sarada. So he wanted do do the same with this one.

Now getting the ultrasound wasn't the problem, Sasuke was very excited about this.

No the problem was he was in his thirty's, but he looks like he's twenty. His beautiful fiance is also in his thirty's but looks twenty, Sasuke can vouch for that.

Now they where in a waiting room surrounded by men and woman who looked older than what they actually where.

So yeah Sasuke was surrounded by men who had started balding and getting pot belly's while he still had all his hair and an eight pack. Naruto can vouch for that one.

Most of the men where looking at Sasuke in envy. The woman too. The blonde looked way to good seeing as he is pregnant, runs a house, runs the village and is raising two hyperactive teenagers.

So yeah him looking good was a bit of an envy for them.

Naruto looked good, because he doesn't clean up after others. He tells you to pick you're dirty clothes up you pick it up.

Sasuke know's from experience.

Boruto and Sarada just listen to their mother, because he doesn't restrict them from thing's so they just do it.

Madara doesn't throw his clothes on the floor. He washes them after changing. Naruto doesn't like it.

Annyway's they where seated for a while and Naruto was going through a baby magazine. Wanted to see what was on market.

"Hey Naru." Sasuke called getting the blonde's attention.

"Yes?" He asked.

"What are you hoping for? A boy or a girl?" Sasuke asked.

"Oh I know it's gonna be a boy." Naruto said.

"How do you know that? It could be a girl." Sasuke said.

"Nope. I am incapable of having girls. My ancestors decided that every Uzumaki who bottoms should have boy's. It makes up for the fact that I myself am a man. I can raise a girl, I did it with Sarada, but other people find it wierd when two men raise a girl." He said.

"So it is most definitely 100% a boy." Sasuke said.

"Yeah." Naruto said as he went back to the magazine.

Sasuke sat back with his head resting against wall.

"Oo what do you think about this plushie?" Naruto asked as he showed Sasuke a picture of a Kurama plushie.

"Really?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah. I think it would be pretty cute." Naruto said.

"That is the most cringest thing I have ever seen you decide on."

Sasuke said.

"No it's not." Naruto whined out.

"Yeah it is. Naru you want to get a fox plushie, that looks like Kurama, for our kid." Sasuke said.

Naruto just pouted.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and kissed the blonde's head.

It wasn't long after when a nurse called, "Uzumaki-Uchiha?"

Naruto and Sasuke stood up and walked into the room where they were greeted by Tsunade.

"Baa-chan!" Naruto said happily as he walked towards her. Pulling the older Senju into a hug.

"Hello Gaki. How are you feeling?" She asked.

"I'm fine. Just the morning sickness. Did not miss that." Naruto said.

"I don't think any mother misses it. I know I didn't. That's why I only had one." She said.

"Yeah. Hey have you talked to dad yet?" Naruto asked.

Tsunade sighed,"No Minato walks out of the room before I can even properly enter it."

"Oh so he's ignoring you." Naruto said.

"Yes it seems like it. I don't know or understand why he is." She said.

"I will talk to him and if he doesn't listen I'll just tell mom. She'll get dad to your front door in no time." Naruto said.

She smiled lighty at the blonde,"Thank you Gaki."

Naruto nodded his head,"Now where exactly do you want me?"

"On the table. Lay down and get as comfortable as you possibly can." She said.

Naruto nodded and laid down onty the table.

She pulled the machine close and started explaining the machine itself,"Okay so this is the ultrasound machine. It is what allow's us to look into you're womb and see the baby."

New parents tend to get anxious when the machine is presented. Now Naruto and Sasuke aren't first timer's, but this is the first time using the machine.

"Okay so the screen here projects an image of the baby and allows you to hear the heartbeat of the baby." She said as she pointed to the monitor.

Naruto nodded as he was following the entire explanation.

"Okay now this little doo hickey is the Transducer. It's what we use to look inside you're womb. It uses a form of echo location that helps project the image onto the screen. Now since the waves that it produces can't easily travel through air we need this." She said pulling out a gel,"It is not toxic if appleid to the skin or anywhere else. Now we need this to prevent any air space. It excludes most of it, but enough for us to see a picture." She said.

Naruto nodded his head as he followed along with his granny.

She points to the keyboard,"Now this is the onboard computer. With this I can adjust the image and take the waves up or down." She said"Now each and every mom want's a picture or video of the baby. So we use this. It is specifically made for you're use. The DVD and VD drive." She said.

"That is a lot to take in." Sasuke said.

"Yeah what ever you say love. Now when can we get started. I left mom incharge and at the moment I am fearing for Madara's life." Naruto said.

Tsunade chuckled and helped the blonde pull up his shirt, threw some gell on his stomach, spread it around and put the transducer on Naruto's stomach.

She moved around up until they saw the baby. The baby was small, but still seeable.

Sasuke looked at the monitor in awe.

"Now that is your two week old baby. Look's they are healthy. No complications and looks like the baby is growing fast." She said.

"Oh my Kami. It's so cute." Naruto said on the verge of tears.

"Yes. Being with child is a blessing in its own way. Now pictures, video or both?" She asked.

"Both. I think the kid's would like to see it too." Naruto said.

"Okay I will be right back." She said as she walked out of the room.

Naruto and Sasuke got their thing's and went home after they talked to Tsunade. They needed to make sure that the baby was gonna be delivered the same way as Boruto was.

Naruto didn't want to get a c-section. If he could do it the natural way he would.

The kids where overjoyed at the entire thing. Sarada cried when she watched the ultrasound video.

It was a pretty nice day.

Chapter 17

Naruto had been wondering where Sakura had dissapeared to. Now he knows.

She had crawled into her pit to plot and now she has reemerged.

Worst part is she was in his house. Fugaku let her in seeing as she said that she was friends with Naruto.

She sat on his couch, drank his tea and ate his cookies while she complained about Naruto being a little bit of an asshole to Fugaku.

Naruto wanted to hit her so bad, but starting a fight now would alert Sasuke, Boruto, Sarada and Madara. He didn't want Sarada to have a panic attack.

He was at his witts end when suddenly his mom and aunt walked through the door.

"Oh who's this?" Kushina asked.

"This is Sakura. a Friend of Naruto's and Sasuke's." Fugaku introduced.

Sakura got up and greeted them oh so politly.

Naruto called his mom and aunt into the kitchen.

"What's wrong honey?" Mikoto asked.

"We have to get Sakura out of here. Like right now." Naruto said.

"Why? She seems like a nice girl." Kushina said.

"She's Sasuke's ex-wife. We have to get her out of here before she starts causing trouble." Naruto said.

"Naruto honey I know it's not very fun being friends with the woman who was once bounded to you're husband, but that is no reason to throw her out." Kushina said.

"No that's not it. It's-" He was cut off by Kushina.

"Sweetie calm down okay. You are not going to be a bitch to Sakura. Okay. Now let's go back in there and be part of the conversation." She said.

Naruto felt his stomach drop. His mom didn't want to listen to him and was treating him like he was a jealous girlfriend.

Kushina and Mikoto walked back into the living room with Naruto short on their heals.

"Where's Sakura?" He asked seeing as the seat she was sitting in wasn't occupied anymore.

"Oh she went to the bathroom." Fukagu said.

Naruto's gut told him to go up the stairs and check on her. He quickly ran up the stairs and sensed her chakra on the other side of the house. Inside his room.

He quickly ran towards his room and opened the door. There she sat on their bed.

"This isn't the bathroom." Naruto said sarcastically.

"Hmm. Funny." She said.

"What are you doing here Sakura? You know you aren't welcome."

"Yes that I know. It's quiet sad really. You stole my husband and daughter and yet I am the one getting ostracized. The reason as to why I'm here is because I have a deal for you." She said.

"I didn't do shit. Sasuke was never yours and you know it. The day you decided to lay your hands on Sarada was the day you stopped being her mother. The village decided to ostracize you, because child abusers have no place in our society. What's your deal?" Naruto asked.

"I didn't abuse her, I was disciplining her. Now my deal is this. You give me Sasuke and Sarada back and I won't kill Boruto or that unborn abomination that you are carrying." She said with a cheshire cat grin.

Naruto was stunned,"You want to kill my son and unborn child just so that I can give you back the love of my life and MY daughter. You are a doctor. You live by a code that does not allow you to take an innocent life. You really think that my son, half Uchiha and half Uzumaki, trained by Madara Uchiha, grandson of Minato and Kushina Uzumaki-Namikaze and Fugaku and Mikoto Uchiha, will be killed by someone as useless and pathetic as you? My son has more power in his pinky toe than you have in you're entire body and I would kill you before you could even get near my baby." Naruto said.

She stood up her grin replaced by a scowl and a glare," Sasuke is mine. I loved him for the longest time. I was the one who went after him. I was always there for him. Meenwhile all you did was pick fights with him and be a major, incompetent, pathetic deadlast. Like you always where. So why would he want you!?" She asked

"Because I was there. I fought for him. I went after him. I showed him that I didn't care more about his title as the last Uchiha. I showed him that I loved him for him. All you cared about was a title and a status. Just like your bimbo mother." Naruto said.

Sakura, out of anger readied her fist. Going straight for Naruto's stomach.

It was, however, stopped.

Sakura looked up into a rinnegan activated eye and a glare as deadly as a snake itself.

Sasuke Uchiha held Sakura's fist in his hand. He was pissed.

"Sasuke-Kun. I missed you so much." She said. She went in for a hug only to be pushed away.

"What the fuck are you doing in my house Haruno?!" He barked out.

Hating the mere sight of the pinkette.

"You meen our house Sasuke-kun. Just as soon as we get Naruto out of here." She said.

"Now why would I kick my fiance out of my house and allow a bitch to stay?!" Sasuke asked.

"W-what? Fiancé?" She asked. She just thought she heard wrong that night.

"Yes. Now get the fuck out of my house!" Sasuke yelled.

a Teary eyed Sakura ran past both men and quickly down the stairs.

She stopped in front of Sarada.

The girl wanted to hide behind Madara who looked at the pinkette with curiousity.

"When you remember that, that thing in there will never be your real mother than you can come crawling back to me and grovel at my feat for forgiveness." She said with a snear.

Sarada clenched her fists and held back tears.

Kushina and Mikoto looked at her in shock. She seemed so nice to them.

Sakura turned to Boruto, who was glaring at her,"You are an abomination that was created by Naruto. You will always be considered nothing more than just a fuck up who can't do anything right. There will come a day where you will be all alone and I will ve waiting. You will not survive my wrath." She said.

Kushina went to get both the kid's away from Sakura, but Madara pulled them behind him. Shielding them with his body.

"Watch how you speak to them you insolent harpy bitch!" Madara said. His voice booming with anger.

"What did you say to me?!" She yelled outraged.

"I said don't speak to them like that. I do not wish for them to lose brain cells." Madara said.

"What the hell does that mean?!" Sakura yelled out.

"You are a insolent bitch with a superiority complex. That will be your down fall. If you ever and I meen ever threaten anyone from this family again I will personally destroy you're mind." He said. His glare hard and cold.

Sakura went to talk back, but Madara pointed to the door. She knew fighting would get her killed.

So she quickly left.

"Your mother is upstairs in his room." Madara said.

Sarada quickly ran upstairs her mother's comfort is what she sought after.

Naruto had taken his daughter into his arms and held her close to his chest.

Sasuke was too pissed to even speak.

Chapter 18

It had been two months since the entire Sakura thing and at the moment Naruto was pacing around the hospital. His nerves were worked up and no matter how hard he tried he couldn't get them down.

A few days ago his Anbu were patrolling the forest of death because no matter how high those gates are or how far they stretch, horny teenagers usually get in.

So as they were patrolling. While doing their routine check up they came upon the unconscious body of what looked to be a sixteen-year-old boy.

He wasn't from Kanoha, because everyone knows everyone.

They took him to the doctor seeing as he might have stumbled into the forest and gotten hurt.

He was checked over and Naruto almost cried.

There were signs of abuse everywhere on him.

In the form of scares.

Naruto knew that this was no ordinary kid, but for Naruto to get answers he would have to get the kid to wake up.

So yeah that was gonna take a while to wake up.

Right now Naruto was having another ultrasound. Sasuke was out on a mission because Gaara requested his help with the rogues.

Naruto happily let him go as Sasuke and Fugaku had been at each other's throats and Naruto was close to kicking Fugaku's ass, because Sasuke sure as hell doesn't start petty shit.

So he had to get Sasuke out of that environment before Naruto pulled an Itachi.

He wasn't alone at the ultrasound though.

Madara went with him.

The man has made it his personal mission to stick to Naruto's side. After what Sakura pulled at the compound Madara decided that she was a threat to his great-grandchildren both born and unborn.

So he decided to stick to Naruto's side and he made sure that one of his clones where always with them.

Madara was on high alert during the visit to the hospital as he knew Sakura was still on duty.

They did the ultrasound and Madara almost jumped in joy when he heard the heartbeat.

Almost. He still had an image to uphold.

"Okay. So everything looks good. As you can hear the heartbeat is steady and has a good rhythm." Tsunade said.

"That's good." Madara said.

"Yeah. I will get you the video of the entire heartbeat and the pictures. You just hold on." Tsunade said as she got up and quickly went to the back room.

Naruto wiped the gel off of his forming baby bump and got off of the bed.

"See. Not that hard." Naruto said.

"For something so important it seems to be quite easy," Madara said.

Tsunade came out of the back room and handed Naruto the pictures and the video.

He hugged his granny and they both left.

They were on their way out when one of the nurses ran up to the blonde.

"Hokage-sama!" She called out.

"What's wrong?" Naruto asked.

"He's awake. The kid we found in the forest is awake." She said.

Naruto took Madara's hand and they both shunshined to his room.

The blonde raven looked at them in shock as he was about to jump out the window.

Naruto pulled him away from the window and for the first time in the blonde raven's life he was embraced by someone in a none threatening manner.

Naruto held the kid close to him. He was startled when he saw the kid almost jump out of the window.

His motherly instincts told him that he was gonna commit suicide, but the kid wanted to escape. So luckily nothing like that.

"Oh my Kami. Sweetie don't do that ever again. You could get hurt." Naruto said as he was calming down his raging heart.

"Wh-who are you?" Kawaki asked.

"Don't think of changing the subject sweety. Oh my goodness. What were you thinking? You could have gotten hurt or worse. Oh my Kami you could have died." Naruto said as he tightened his hold on the blonde raven.

The blonde raven felt like crying. No one has ever shown the amount of concern towards him than the man holding him right now has.

He latched onto the blonde and slowly tears started flowing down his face.

"Oh sweetie I'm sorry. I'm not mad at you. Don't cry." Naruto said as he rubbed circles on the boy's back.

"Why are you so nice to me? You don't even know me." He cried out.

"Oh sweetie. I don't need to know you to be nice to you." Naruto said.

He sat the crying child up and wiped his tear's away.

"Okay. Now my name is Uzumaki Naruto and I am the Hokage of Konoha. This is my friend Uchiha Madara. We found you in the forest of death and you were passed out. Do you understand that?" Naruto asked.

"Yes."

"Okay. Now can you please tell me your name so that I can help you get back to you're family?." Naruto said.

"No. No please don't. Don't send me back there." The boy said as he started struggling against Naruto's hold.

"Okay. Okay. Okay. Calm down. If you don't want to go back then we won't send you back." Naruto said.

"You won't?"

"No, but if you want my help you are gonna have to tell me your name okay." Naruto said.

"My name is Kawaki." He said.

"Kawaki. Okay Kawaki can you please tell me what happened to you or do you not want to talk about it?" Naruto asked.

"No please." He said.

"Okay sweetie. I'm gonna ask you one question. Okay. Just one then I won't ask you anything else about it." Naruto said.

Kawaki nodded his head and Naruto asked,"Where they experimenting on you?"

Kawaki nodded his head and Naruto just pulled him in.

"Okay sweetie I am going to talk to the nurses. Tell them to bring me your medicine and I am gonna send one of my ANBU to get you some clothes. Okay." Naruto said.

Kawaki nodded and Naruto put him on the bed.

Madara stayed with him as Naruto quickly ran to go and get the medicine.

"You must be careful when around him." Madara said.

"What?" Kawaki asked. That specific sentence could mean a whole lot.

"Not in a bad way." Madara clarified.

"Then in what way did you mean it?"

"What I mean is that Naruto can not always hold a struggling child. It could get dangerous for him." Madara said.

"Why? Is he sick or something?" Kawaki asked.

"No. He is pregnant." Madara said.

"What?"

It wasn't long after when Naruto came back with the medicine and the ANBU came back with some clothes.

Naruto took Kawaki home. He wasn't gonna let a kid stay at the hospital all alone.

Naruto was tired. Sasuke still wasn't back yet, Kawaki was a very paranoid and anxious teenager, Sarada was going through her period and Boruto was just plain bored. He and Madara couldn't get as much training in as they usually did.

He was three months and two weeks into his pregnancy. His hormones were acting up and his anxiety skyrockets every time they trained. Both his boy's possibly getting hurt made him worry.

His bump was already forming and his baby was very healthy.

He was in his office, Kakashi was gonna take over as soon as Naruto went into his third trimester.

He was going through another load of paperwork when his office door was opened.

He looked up wanting to greet whoever it was with a smile, but his smile dropped when he saw Sakura and Mebuki.

She had gotten out of Anko's hold a few day's ago. Naruto thought that she would gain a few brain cells while with Anko.

"What can I help you with?" Naruto asked.

"I want the civilian council reinstated this instant!" Mabuki demanded.

"Why? So you can fuck up my village?" Naruto asked.

"I have done no such thing!" She yelled.

"Oh really. Then please tell me why the hell I am still finding old complaints in the back room coming from civilians. It's like you saw who it was from and just threw it aside because it wasn't important to you."

"Those requests were ridiculous and idiotic." She said.

"Oh so getting rid of a rat problem is ridiculous and idiotic? Those people had been struggling heavily with the problem and you let it be!" Naruto said.

"Okay, I don't have time for you two arguing. Naruto I have recently heard that you and Sasuke are going through with the engagement. I want you to put a stop to it right now," Sakura ordered.

"Why? Because you know that he will actually stay with me instead of picking up mission after mission?" Naruto asked.

"Watch how you speak to me Uzumaki. I will end both you and your child if you don't show me the respect that I deserve!" She said.

"What respect? You don't deserve shit. Respect is earned not given freely. I am not calling my engagement off with Sasuke. He is my lover, my fiancé, and father of my children and whether you like it or not I am marrying him." Naruto said.

"Your union would be frowned upon. It's unnatural for two men to get married. Boruto and Sarada would be looked at like strangers, that thing inside of your stomach will live the life of a pariah." She said.

"Uh no, we won't. Gaara and Lee are married and have Shinki and metal. They are both men. Shinki and Metal are okay. Boruto is my and Sasuke's biological kid and he isn't an outcast. Sarada is also my and Sasuke's biological kid and she isn't an outcast. You are making it seem that way because you're shallow little head sees it that way. My kids are proud that I'm their mother. My kids are proud that Sasuke's their father. My kids are proud that their parents are both men." Naruto said.

"Oh shut up the both of you. Naruto if you do not reinstate the civilian council then I will lead a coup d'État against you!" Mebuki said.

"You think that the civilians will go up against their Hokage?" Came a voice from the doorway.

Everyone turned to it and saw Sasuke standing there, arms folded and chest out.

Naruto almost passed out, because the raven went and got his hair cut.

"Sasuke-Kun why did you cut your hair?" Sakura whined out.

"It was getting annoying so I decided to cut it off," Sasuke said.

"But I loved your hair when it was longer." Sakura said. She was trying to sound cute.

"Even more reason to loose it." Sasuke said.

"Sasuke-Kun!" Sakura whined out.

"Okay you're hurting my ears. Succubus and mother leave please." Sasuke said.

Both Haruno's went to protest, but Sasuke just activated his sharingan and both left pretty quickly.

Sasuke closed the door behind them and as he turned around he saw Naruto infront of him with the biggest smirk on his face.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and pulled the blonde in for a kiss. Wich got heated and fast.

Sasuke didn't want foreplay. He hasnt been with his blonde in two weeks.

He picked Naruto up, with ease might I add, and sat down in the Hokage's chair with Naruto on his lap.

Naruto rolled his eyes at the raven's expression and quickly unbuckled Sasuke's belt.

He threw it somewhere and than he quickly got to work with unzipping his pants and pulling down the ravens boxers.

It unleashed Sasuke's member and Naruto giggled,"Been holding it in have you?" He asked.

"Yes. Now either suck or get fucked. You're choice." Sasuke said.

Naruto got off of the raven lifted his Kimono up and took off his boxer's. He climbed back onto the raven positioned himself and steadily sat down onto the raven's enlarged member.

Sasuke's head flew back in pleasure. The wet and tight cavern of his blonde goddess was the only thing the raven needed after a long day.

Sasuke was fully inside the blonde and Naruto was loving it.

The blonde leaned forward and he started passionately kissing the raven. Enjoying the taste of him.

Sasuke grabbed onto Naruto's hip's and started slowly making the blonde ride him.

That slow turned into fast when Naruto felt the need to please his Uchiha more.

The raven let moans and groans escape his mouth. The feeling of the blonde in his arms was making him harder and harder. He loved it.

"Fuck I missed you!" Sasuke said as he moved his hips upwards. Hitting Naruto's prostate dead on.

It wasn't long after that when both cummed.

Sasuke pulled out and covered himself. Naruto doing the same. They stayed there for a couple of hours. Just enjoying the feeling of eachother.

While there Naruto remembered something.

"I have something important to tell you." He said.

"What is it, sunshine?" Sasuke asked.

"While you where away the ANBU found someone in the woods. a Kid to be exact. Two weeks ago he woke up and since he's still a kid I didn't want to let him stay at the hospital alone. So I might have, kinda, sorta, definitely adopted a kid." Naruto said.

"You adopted a kid and you are just now telling me?" Sasuke asked.

"Yes, but to be very honest I didn't think you would mind."

Sasuke gave his lover a look.

"Okay I didn't think about you're reaction, but he's a kid. Sasuke you should have seen him he froze when I told him jumping out of the window would have killed him. He froze when I showed concern for him. So I decided to be the mom and take him home. He and Sarada get along great, he and Boruto seem to be very challenging with each other, but he's really nice and sweet and kind." Naruto said.

"Is he at the house right now?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah. He's with mom. She's looking after him and protecting him from whoever hurt him."

Sasuke sat up at the new information on the kid living with him.

"What do you meen by that? Was he abused?" Sasuke asked.

"Worst. He was experimentid on. Sasuke when the nurses showed me I almost cried. He's been through a lot." Naruto said.

Sasuke sighed. He should have known.

His sunshine did always have a soft spot for kid's.

"Okay. I wanna meet him than, but after we are done with work." Sasuke said.

Naruto nodded his head and quickly got back to work.

He wanted Sasuke to meet Kawaki and fast.

Chapter 20

While living with Naruto, Kawaki has met a lot of people.

He can say, with certainty, that only a few were very important to him.

There was Sarada and Boruto Uchiha-Uzumaki.

They were his, soon-to-be, mother's children. They were kind and energetic and they resemble the blonde's personality. So much so that he was shocked when he found out that Sarada was not Naruto's biological daughter. Oh well, he still loved his new siblings.

There was Himawari Hyuuga. She was a very small girl but she made up for it with an abundance of energy.

She was kind to him and showed him that she cared. She was quite fun to play with too. a Game of hide and seek has never been so fun.

Then there was Mikoto Uchiha and Kushina Uzumaki. They were his grandmother's. They were kind, but they could easily scare someone away. They looked after him when Naruto wasn't at home.

Kawaki understood that one. He wouldn't want to stare down the opposite side of their glares.

There was Minato and Fugaku. Both were very nice to him and they trained with him regularly. They even take him out for treats and stuff.

Then there was Madara Uchiha.

He was a very calming presence. For a guy as big as him he's quite gentle. Kawaki liked that.

Now last but not least his favorite person Naruto Uchiha-Uzumaki.

He was the mother he never had. Playful and laidback, but he won't let you get away with being petty. He's also very strict when it comes to eating food and being healthy.

He has not yet met the big man who has his mother's heart, don't tell Naruto he said anything like that it's embarrassing enough to have someone call you sweetheart during the morning pep talks, but he really wants to.

His day started out weird.

First of all, Boruto was no were to be found and Sarada was running around all day.

Naruto also came home earlier than normal and led Kawaki to the blonde's bedroom.

"Okay Kawai I'm gonna introduce you to someone. He's very important to me and I hope he becomes a big part of your life too." Naruto said.

"Who is he?" Kawaki asked.

"Well, he is my fiancé. Sasuke Uchiha. He came back from a mission and is currently standing behind that door. He wants to meet you and create a bond with you." Naruto said.

"Will he be like you?" Kawaki asked.

"Oh, sweetie. No one can be like me. I'm too unique. However, Sasuke has a soft spot for me and he knows that you are now my child. So he will be nice to you up until he warms up to you. He's very cold-blooded." Naruto said.

Kawaki gave a small smile at the blonde, "Can I meet him now?"

"Yes. Just let me open the door for him okay." Naruto said as he got up and quickly made his way over to the door.

He let Sasuke in and closed the door after.

"Okay, Sasuke this is Kawaki, and Kawai this is Sasuke." Naruto introduced.

Sasuke was the first to speak," Hello Kawaki. It is nice to finally meet you." He said.

"You too. Uchiha-san." He said.

"Just call me Sasuke. You're going to be living here from now on so leave the -san at the door." Sasuke said.

"Okay."

It was silent for a moment before Sasuke broke the awkward tension," Naruto told me you like to draw."

"Oh yeah. It's just something I did to pass the time, but it is very relaxing."

"Well, I used to draw too. Ask Naruto. So how about we draw something? We could get to know each other better that way." Sasuke said.

"Yeah, that sounds fun," Kawaki said.

It wasn't long after that you could see both Sasuke and Kawaki sitting at the coffee table drawing something.

Naruto was busy with dinner while Boruto and Sarada were playing video games. By the cheers, Naruto heard Sarada was winning.

Naruto decided on something fast and efficient so he made burgers. He made his own patty too with the spices and everything.

He put the last medium rare patty on a burger and yelled for everyone to come and eat.

Everyone quickly made their way to the kitchen. They sat at the table and after thanking Naruto for the meal they quickly dug in.

"So how has your training with Kanohamaru been going?" Sasuke asked his kids.

"Well, mine is going great. He helped me get the medical ninjutsu books I needed for my studies." Sarada said.

"Yeah, and he's helping me with the Rasengan. It's still a bit weak, but I can keep it active for longer than twenty seconds now." Boruto said.

"You could ask your mom to teach you. He was the fourth person to learn the Rasengan and the first one to master it."

"Why'd you learn it so late Mom?" Boruto asked.

"Wasn't born when the three people before me learned it yet." Naruto simply stated.

"Can anyone learn the Rasengan?" Kawaki asked.

"Yeah. Just about anyone can. You just need good chakra control and focus a lot." Naruto said.

Kawaki nodded his head and went back to eating his burger.

"Oh, Boruto, Sarada please invite Kanohamaru over tomorrow for dinner," Naruto said.

"Why?" Boruto asked while looking at his mother in a suspicious manner.

"Because he's my little brother that I don't get to see as often as I used to. Besides I miss my little brother." Naruto said.

"Okay, Mom. We will ask Uncle to come over." Sarada said.

"Thank you, honey. Now Madara how was your day?" Naruto asked.

Said Raven was silently eating his burger. The kids didn't even know he was there.

"My day was not very busy. I had to help Fugaku run some errands and Kushina with the washing. The blonde Senju asked for a hand at the hospital. Kanohamaru asked for some guidance with the Sharingan. That would be about it. How was your day?" He asked.

"Well sounds like you have been busy. It's good that people aren't terrified of you. My day was boring. I did some paperwork, almost banished the Haruno idiots, welcomed Sasuke back, and did some more paperwork." Naruto said with a shrug.

"Wait Sakura and Mebuki came after you?" Boruto asked distressed.

"Not physically. Though my ANBU wouldn't allow that. They love me too much. Mebuki wanted the council reinstated and Sakura wanted me to call off the engagement." Naruto said.

"I think that neither should have a say in what is currently taking place in both the village and you're love life. Miss Mebuki had, as you say, blown her chances of ever being in a position of power again. Miss Sakura is just very delusional to believe that Sasuke like's her." Madara said.

"Why thank you. Now if only they could understand then my life would be so much easier." Naruto said.

"Who are Sakura and Mabuki?" Kawaki asked.

"You haven't told him yet?" Sasuke asked.

"No, not yet I didn't want to overwhelm him," Naruto said.

"Okay. I will tell you later. Naruto doesn't like going into detail about them. They leave a bitter taste on his tongue." Sasuke said.

Kawaki nodded his head in understanding and went for his sixth burger.

Chapter 21

Fugaku Uchiha was a man of few words but many actions.

He was raised to be tough, silent, and deadly. He couldn't help it.

That was how he was raised.

That was how he planned to raise his boys.

That didn't work out so well.

Itachi took after his mother. Strong-minded, stubborn and he could easily overpower you if needed. He was smart enough to know how to do so.

Sasuke, Fugaku would admit, was a copy and paste of his personality. He was hard-headed and driven. He was strong, but Fugaku thought he was weak.

Sasuke had been the frail child. He could get hurt easily. Showed emotion.

With all of this, he was considered the weakest link within the Uchiha family.

All the elders agreed upon it.

Fugaku didn't want his son to be weak so he began pushing Sasuke.

He made him train harder than anyone else in the compound and he got results. Everyone was happy about it.

Sasuke wasn't. He was being undermined and ridiculed by his father.

He would get a jutsu wrong? Fugaku would yell at him.

Did he show too much emotion? Fugaku would yell at him.

Did he show defiance? Fugaku would yell at him.

He couldn't do anything he liked without getting yelled at. He hated it.

Fugaku was never impressed.

No matter how hard Sasuke tried.

Tradition is something passed down from one generation to the next.

From father to son.
Mother to daughter.

It was something that was important to the Uchiha clan.

Fugaku was born into the head family of the clan and his father followed the tradition of his father training Fugaku day and night.

He loved it. He loved it so much that he always forgot about what it felt like for a child of his age.

He forgot how much he hated his childhood.

The yelling. The cursing. The berating. He forgot it.

His mind shunned those memories.

He really regrets dying now.

Because when he woke up and saw his son he was surprised.

Sasuke had turned into a strong, independent man who did it all on his own. He saw it.

He himself knew that the change that took place in his son was only achieved because Sasuke did it on his own.

He realized his son could and would get stronger. Just not with Fugaku's help.

He got angry and like always he lashed out.

He hated himself for it.

The wedge that he made between him and Sasuke was growing bigger and bigger by the second.

He didn't know how to stop it.

Right now he was sitting in Naruto's kitchen.

He wanted to ask Mikoto how to fix it, but she and Kushina took their grandchildren into town. So he couldn't exactly ask.

He was stumped.

Then he heard the door open and not a few seconds late Naruto walked into the kitchen.

"Oh, Fugaku. What are you doing here?" Naruto asked as he walked over to the fridge and got a tomato out.

He started eating it like it was an apple.

"That's Sasuke's child alright." He just blurted out.

"What do you mean by that?" Naruto asked.

"It's just that when Mikoto was pregnant with Sasuke she also ate a lot of tomatoes," Fukagu said.

"Hmm, makes sense. Now I know for a fact that you didn't come here to talk to me about my newly developed tomato obsession. So spill it," Naruto said.

"I actually wanted to talk to Mikoto." He said.

"I can listen and give advice too. Just start talking," Naruto said.

"There's really no way out of this, is there?" Fukagu asked.

"Not unless you want me to headlock you," Naruto said seriously.

Fugaku just sighed and started talking, "When I was a child my father would be the one to train me. He was very thorough with training and always pushed me to become better. He wanted me to be feared in the shinobi world. Growing up all I did was eat sleep and train. I enjoyed it and wanted Itachi and Sasuke to do the same. However, I forgot about the bad parts of my childhood. The beatings that my father gave me were never fast and over in a second. He would yell and curse me out if I didn't get a jutsu right or if my stance was off."

"Well that doesn't sound very nice," Naruto said.

"It wasn't, but I forgot about that part. I shunned it with all my being and I decided to train Sasuke to be a better Ninja. I wanted him to come out on top. As an Uchiha standards must be upheld. Being weak isn't one of them. Crying isn't one of them. Talking back isn't something that we did. So I tried to get him to turn into a real Uchiha. Turns out I was just turning into my father. I remember hating my father, which is something I think Sasuke does too. I would hate me for what I did," Fugaku said.

"You know after the massacre Sasuke turned emo. He never smiled and didn't wear anything except dark blue or black. Well, he did smile, but only when he had the most fun, but it would disappear as quickly as it came. Other than that he only smirked and no matter where he went he was stoic. We thought he was planning a murder most of the time. Which he was, but he didn't tell us that." Naruto said.

Fugaku looked up at the blonde wondering where exactly this was leading to.

"The only time I saw him smile was when he was talking about the clan, Mikoto-chan, Itachi-Kun, and you. He was really proud of the fact that you were his father. He wanted to tell you that but you lashed out at him. You hurt him with your words and he didn't like that. So, like the emo bastard he is, he snapped back." Naruto said.

"Yeah I know that, but I was just so angry. He got so strong and grew up so much without my help. He conquered his Sharingan on his own. He mastered his Susanoo on his own. He went down a destructive path but he pulled himself out with the help of a couple of friends. He did so much and he didn't need my help for any of it."

Fugaku said.

Naruto smiled, "He did need your help while growing up. Before we even started dating he refused to even acknowledge his feelings for me, because he thought they were feelings of hate. The guy couldn't even smile when he took me out on the first date. So you ask me Sasuke needed you more than he would like to admit." Naruto said.

"Yes, but with how thing's are going right now. I don't think I will ever get my son back. I don't know how to fix it," Fugaku said as he put his head in his hands.

"Do you want to fix it?" Naruto asked seriously.

"Yes, I want to fix the relationship, between me and my son. I need to," Fugaku said.

"Then start small. Start inviting him to hang out with you. Start showing him you care by asking him questions about his day and his life. Don't overthink it too much and just start doing it. That's how you fix it."

"You think that would work?" Fugaku asked.

"Sasuke and I got into a fight when we just started dating. We didn't communicate much and the fight was bound to happen. So after the fight, I made it my mission to fix it. I talked to him and I showed him I wanted him in my life. That's the thing about Sasuke. If your words and actions make it clear that you don't want him in your life then he will walk out of it." Naruto said.

"Yeah. I know about that. He did it when he was younger too."

Chapter 22

a Full month had passed.

Sasuke and Kawaki had formed a bond and got along great. Madara had shown Boruto and Sarada how to use their Sharingan without any backlash. Naruto was slowly going into his fifth month, it was about two weeks away.

Fugaku had apologized to Sasuke for how he treated him and they started to slowly repair their broken relationship.

So the house was calm and cool.

At the moment it was night time and Sasuke decided to make dinner for tonight.

Madara was out training. He felt the need to burn off some of the fat he put on. Naruto's cooking was addictive.

Sasuke made some beef lasagne. It was easy and he couldn't screw it up.

He went to the living room to tell them to come and eat.

They sat at the table and went to eat, but Naruto was quick to stand up again.

"What's wrong?" Sasuke asked.

"Madara's not back yet. He's usually back by now." Naruto said.

"Maybe he lost track of the time," Sasuke said.

"We're talking about Madara Uchiha here Sasuke. Something's off. I'm gonna go look for him." Naruto said as he started walking out of the kitchen.

Sasuke sighed as he got up.

"Stay here kids. I'll go help your mother look for your uncle," Sasuke said as he got up and made his way to the door.

They heard the door open and close. They just started eating.

However, a couple of minutes later the door opened and closed and strangely enough Naruto walked into the kitchen.

Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ

Naruto was looking for Madara. For such a big man he was hard to find.

"You find him yet?" Sasuke asked.

"No. Sasuke this is scaring me. Madara doesn't just go off and not come home," Naruto said.

Sasuke pulled the blonde in, "Yeah I know. We will find him. Don't worry sunshine." Sasuke said.

Naruto just nodded his head and took a deep breath. He needed to calm his nerves. Stress was not good for the baby.

As he inhaled he smelled something metallic. His eyes widened at the realization of what it was.

He broke free of Sasuke's hug and ran towards the scent.

There he saw him. Madara Uchiha with a gaping sword wound that was sticking out of his back. He was trying to get up.

Naruto fell down next to him and yelled at Sasuke, "Get everyone on high alert! We are under attack!"

Sasuke quickly ran back towards the houses and started waking everyone up. The threat that there might be an unknown ninja in the compound had everyone on high alert.

Sasuke ran back to Naruto and helped him lift Madara onto his feat.

"Get him to Mikoto. She'll patch him up." Naruto said.

"What are you going to do?" Sasuke asked.

"I'm gonna go and see if I can track whoever did this!" Naruto yelled as he started moving swiftly into the forest that lay behind the compound.

Sasuke quickly helped Madara walk toward his mother.

"Oh, my Kami. What happened to him?" She asked as she helped her son get Madara to the porch steps of one of the houses.

"We don't know," Sasuke said.

"Well luckily for him whoever attacked him didn't hit any vital organs. So he's gonna be okay. Where is Naruto?" Mikoto asked.

"He's tracking whoever attacked Madara," Sasuke said.

"Okay, that's good. Can't have someone roaming around, but are you sure it's-" Mikoto was cut off when a scream was heard throughout the compound.

Sasuke's eyes widened as he saw from what direction it came from.

"That came from-"

"Our house. Whoever attacked Madara is at our house!" Sasuke said.

It wasn't long before they all ran to the house.

Boruto was thrown through the wall and luckily Fugaku caught him. He had a bruise forming around his neck, his shoulder was dislocated and both his wrists were bruised to the point that one of them was broken.

Fugaku held his grandson close as he looked through the hole.

They saw some woman holding Kawaki by his arm and she had grabbed Sarada by the hair.

Her skin was pale and looked almost deathly. She had long curly blonde hair, light purple eyes with vertical lines running through them, and yellow eye shadow. She had a scowl on her face at the fact that she had been caught.

"Stupid brats. Now I have to get my hands dirty again," She growled out.

The Uchiha's immediately got into a defensive stance. They were not gonna allow themselves to die again.

She threw Sarada and Kawaki to the ground and lunged into action.

She was being a coward and went for Boruto first.

Fugaku shielded Boruto with his body and waited for the impact.

Only it didn't come. He feel the wind blowing over him, he heard bones cracking, and then he heard a scream.

He turned around and saw Naruto standing in front of him. Kawaki and Sarada were clinging to Sasuke and the woman was punched into the wall.

The blonde Hokage's hair was in the air, and the Kiyūbi's red chakra seeped through him in waves.

"So you're the holder of the Kiyūbi No Kitsune. Naruto Uzumaki." She said as she pushed herself out of the wall.

"Yeah and who the hell are you?!" Naruto growled out.

"Oh, what a temper you have little fox. My name is Delta and I work for an organization known as Kara. You have something of ours and we would like it back please." Delta said.

"What could be so important to you sick fuck's that you would attack our home? What exactly do we have?" Naruto asked.

"You have our vessel, Kawaki." She said.

Everyone froze at this. She wasn't talking about an object and yet she referred to Kawaki as if he was one.

"Kara would like it if you kindly returned him to his owner," Delta said.

Naruto's expression drew into a scowl, "Don't talk about my son as if he is an inanimate object that you can just claim as your own," He growled out.

Delta rolled her eyes, "I don't have time for this. Hand over Kawaki and I will ensure that you all be killed swiftly."

Naruto growled, "You want my son and offer me death. Oh, how idiotic you are. Sasuke, if Delta get's through don't allow her near Kawaki. She's a kill on sight," Naruto said.

Sasuke nodded and pushed Kawaki behind him.

"Are you really planning on fighting me? I took down Madara Uchiha. What makes you think you can win?" She asked.

"Easily. Madara didn't have his guard up, I do. You caught him by surprise so your victory is nothing but a coward's win. Now let's see how you go up against me," Naruto said as he lunged forward and landed a hit on the woman.

And so it began.

Sasuke watched as his fiancé kicked Delta's ass. Delta got a hit or two in, but further, she was getting pummeled.

This fight reminded him of the time Naruto found out Sarada had been kidnapped by rogue nins who had a personal vendetta against Sasuke.

Naruto quickly found them and handed them their asses on a silver platter.

It was glorious and it showed how far Naruto would go for his kids.

It wasn't long before Delta was down and the Anbu took her away.

Naruto turned to his family and as soon as he saw Boruto his knees felt weak.

The blonde was crying his eyes out. Everything hurt.

Naruto made his way to him and picked him up. He cradled his son in his arms.

He looked at Kawaki and Sarada and saw bruises as well. Delta had hurt his babies to the point of them flinching each time they moved.

"We have to get them to the hospital. They could be hurt more than what we see now." Naruto said.

"Okay. I'll get a couple of guys to carry a stretcher for Madara. Mom can only do so much right now. Dad keeps everyone on high alert. Itachi you and Shisui take some guys and figure out how that woman got in. Take out any threat's to the clan if you encounter them," Sasuke said.

He wasn't risking his kids getting hurt even more.

Fugaku, Itachi, and Shisui nodded and quickly got to work.

They carried Madara to the hospital. Boruto was held tightly in Naruto's arms and Sarada and Kawaki were latched onto Sasuke.

Chapter 23

Madara was laying in the hospital room. He was hooked to an IV and heart monitor.

Delta did more damage than what they had originally thought.

Turns out her blade was coated in poison. There was no cure.

The only thing they could do was wait it out. Madara was strong so the doctors had high hopes.

Naruto cried when he heard the news. He had just gotten back from getting an ultrasound and they decided to tell him then.

Kushina had forced Naruto to get one. She was afraid the baby had gotten hurt during the fight. Luckily for them, Naruto was smart enough to encase the baby in chakra that stopped any blows that could be fatal.

However, right now Naruto was sitting next to his friend holding his hand. Sasuke was asleep in a chair. Too tired to stay awake.

Now Madara was breaking into a cold sweet.

While "asleep" he was in some place.

It was big with marble white floors, baby blue sky, and golden flakes decorating the entire place.

He knew where he was. He had been here many times before.

"Well, would you look at that? The great Uchiha Madara lost a battle against poison. How pathetic." He heard a deep voice say.

He turned around and he saw a man with snow-white hair, red streaks on his face, and a resting bitch face.

His eyes widened and fear overtook him.

"No, no, no, no! Kami you better take me back down there! I can't leave Naruto or my great-grandchildren alone!" Madara said.

Tobirama was a bit shocked at the raven's display of emotions.

Hashirama, like the amazing brother he is, hit his little brother over the head, "That's no way to talk to anyone Tobi. So stop it." He said.

"Oh, come on." The man whined.

The white-haired ninja was calmed when he felt two small arms wrap around him, "Don't pick a fight with my brother To i. You and I both know he will win." Izuna Uchiha, Madara's younger brother, said to him.

Tobirama grumbled. He won't admit it aloud, but Izuna is the only Uchiha he will tolerate.

"Izuna?" Madara asked. His eyes were wide from shock.

The young raven let the white-haired Senju go and smiled brightly at his older brother, "Yes. It's me, big brother."

Madara quickly made his way toward the young Uchiha and pulled him in for a hug.

"I missed you so much little brother."

"I missed you too. Sorry, I didn't come down with the rest of you. I didn't want to bother anyone with my presence." Izuna said.

Madara let out a deep chuckle, "I knew you'd be stubborn and selfless. You always have been."

"Well look at you." Hashirama started with a smile on his face, "The great Madara Uchiha openly showing emotion. What changed?"

Madara looked at Hashirama and said, "I made a friend who has the habit of making me laugh with his temper."

"You made a friend?" Hashirama asked.

"Well, he more like said he was keeping me and that's how it all started."

"Who would want to be friends with you? Especially knowing that you started more than one war while you were alive." Tobirama asked.

"Why it's the very person who took me down. Naruto Uzumaki. He is my friend, mother to Boruto, Sarada, and Kawaki and he is also the Uchiha clan matriarch." Madara said proudly.

"You sound proud of yourself," Izuna said.

"Of course I am. I am friends with a badass." Madara said as he pushed his chest out and smiled proudly.

"a Friend which you will see again." They heard an angelic voice say.

They looked up and came face to face with Kami-Sama.

"If I am to go back then what am I doing here, Kami-sama?" Madara asked.

"Well, I thought that you would enjoy seeing the one's that you loved so long ago. They were a bit stubborn when I told them they were going to be reanimated again." Kami said as he threw himself a small glass of Sake.

"So when I wake up they will be alive again?" Madara asked.

"Why course, besides every moon needs its sun and every sun needs its moon," Kami said.

"I don't understand Kami-Sama," Madara said.

Kami smiled at the raven and said, "You will find out what it is eventually. Now let's get you home. Naruto is worried sick about you."

Madara nodded his head and waited for Kami to take him back home.

Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ

Naruto was holding Madara's hand. He was filled with worry.

The doctors said that not many people survive poison like this and those that do usually have some long-term problems that follow.

He knew Madara was strong and could take anything that comes his way. He would most likely give it a couple of hits too.

However, Naruto knows for a fact that Madara has been strong for so long.

He does not always know how to lean on someone. Madara was too stubborn to admit he needed help, so Naruto was gonna help him. Every step of the way.

He felt the much larger hand squeeze his and he quickly looked up.

Madara was awake and looking around the room.

"How are my nephews and niece holding up after last night's events?" Madara asked.

Naruto just busted out into tears, waking Sasuke up.

The raven was quick to his blonde's side.

"What's wrong?" Sasuke asked.

"Madara care's more about the kids than he does his own life. It's sad." The blonde cried out.

"Did I upset him?" Madara asked.

"Nah. It's about that time in his pregnancy when his moods are up and down. Anything will make him cry. It just so happens that this specific scenario is upsetting him." Sasuke said.

"Oh. Well then, Naruto, you might be happy to know that your great-grandfather and great-uncle are to be reanimated. My brother Izuna along with them." Madara said.

"Oh my Kami really?" Naruto asked as he jumped up.

All tears were gone and a smile was now on his face.

"Yes. Kami-sama themselves told me so. They will most likely give us a signal once they are reanimated entirely." Madara said.

"Oh, then I have to go and get everything ready for their arrival. I have to get them some clean bedding, oh some new curtains. Oh and maybe when they arrive we could go clothes shopping. I need a new dress and some..." Naruto listed off what he was gonna do once Hashirama, Tobirama, and Izuna arrived.

Sasuke just looked at his fiancé as he walked out of the room. He had that look in his eyes again.

Not that he was horny look, but the I fell in love again look.

Madara saw it often on the young raven's face.

He wondered if someone would look at him like that one day. He surely hoped so.

Chapter 24

Naruto was tired. He was nineteen weeks, four months, and three weeks, into his pregnancy and the baby was kicking.

It was like he was trying to show his mother that he was still there, by causing him pain.

At the moment it was like around midnight and once again the baby was kicking.

Sasuke was sound asleep without a care in the world. Now it's not like he doesn't care about Naruto, he just doesn't know.

He knew the baby kicked, but Naruto didn't tell him that he was continuously kicking.

So Naruto suffered quietly.

The blonde was sitting upright in bed, doing circular motions on his bump.

It usually worked, but right now he didn't want to calm down.

The baby kicked specifically hard at one point, making the blonde let out a gasp of pain.

Sasuke heard it and woke up. He looked at his blonde and saw his pain-filled expression.

The raven quickly sat up and asked, "What's wrong?"

"The baby's kicking a lot," Naruto said.

"And you didn't wake me up to help, why exactly?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, you were sleeping and I usually deal with it. So I thought I could do it this time." Naruto said.

"So this has happened before and you didn't tell me?" Sasuke asked.

"Maybe," Naruto said.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and put his large hand on the small-ish bump. He bend down and his lip's where a centimeter away from the bump and he softly whispered, "Calm down my little star. You're hurting your mom."

The kicking immediately subsided. Sasuke sat upright and smirked at his blonde.

"And that's how you do it."

Naruto just rolled his eyes and sat up against the headboard. Sasuke took his spot right next to Naruto and took the blonde's hand in his own.

They sat there in silence.

"I love this," Naruto said as he laid his head on Sasuke's shoulder.

"What? Sitting in the dark and looking like a bunch of stalkers?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto let out a snort and just shook his head, "No teme. I mean just us. Between the family, the village, Sakura, and this Kara organization we haven't really gotten a chance to be alone. I like being alone with you." Naruto said.

"I like being alone with you too. It's refreshing. Now since we look like a bunch of stalkers in a dark room how about we go over a couple of things?" Sasuke said.

"Like what?"

"Like where are we gonna put the baby's crib and everything?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, I thought that we could put the crib and his clothes in here. We can make his actual room his playroom. I think that it would just be better. We can immediately get to him if he starts crying. If he needs a diaper change or a change of clothes then it would be done faster. That and for the first few months he's gonna need constant supervision." Naruto said.

"Makes sense. Where should the crib go?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, I thought of putting the crib near the door, against the wall. The changing table will be next to the window. There is also some room in my closet and we don't need to like to get extra closet space. So it will be easy." Naruto said.

"Then where is his room going to be when he gets old enough to look after himself?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, there is the room right next to Sarada's. It's big enough and has enough closet space. We can put a bed in there, repaint it and put up some decorations." Naruto said.

"That is a great idea. I think our moms would enjoy it the most." Sasuke said.

"Yeah, they actually would."

"Okay, then what do you want to name him?" Sasuke asked.

"You don't want to name him?" Naruto asked.

"You're doing all the work. Only fair that you pick the name. Besides you can name the baby better than I could." Sasuke said.

Naruto smiled and said, "Well then if I just so happened to pass out after pushing him out, I want you to call him Menma."

"After the other you in the other dimension?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah. He was my counterpart, but I want to make his name great again. He's gonna carry it with pride." Naruto said.

"That's kind. Who do you want to deliver him?" Sasuke asked.

"I want Granny to deliver him. She's the one I trust and know will take it much more seriously. I want to do it at the hospital." Naruto said.

"Alright. Now that the baby stuff is sorted out what about the wedding?" Sasuke asked.

"What about it?" Naruto asked.

"Well, when do you want to start planning it?" Sasuke asked.

"After Menma is born. Then we can focus on both and not worry about stress. I want this to be as stress-free as possible." Naruto said.

"I like that. It's a good thing you're smart and pretty. I scored big time with you." Sasuke said.

"Of course you did. Good thing too, because I was getting impatient with you're constant rejection. I was planning on going for Sai." Naruto said. His smirk was hidden from the raven's gaze.

"Ex-fucking-cuse me. You were gonna go with the crop top-wearing perverted, wana-be painter?" Sasuke asked.

You could hear the anger in his voice.

Naruto bit his lip and met the raven's gaze, "I like when you're jealous," Naruto said.

Sasuke just rolled his eyes, "Why?"

Naruto sat up a bit and straddled the raven's waist, "Because it shows me how important I am to you."

"You will always be important to me."

"That's one of the reasons that I love you. You make me feel important."

"What are the other things?" Sasuke asked.

"You make me feel like a Queen. It's like the ground I walk on is considered holy-" Naruto was cut off.

"Wich it is," Sasuke said.

Naruto giggled, "Thank you, but you also make me happy. Before you showed me your love I thought I was gonna be alone forever. So I was happy when you chose me."

"I'm the luckiest one. You chose me. You had millions of other choices. Some were better, others not so much, but you chose me. a Revenge seeking, emo, teme, bastard who was most likely destined to die alone." Sasuke said.

"Then let us agree that we are both lucky," Naruto said.

Sasuke had this thinking face on and said, "Nope. I'm definitely the luckiest one. I got this hot and beautiful piece of ass, that looks good on both my arm and in my bed. You got stuck with me." Sasuke said.

Naruto giggled and just encircled his arms around Sasuke's neck, "I got stuck with the most handsome man on earth." He said.

Naruto was bored.

He was in the middle of his second trimester and his son was getting bigger and bigger by the day. So he couldn't do much.

He tried to bend over one time and he almost face-planted into the ground.

Sasuke went out for a mission that the Raikage needed him for.

Madara also wasn't there to keep him company. He had gone out in order to bring back his brother and his friends. Don't tell Tobirama that Madara considers him a friend.

The kids were all at their friend's houses, well Sarada was out on a date with Cho-Cho. Kawaki was out with his mom and Mikoto. So he had no one to hang out with.

Then his brain kicked in and he decided that he was going to go see Hinata.

He quickly got up and packed himself a bag.

It contained tomatoes, trail mix, bacon bits, and caffeine-free iced tea.

He also packed himself some extra clothes and a bathing suit. Hinata had recently gotten a pool installed and he wanted to swim.

He made sure he had everything, including sunscreen and a sun hat.

He made his way out of the house, locked the door, and made sure that the spare key was in the pot next to the door.

He then slowly, but surely made his way over to Hinata's house.

It wasn't a long walk.

He arrived at her house and rang the doorbell. The door opened and where Naruto expected Hinata he saw Himawari.

"Hello, Aunty Naruto." Himawari greeted.

"Hello, Hima. Where's your mom?" Naruto asked.

"She's in her room putting on her bathing suit. We're gonna swim in the new pool today." Himawari said.

"Oh, that's awesome. Why aren't you in your bathing suit yet?" Naruto asked.

"I saw you through my window and wanted to open the door for you," Himawari said.

"Oh well that's so sweet, but now you have to go and put on your bathing suit and hurry up because we're gonna swim the whole day," Naruto said.

Himawari yelled an okay and quickly ran up the stairs to her room.

Naruto just shook his head as he giggled. He walked into the house and closed the door behind him.

He carefully walked up the stairs and went towards Hinata's room. He knocked on the door and softly called out, "Hinata."

He heard a sob coming from the inside of the room and he just decided to open the door.

He walked in and saw the purple-headed Hyuuga sitting on the bed. Tears were streaming down her face.

Naruto quickly closed the door behind him and walked over to her.

"Hinata what's wrong?" He asked concerned.

Hinata was a very strong person and crying wasn't something she did often.

"I screwed up. Naruto I screwed up big time." Hinata cried.

"Why do you say that?" Naruto asked.

"He's pissed. He told his current mistress about everything and she is coming for me. Naruto I have been receiving threats from her this entire time. When she saw I wasn't reacting to them she turned her attention to Hima." Hinata said.

He sat down next to her and asked, "How do you know that?"

"I went to pick her up from training the other day and there she was. Looking at Hima. Naruto when I saw her I felt it. She wasn't there to talk to me or Hima. She was gonna try and hurt us."

"Is this the only time this has happened?" Naruto asked.

"No. I heard someone sneaking around the house, but I just thought it was my imagination. Naruto what if she gets in and tries to hurt Hima?"

"She won't be able to. What about Hima's dad? Have you told him about the threats she's been making?" Naruto asked.

"Yes, but he doesn't care. Naruto what if he decides to come after her? I completely destroyed his marriage and he-" Hinata was cut off.

"Deserved it. Hinata if that man or that woman even comes near you or Hima then I will immediately step in and help defend you both. Himawari might not be my blood, but she's still my daughter. I also know that if something were to happen that you have the entire Uchiha clan backing you up." Naruto said.

"Thank you," Hinata said as she hugged him.

It wasn't long before she shot up and whipped her tears.

"Oh, my Kami. I never asked you what you were doing here?" She said.

"Well, I was alone at home and decided that I wanted to hang out with you. So I came over and luckily for me, I brought my swimsuit and everything." Naruto said.

"Speaking of. I still have to change. I will go into the bathroom and you can change out here." Hinata said.

"Okay. I will wait out here for you." Naruto said as he got up and took out his things.

Hinata got up grabbed her clothes and walked into the bathroom.

Naruto got to work with putting on his one-piece. It reached to his thighs and covered him entirely. The swimsuit was black in color. The shoulder straps were blue along with the sides with neon yellow outlines.

His baby bump stuck out and he ran his hand over it. Before Naruto could throw his pullover on he heard Hinata gasp.

"Oh, my Kami look at you. Oh so big," She said as she walked closer to him.

She got on her knees and put her hands on the blonde's stomach.

"Oh it's beautiful," She said.

"Yeah, I know. Come on you can keep feeling in the pool. Himawari's been waiting for us this entire time," Naruto said.

Hinata got up and took Naruto's bag with her.

Naruto pulled his pullover dress over the swimsuit and was short on Hinata's heels downstairs.

They quickly got to the swimming pool and Hinata, after putting Naruto's bag down next to the pool chair, got into the water.

She helped Himawari swim from side to side.

Naruto spent the entire day there.

He went home later that night and came face to face with Madara.

"Your back!" He yelled out.

Madara turned away from the stove and opened his arms. Naruto quickly walked into the hug and held the raven tight. He let go a few minutes later.

"Of course I am. I didn't want to stay away from home for long." Madara said.

"That's good. Where are Tobirama, Hashirama, and Izuna?" Naruto asked.

"They are getting settled into their rooms. They will be down shortly. Where is Sasuke?" Madara asked.

"He went to assist the Raikage in something. He has been gone for the past two days." Naruto said as he sat down on one of the chairs.

"And the children?" Madara asked.

"Well, Boruto is having a sleepover with Shikadai and Mitsuki. Sarada is sleeping over at Cho-Cho's house tonight and Kawaki went out with my mom and aunty today." Naruto said.

"Cho-Cho. That's the Akamichi girl that Sarada likes is it not?" Madarra asked.

"Yes. They went on a date today and the sleepover was already planned," Naruto said.

"Are we sure it is safe to leave them both alone? You and I both know that teenagers can easily go down a certain path if left alone for a long while," Madara said.

"Yes, but Sarada is responsible when it comes to things like that. I also told Karui that she should keep an eye on them. As responsible as they both are anyone can get lost in the moment," Naruto said.

"That is good. Like I said they are still teenagers. Hormones are a very big influence on their actions at the moment," Madara said.

Izuna walked into the kitchen and smiled widely at Naruto, "Hello."

"Hello," Naruto said as he stood up and walked over to the long-haired raven.

"Oh my. Big brother was not kidding when he said you were pretty." Izuna said.

"Awww thank you. However, I wouldn't say that a lot. My fiance would get upset," Naruto said.

"Oh, it was a compliment, nothing more. Oh, look at you. Pregnancy is something that looks good on you," Izuna said.

"Oh, thank you."

"Flattering everybody around you are we?" Tobirama asked when he came down the stairs into the kitchen.

"Tobirama-sama. How have you been?" Naruto asked.

"I have been good, but then I heard that you allowed an Uchiha to taint your womb with his DNA." He said.

"Oh well, coating my womb in Sasuke's sperm is something I get to do often. It's relaxing. That's most likely why you are so sour," Naruto said.

You could hear a booming laughter coming from the stairs and down came Hashirama.

"He has you there little brother," He said.

He walked towards Naruto and greeted the blonde with a hug. He pulled away and smiled proudly, "I had my suspicions, but then Kami confirmed them."

"What were those suspicions?" Naruto asked.

"That you are my great-grandson. I am so proud of how everything turned out for you," Hashirama said.

"Yeah. Me too."

Naruto hugged Hashirama back and the night went on.

Kawaki came home later and was snuggled by Naruto, not that he was complaining.

Madara made dinner. Izuna and Hashirama listened and talked to Naruto. Tobirama was accepting the fact that his great, great, great nephew was in love with and Uchiha.

Chapter 26

Sasuke Uchiha could say with full honesty that he doesn't scare easily.

He was an Uchiha and he could easily Chidori your ass, but he was scared of one thing.

His fiancé and soon-to-be wife, Naruto Uzumaki.

Now most would ask why is a literal kenjutsu master afraid of the tiny sunshine blonde. Naruto is sweet, kind, loving, and has an amazing personality. His hugs are warm and his smiles are kind.

Well, Naruto has something Sasuke like's to call short person syndrome.

Yeah, the little lovable ball of sunshine is actually a ball of rage and hate.

With years of malnutrition and bad habits, Naruto's growth was stunted.

He was very pissy about it and sadly anyone who brought it up got a verbal beating.

Now the first time Sasuke found out about this important piece of information was when they first started dating.

They had gotten into a fight, not the first time, and words were exchanged, again not the first time, Sasuke said something along the lines of how much easier it would have been to date, Karin. Naruto did not respond well.

Sasuke thought the blonde would just storm out of the room crying. He would figure out what went wrong and come back for some make-up sex later. That did not happen. Instead, he was punched into a wall and yelled at for about two hours about how much of an asshole he was.

It is safe to say Sasuke lost that fight big time.

So yes Sasuke doesn't scare easily.

So he wasn't scared when Tobirama Senju glared at him as soon as he walked through the front door.

He just glared back.

Well, he stopped when Naruto penguin waddled over to him. His five months, almost six, pregnant belly sticking out.

He opened his arms and bend down to the blonde's height so as to not strain his ankles.

"Welcome home." Naruto greeted with a smile.

"Thank you sunshine. How are you feeling?" Sasuke asked as he rubbed circles on Naruto's belly.

"Tired. Menma's been kicking all week. He's getting impatient." Naruto said.

"I don't know what that feels like, but I'm gonna guess not very fun," Sasuke said.

"No, it's not," Naruto said.

"Have you been eating well?" Sasuke asked.

"Yup. Everything in sight." Naruto said.

"Sleep?" Sasuke asked.

"I get enough sleep to get through the day. Does that count?" Naruto asked.

"No. How much sleep are you supposed to get and how much do you get at the moment?" Sasuke asked.

"Not nearly the amount I actually need to get," Naruto said.

"Okay. Go put on you're pj's you're going to bed for a nap." Sasuke said.

"Aww. But you just got back." Naruto said with a pout.

"That's why I'm gonna take a nap with you. So get upstairs or do you need help getting up the stairs?" Sasuke asked as he remembered that with Boruto, Naruto had trouble getting up and down the stairs.

"I will manage. Just don't take too long." Naruto said.

"Okay. I won't." Sasuke said as he gave Naruto a kiss on the forehead.

Naruto gave him a kiss on the cheek and waddled back to the stairs.

"So this is Sasuke." The raven heard a voice say from behind him.

He turned around and came face to face with a man who was taller than him, had long brown hair that hung loosely on his shoulders, and his eyes were all white with brown colored irises.

"Yes. That's me. What can I do for you?" Sasuke asked.

"Oh, nothing much. I just wanted to meet you. You know it's not every day that you meet you're great son-in-law who your grandson boasts about frequently." Hashirama said as he walked closer to Sasuke and took his hand.

He started vigorously shaking Sasuke's hand with a smile on his face.

"Nice to meet you too then," Sasuke said.

"Oh, the honor is all mine. I mean it's not every day that you get to meet the man who put a Chidori hole in you're only grandson's chest now is it?" Hashirama asked as he started squeezing Sasuke's hand.

Sasuke was a bit stunned.

"Now I will be Frank, my name is actually Hashirama. I don't like that my precious little grandson is getting married to the very man who hurt him so much when they were both younger." Hashirama said. His entire friendly face disappeared.

"Hashi-" Madara went to stop the brunette from hurting Sasuke but was cut off.

"Madara we will talk about this later. Now Sasuke, I as Naruto's grandfather am very happy that you are going to marry my great-grandson. However, if you hurt him in any way, shape, or form, make him cry or if I find a hair, whisker, or anything out of place I will personally hunt you down and end you. Are we clear?" Hashirama said.

Sasuke looked the older male dead in the eye and said, "The day I hurt Naruto is the day you can do with me as you please."

Hashirama looked into the raven's eyes for a couple of seconds, before he smiled and said, "Wonderful. See you at dinner."

He walked away after that. With Madara following behind him.

Sasuke just turned around, gave Tobirama the finger, and walked upstairs.

He opened the door to his and Naruto's room and saw his blonde in one of his shirts, a pair of boxers and he was currently sitting upright.

"What took you so long?" Naruto whined out.

Sasuke just smiled and started taking off his clothes, "I was getting threatened by your grandpa."

"What? Why?" Naruto asked as he went to get up.

"Stay where you are. I'm okay. He just wanted to make sure that you were in safe and capable hands." Sasuke said.

"What did you tell him?" Naruto asked.

"Nothing. He judged for himself. Now enough about me. What happened when I was gone?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto looked down and played with his fingers.

"What? Did something bad happen?" Sasuke asked as he got onto the bed with Naruto.

The blonde looked up and said, "Hinata's being threatened by Himawari's dad's mistress."

"What are you talking about?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, it happened a few days ago after you left. I went to Hinata's to swim. I walked into her room and saw her crying. Himawari's dad is getting a divorce and he doesn't like it. Neither does his mistress and she started targeting Hima. She hasn't done anything yet, but where afraid she will." Naruto said.

"If you and Hinata think that Himawari's in danger then she can stay over at the compound and we can get some of the Uchiha's to walk her to and from school," Naruto said.

"You would do that?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah. Hima's important to you so she's important to me. Now are we gonna continue talking or do you want to nap?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto folded his arms around Sasuke's neck and laid the raven on his back. He laid his head on Sasuke's chest and said, "I wanna nap."

He proceeded to close his eyes and go to sleep.

Sasuke just held the blonde close and fell asleep shortly after.

They were both pretty exhausted, to say the least.

Chapter 27

Approaching the gates of Konoha with a pep in her step and a smile on her face was Karin Uzumaki. She was wearing a pair of black long-sleeve camo pants, a light blue short-sleeved shirt, and a pair of white sneakers.

Her red hair was in a pixie cut and it was styled with a see-through hair clip.

She was on her way to Kanoha so that she could see her little cousin.

She had heard of what happened, but couldn't come sooner seeing as she was occupied with helping a small fishing village with their rogue nin problem.

She still made it her goal to get to Kanoha though.

Upon passing through the gates she was met with the delightful smell of fresh fruits, vegetables, and an abundance of food that would make anyone drool.

She decided that getting her stomach full was another mission at the moment.

She would meet her little cousin a bit later. Right now she was hungry

Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ

In the six months that Naruto has known his parents, he realized that he hadn't spent a lot of time with Dad.

So he decided to change that.

He had gotten ready early in the morning and left, but not before giving Sasuke, Boruto, Sarada, and Kawaki a kiss on the forehead.

He walked out of the compound and towards the Uzumaki clan home.

His parents didn't want to live in the Uchiha compound. They said that they had their own place so they wouldn't munch off of their friends.

That and Minato knew Kushina and Mikoto would spend hours with each other.

He wanted his wife to be home at least some of the time.

Mikoto wasn't getting her all to herself.

Minato met his son outside the he house and greeted him with a hug.

"How are you feeling? I know waking up this early in the morning isn't exactly something you like," Minato said.

"I'm good. Besides waking up early is a habit. Menma is very active in the mornings. Is mom still sleeping?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah, she is. She and Mikoto had a long day yesterday. They went shopping, then they went eating, then they decided to see who was the strongest and destroyed training field three. So a very long day." Minato said.

"That sounds like something I would do," Naruto said.

"I wouldn't be surprised. You might look like me, but you are your mother through and through." Minato said with a soft smile directed at his son.

Contrary to what people may think Minato loved that his son was like his mother.

Naruto's blonde hair, his blue eyes, and his goofy nature came from Minato. He loved that, but what he loved more was that his son had his mother's kind smile, his mother's small and tiny hands, and his mother's loud and brash temper.

It was like Naruto had a mini Kushina within him.

That's what made Minato so proud of his son.

"Hey Dad," Naruto cut off Minato's train of thought, "we should go to Ichiraku Ramen. I haven't seen Teuchi-san in a while." Naruto said.

"Yeah, you are your mother's alright," Minato said with a small smile.

"What do you mean by that?" Naruto asked.

"Well, your mom and I would go there regularly while we were dating. It was there that we found out your mom was pregnant with you." Minato said with a thoughtful look on his face.

He remembered the day as clearly as this one. It was sunny with a few clouds in the sky. The day was calm and not many were busy that day. Minato and Kushina had decided to go to Ichiraku Ramen.

As soon as Kushina's regular Shio ramen stood in front of her did she feel sick. They tried a few different varieties of ramen, but only one stuck.

Miso Chasu Pork Ramen.

They went to the doctor afterward and found out that Kushina was pregnant.

"I didn't know that," Naruto said.

"Most people don't know about it. It's not something they ask about. Speaking of pregnancy. How is everything with you and Menma?" Minato asked.

"Oh, it's going great. My morning sickness has gone away completely. My cravings aren't that bad. I can stomach anything except for onions. Menma get's a bit rowdy, but he loves it when someone is touching my belly. Oh, and Sasuke has been talking to him every night." Naruto said.

"Well, it's good to know that you are alright. What about the kids? How are they doing?"

"Oh well, Boruto is learning how to work with his Sharingan. He's also perfecting his Rasengan and Chidori. Sarada's working on her medic ninjutsu. She along with Kanohamaru is working under me to take over as the Hokage. Oh, and Kawaki is getting better at being around people. He's also started training with Madara and Boruto." Naruto said.

"That's good. What about Hashirama, Tobirama, Izuna, and Madara? How is it living with them?" Minato asked.

"Oh, it's not that bad. Grandpa Hashi threatened Sasuke, Uncle Tobi sometime's pick's fights with Fugaku, Uncle Izuna helps me bake all the time and Madara helps me when Sasuke's out on missions. He's very nice considering the reputation people made for him." Naruto said.

"The number of men in your life scares me sometimes. I don't know how you are so calm through it all."

"Easy. I have Sasuke. He's the head and I'm the heart." Naruto said.

"Well said. Speaking of Sasuke. How are thing's going between the two of you? I remember your mother and I  didn't always get along during her pregnancy." Minato said.

"Oh, none. Sasuke and I don't fight. He also kinda does what I ask. So no fights. He loves me too much to raise his voice at me anyways." Naruto said.

"I can understand that. You can see it in his eyes. He really does care about you." Minato said.

Naruto smiled his sunshine smile and both started walking in silence after that.

Minato pulled back the veil to the old shop and let Naruto enter first.

They ordered what they wanted and conversation flew naturally between father and son.

*Δ•°°•Time Ship•°°•Δ*

Naruto walked into the compound later that night. He and his father had talked the whole time at Ichiraku and after they went shopping. Minato had enjoyed his day with his only child and Naruto did too.

Naruto unlocked the door and entered his house.

He heard voices coming from the kitchen and made his way there.

Upon entering he was almost tackled to the ground by a red blur. He could feel the restraint they had as soon as they closed in.

Naruto saw a bit of red hair and the one side of a pair of black glasses.

He immediately squeezed the person in a gentle, but firm hug.

"Oooh, I missed you so much. Sorry for not coming earlier." She said as she pulled away.

"I missed you too. When did you get here? You have any trouble getting in?" Naruto asked.

I just got here today and no. No problems." She looked down and gasped in happiness, "Look at you. Oh so big." She said as she slowly put her hands on Naruto's enlarged belly.

"I know. He's coming along nicely. Baa-chan said that he's going to be so strong and healthy." Naruto said.

"Of course, he is going to be healthy and strong. He's your kid after all." She said.

She removed her hands from Naruto's belly and looked at him with sparkling eyes. She was so happy for her little cousin.

Sasuke, seeing his chance, walked up to his blonde and kissed him on the lips.

"Welcome home," Sasuke said.

"Thank you, my love," Naruto said with a smile on his face.

"How was your day?" Sasuke asked as he helped Naruto over to a chair.

"It was great. Dad and I went to Ichiraku Ramen and then we went shopping. Dad even told me about how they found out Mom was pregnant with me." Naruto said.

"That sounds so much better than my day," Sasuke said as he walked over to the stove to get the plates ready.

Karin took a seat next to Boruto and Sasuke served them some smoked hike with rice and mushroom sauce.

"Ooo this looks good," Karin said.

"Well then itadakimasu," Naruto said.

"Itadakimasu," The others followed.

They started eating directly after.

There were no complaints from anyone.

It was a good day.

Chapter 28

Sasuke was sitting in the living room. Naruto is on his lap cuddling into the raven.

a Nervous Boruto walked into the room.

He was playing with his fingers and refused to look his parents in the eye.

"What is it Boruto?" Sasuke asked.

Naruto turned his attention from Sasuke's neck to his son.

"I have a question." The blonde said.

"What is it, sweety?" Naruto asked.

Boruto walked towards them, sat on the couch, looked down, looked up, and asked his dad, "Dad how did you first fall in love with mom?"

Naruto looked at Sasuke in question. He also wanted to know.

Sasuke threw his head back and took a breath. Wanting to go through all the times he fell in love with his blonde vixen.

"There were many times I fell in love with your mom, but there was one that stuck the most," Sasuke said.

"Can you tell me please?" Boruto asked.

"Yeah. I also wanna hear it." Naruto said excitedly.

"Okay, I'll tell you. Never said I wasn't gonna tell you." Sasuke said.

Boruto quickly jumped up and went to get his siblings.

He also brought along Karin, Kawaki, Madara, Izuna, Hashirama, and Tobirama.

They all took a seat on the couch or the floor and patiently waited for Sasuke to start.

"Okay well, this happened in our Genin days. It was entirely before the Chuunin exams and I remember we were called to the Hokage's office. The entire Rookie Nine...

°•Flashback•°

Sasuke Uchiha was walking down the busy streets of Konoha.

His face was stoic and his glare cold and hard. He was wearing his usual signature clothes.

Brown short-sleeved khaki pants with his darl navy blue short-sleeved shirt. He had his open-toe shoes on and his hair was styled in his usual duckbutt style.

He was called to the Hokage's tower by summon.

He was greeted by passing villagers and some fangirls.

He arrived at the tower and quickly made his way to the Hokage's office.

He knocked and a quick come-in was heard.

The young raven entered the office and was met with a man who had a head full of salt and pepper-colored hair, a mole near his eye, tanned skin, and a smoking pipe in his mouth which he was puffing away at.

This was the third Hokage Sarutobi Hiruzen.

Sasuke bowed to his Hokage and took a seat on the couch.

It wasn't long before the rest of rookie nine joined him.

The only one, not there was Naruto.

"Alright since Naruto is well-equipped to do this specific task how about we start without him? See if you can figure it out." Hiruzen said.

"Excuse me Hokage-sama, but what exactly are we doing?" Tenten asked.

He called someone into the room. a Man with block long-sleeved clothes and a cat Anbu mask.

In his arms laid perhaps the most sacred of creations that Kami-sama themselves had bestowed on man. Wrapped up in a small white blanket with soft cheeks and black hair lay a sleeping baby.

The baby was snuggled into the Anbu's chest and it looked to be sleeping soundly.

"This is your mission. You have to take care of the baby for the entire week. Feed him, clothe him, bathe him, give him attention, and get him to rest." Hiruzen said. Afterward, he looked to the Anbu to tell the young genin what he has learned so far.

The Anbu was cut off by a squealing Sakura.

She took the baby from the Anbu's arms and held him close to her chest.

"Look Sasuke-kun. This could be us in a few years." Sakura said with a smirk.

That was the only reason she took the baby. Not to show him love or care, but to try and bait Sasuke into dating her and making her the clan Matriarch.

Sasuke wanted to growl in anger but was caught off guard by the baby wailing. Sakura had taken away his blanket and woken him up.

She wanted to baby to be awake for everything, but as soon as the baby started crying she couldn't get him to calm down.

They tried everything. From, bottles to checking if he had a dirty diaper. Nothing worked.

Sakura went to hand the baby over to someone else when she got fed up with his constant crying.

As she was in the middle of handing the baby over to Ino he was snatched out of her arms by another blonde blur.

The blur you may ask? It was none other than Naruto Uzumaki himself.

He picked up the blanket from the floor and made sure there was nothing on it.

He laid the blanket out on the coffee table and tightly, not too tight, rolled the baby up in it.

He sat on the couch with the crying child and lightly padded his back.

It was two, maybe three minutes before the baby was out like a light.

Everyone was shocked.

How did he know what to do? Sasuke wondered.

Then he remembered that Naruto was in the orphanage and being so young he had to learn a lot of things.

Afterward, Sakura made attempts to get the baby back into her arms, but Naruto wouldn't allow her to do so.

This went on for the entire week.

They each took turns feeding, clothing, bathing, and giving the baby attention. All with Naruto's supervision.

Δ•°End Flashback°•Δ

"Now I know it sounds so insignificant, but it was the day I knew I loved Naruto. Soon everything he did was something extravagant in my eyes." Sasuke said.

Sarada coo'ed at that and hugged her grandpa Hashirama and Uncle Izuna. The trio had stars in their eyes.

Madara gave a shy smile at the story. He knew Naruto was good with children. He showed it whenever he walked through the village and children came up to him to say hello.

Tobirama was still not pleased that his nephew was with an Uchiha, but he couldn't help, but feel his heart jump. He looked at Izuna and hoped that one day he too would get to do something like that.

Kawaki was intrigued by the fact that his mom had the touch of an angel at such a young age.

Boruto sat on the couch in thought.

His dad was amazing and you could easily see that he loved his mom, but he knew that when his father was younger he was stoic and didn't do romantic gestures. So how did his mom catch on to his dad's feelings?

"How did you know Dad loved you, Mom?" Boruto asked.

"Oh, I knew from the beginning this teme loved me. It was hard to miss considering that he was so protective of me. I couldn't go near another man or else he would be there. Ready to kick ass if someone tried something." Naruto said as he gazed dreamily at his raven-haired Fiancé.

"But Dad could have done that for everyone he knew and cared for," Boruto said.

Naruto giggled and looked at his son, "Boruto, when men like Sasuke have feelings for you you tend to pick up on them. They treat you as an equal and they rile you up to no end. They push you to be better. So I knew your dad loved me because he pushed me." He said.

Boruto looked down at his hands and thought the information over. He had one last question.

"What does it feel like when someone love's you in a romantic way?" Boruto asked.

Naruto smiled at his son and said, "Give me your hand."

Boruto did as told and his mother placed it right above his heart. Boruto felt it. The beat was performed to a  certain rhythm. It felt so lively.

"People say you can't describe love, but in reality, you can. Love feels like this. Like a beating heart. When you love someone or you are in love with someone a change takes place. Being with them makes you feel happy, giddy, and excited and it makes you feel like you are at the center of the universe surrounded by a thousand stars all shining for you. When they are away you're world turns cold and dark and you feel sad and disappointed. Love is when you're breath of fresh air is someone. You understand me, sweety?" Naruto asked with a small smile.

Boruto nodded his head in understanding. He now knew what his feelings were for Mitsuki.

The trio, Hashirama, Izuna, and Sarada where sat on the carpet clutching each other tightly and anime crying from the entire thing.

Sasuke just pulled his perfect and beautiful blonde in for a hug and a kiss.

He loved Naruto and Kami forgive anyone who would say otherwise.

Chapter 29

Dedicated to Zaffy1230

Boruto knew he was different from everybody else.

Not because of the fact that he was smart or because he was strong, but because his mother was Naruto Uzumaki.

The man who won the war fought Madara Uchiha, saved the village (More than once), brought his lover back to the village and he is also the Kiyūbi No Kitsune's jailer. So he was different from others.

Being different meant he got treated differently.

Some treated him with respect and tried putting him on a pedestal. He was made out to be some miracle child who could do anything. He hated it. They only treated him that way, because his mom was the Hokage.

Then there were the other kids. They hated him. He was the son of the Hokage and he was treated as such. So they started bullying him.

Pushing him up against lockers, destroying his homework, and taking his food.

The blonde was very upset with this. However, there was nothing he could do about it. He ran to his mother he would allow the bullies to be right about him. He ran to an adult or teacher and he would be seen as a tattle tale.

So he stayed silent and endured the pain they put him through.

He didn't have many friends.

He had Sarada, but they grew up together and she spent most of her time with Cho-Cho anyways.

Shikadai found it too troublesome to even spend time with Boruto.

The rest of the squad stuck to themselves.

Him not having friends did change when he entered his second year of the academy. He had met Mitsuki.

The son of the snake Sanin Orochimaru and his father's sensei.

Mitsuki was different from other people. He didn't care who Boruto was. If he was being a brat Mitsuki would point it out and if he was not being a brat he would coddle the blonde.

It had gotten to the point where Boruto would specifically go to Mitsuki for anything. Whether it be to rant, have a cuddle session, or just have a shoulder to cry on.

It didn't take long for the blonde to figure out he liked the bluenette.

His snake-yellow eyes captivated him in the most mesmerizing ways. They captured the blonde's attention every time he entered the room.

His blue hair that Boruto regularly ran his hands through when he played with it.

Mitsuki would cuddle with the blonde and hold him close whenever he got the chance.

There was also the muscularity of the snake-nin. He was quite strong and his muscles showed it.

Boruto found himself finding comfort in them most days.

As Boruto recalled all of these memories he could not help but remember what Mitsuki had said to him the day prior.

Δ•˚Flashback˚•Δ

It was their off day. The first one in months. The day was sunny and calm.

It reminded him of his mother.

He was in the mood for a good burger and some chips.

As he was walking towards the restaurant that sells them he passed the training grounds.

On specific ground caught his attention. Not because of the non-existent grass or the practice dummies that were lined single file, but because of the light blue-haired, pale-in-complexion boy who was standing on it throwing Kunai.

Boruto, out of habit, turned on his heel and made his way toward the boy.

As he approached he yelled the name of the boy he had known so well, "Suki!"

Mitsuki turned around at the mention of his nickname and opened his arms. Allowing his favorite blonde beauty to hug him.

"Hello, Ruto-chan. How are you?" The snake boy asked.

"I'm good. What about you?" Boruto asked.

"I'm doing good. What are you doing here? You said you were going to relax today." Mitsuki said.

"I was going for a kitty burger, but I saw you here and wanted to say hey," Boruto said.

"Oh. Are you hungry Boruto?" Mitsuki asked.

The blonde nodded his head as he looked up at the blue-haired boy.

"Then let's go get you a kitty burger," Mitsuki said.

"Wah? But you're training. Won't walking with me cut into that?" Boruto asked.

"Nothing comes before you," Mitsuki said.

Boruto's face went beet red as Mitsuki pulled him away from the

They soon arrived at the burger joint and Mitsuki quickly pulled Boruto in and stood behind him in the line.

The blue-haired male glared at anyone who looked at Boruto in a way he didn't deem fit.

They made it to the front and Boruto ordered two beef kitty burgers with chips and a coke. The blonde went to pull out his card, but Mitsuki beat him to it and paid for the entire meal.

Boruto grumbled as Mitsuki pulled him to sit in one of the chairs.

"I could have paid you know," Boruto said.

"Why would I let a princess pay for something that I can?" Mitsuki asked.

Boruto went beat red again and pouted.

"Don't pout so much," Mitsuki said.

"But I could have paid. It was my idea in the first place." Boruto whined out.

"Yes, but I wanted to pay," Mitsuki said.

"Now I'm gonna owe you," Boruto said.

"No, you don't."

"Yes, I am. You paid for my half too. So I have to pay you back." Boruto said.

" No, you don't."

"Okay. How else am I gonna pay you back then?" Boruto asked.

"You will see," Mitsuki said.

Boruto just grumbled and crossed his arms.

It wasn't long after when their order number was called.

Both boy's went up to the counter and received their much-needed carbs for the day and walked back to the training grounds.

Once they sat down and started eating Mitsuki asked, "How is everything going with your mother?"

"He's doing great. Say's the baby kick's a lot, but Dad's always there to help him out." Boruto said as he ate his fries first.

"What about you're dad? How is he doing?" Mitsuki asked.

"Much better than before. You know I always thought he was stoic all the time and that his aura demanded that you bow at his feet, but it's not." Boruto said as he took another fry.

"How has your opinion of him changed?" Mitsuki asked.

"That he's a total simp for my mom. Suki, you should see him. He worships Mom like he's a goddess or something." Boruto said.

"That doesn't sound too bad."

"It's not. It's actually something magical. Wish someone would look at me the same way my parents look at each other." Boruto said with a sigh.

"Do I not do it enough?" Mitsuki asked.

Boruto's head shot up and his cheeks turned beet red, again.

"Wah! What are you talking about?" Boruto asked.

Mitsuki shook his head and took Boruto's free hand, "It would seem that you are still not catching on to my words."

"Well then tell me," Boruto grumbled out.

Mitsuki smiled and gripped the blonde's hand tighter.

"Boruto for me to tell you this I need your undivided attention. So please put you're fry's down so that I can talk to you." Mitsuki said.

Boruto did as told and turned to the blue-haired male.

"Boruto ever since I met you I have felt a spark of electricity run up my body every time you hug me or touch me. When you look at me I feel asif nothing in the world could go wrong. Your smile takes my breath away and makes my knees weak. You are my first thought in the morning and my last one when I go to sleep. My heart tightens in jealousy and pain whenever I see you give your smile to another. Boruto I am in love with you." Mitsuki said.

Boruto's eyes were wide and his mouth agape. His cheeks flared red and his heartbeat quickened.

"You like me?" Boruto asked in a small voice.

"No. I love you Boruto Uzumaki. So I ask do you accept?"

"M-Mitsuki I don't know what to say to that. I don't even know how I feel about you."

"So that's a no I assume?" Mitsuki asked.

Boruto shot up onto his knees and cupped the pale boy's face, "No I never said that. Mitsuki you are my best friend and I know for a fact that I like you, but I have to figure out if my like is going to keep a relationship going." Boruto said.

"What are you trying to tell me?" Mitsuki asked.

"I'm asking you to give me time. Two days at the most. So that I can figure myself out. When I get my answer I will come to you." Boruto said.

"I can work with that," Mitsuki said.

Borutosmiledd at the blue-haired male and gave him a kiss on the forehead.

"I promise not to keep you waiting."

Δ•˚End of Flashback˚•Δ

Boruto sat on the back porch and looked at the flowers that were planted all around the house.

Borutoheardd someone coming towards him and saw his mother.

"Hey, Mom," Boruto said.

"Hey, baby. How are you feeling?"

"I'm good. What about you?" Boruto asked.

"I'm okay. Your brother is just kicking a lot, but nothing I can't handle." Naruto said as he, with Boruto's help, sat down.

"I guess that was bound to happen."

"Yes, just like you and Mitsuk were bound to happen," Naruto said casually.

Boruto's head shot up and looked at his mother, "How did you-"

"Know? That's easy Boruto. I have eyes. I can see when my baby is in love. I have seen the look a thousand times."

"Where?"

"On your dad. I have seen the way Mitsuki look's at you and it reminds me of how Sasuke look's at me." Naruto said.

"Really? So can you say with certainty that Mitsuki loves me?" Boruto asked.

Of course. He's head over heels for you. So why haven't you told him how you felt yet?" Naruto asked.

"You noticed?"

Of course. You are my baby. I notice a lot of things. So what's stopping you?"

"What if it doesn't work out? What if I hurt Mitsuki? What if I screw up?" Boruto asked.

"Sweet,y do you know how your dad and I are still with each other?"

"No."

"Well, you kids are a reason. We love you so much. The other reason is that we love each other. Now how we have stayed together without hating each other is because we compromise. If one of us screws up we tell the other and we fix it together. That's how a relationship works. You both have to work together to make it work. That's just the reality of the relationship." Naruto said.

"So if I accepted Mitsuki's feelings will you support me?" Boruto asked.

Of course. Just tell me like two hours before you make it public. I need your dad to be relaxed before that." Naruto said.

"So Dad won't accept me?" Boruto asked.

"Oh no, he will accept you, just not Mitsuki. You are still his baby who he needs to protect from the big bad." Naruto said.

Boruto just giggled.

"Now since we have had this talk how about you go tell Mitsuki how you feel," Naruto said.

Boruto jumped up and turned to his mother, "Want me to help you up?"

"Nah. I'll call your dad. Now go." Naruto said.

Boruto kissed his mom on the forehead and quickly ran through the compound toward Mitsuki's house.

"Sasuke!" Naruto yelled.

Said raven came out of the house about five minutes later in nothing but a pair of sweatpants and no shirt.

"How'd you get on the floor?"

"I was talking to Boruto. Now help me up. I want Sasu cuddles." The blonde said as he made grabby hands towards the raven.

Sasuke just rolled his eyes and picked his blonde beauty up.

Boruto jumped from rooftop to rooftop and quickly arrived at Mitsuki's house.

Hevigorouslyy knocked on the door and soon it was opened to reveal the blue-haired male himself.

"Boruto is everything-" He was cut off by the lips of the blondes on his.

Mitsuki was quick to encircle his arm's around the blonde's waist. Pulling him closer.

Boruto pulled away a couple of seconds later and said, "I love you too."

Mitsuki just smiled and nuzzled his head into Boruto's shoulder.

"Good to know. Now I have one very important question."

"What's that?" Boruto asked.

"Will you be my boyfriend, Boruto Uchiha-Uzumaki?"

Boruto just hugged Mitsuki tighter and gave him another kiss.

"Does that answer your question?" Boruto asked.

"I don't know. Do it again, because I think it might get lost in translation." Mitsuki said.

Boruto just giggled and kissed the blue-haired male again and again and again.

Shikamaru Nara was many things.

He was a Nara. He was a genius. He was a smoker. He was a father. He was a son. He was a happily married man.

However, the most important thing was that he was best friends with Naruto Uzumaki.

They both basically grew up together.

Shikamaru helped Naruto with homework and Naruto defended Shikamaru when he was called lazy.

If Naruto wasn't with Team 7 he spent every moment with Shikamaru.

The entire Nara clan loved him.

He brought a new energy to the usually quiet compound.

Shikamaru was the first to find out about Naruto and Sasuke. Wasn't hard.

Sasuke marked Naruto up really well. He kept it quiet and was just as pissed as Sasuke when Naruto and Sasuke were forced to marry woman.

Now before that shitshow hit Shikamaru got married to Temari.

She was loud, kind, and opinionated.

He was worried that Naruto would feel left out because they wouldn't be spending as much time with each other.

However, this was not the case. Temari loved Naruto and Naruto loved Temari. Both blondes got along great.

She would sometimes just come to the office to see Naruto. Shikamaru would have been worried if he didn't know Naruto was in love with Sasuke.

Right now Shikamaru was sitting beside Sasuke in the Uchiha compound watching his wife and best friend make food while gossiping.

"What exactly are you guys doing here? I don't remember Naruto telling me that we would have people over today." Sasuke said.

"Temari said she wanted to visit because she hadn't seen Naruto in a while. Now we're here, watching our wives ignore us," Shikamaru sighed.

"Yeah. You wanna like to go outside and watch the kids?" Sasuke asked.

"Oh, thank Kami you suggested that. Let's go," Shikamaru said as he stood up.

Sasuke led the Nara to the backyard.

The backyard was illuminated by the lights Naruto had put in.

They saw Boruto and Shikadai playing Shogi under the Sakura tree.

Boruto and Shikadai were neck and neck at the moment. Shikadai placed his move and Boruto would do something that would entirely confuse the young Nara.

Shikamaru chuckled. This reminded him of when he and Naruto played Shogi together. He would get so worked up every time Naruto made an unpredictable move.

And the moment he thought he figured out Naruto's next move he'd do something totally different.

Sarada and Himawari were training. Sarada was helping the young violet with improving her chakra control.

Kawaki sat in the far left corner under a light and he was sketching something. The blonde-raven was very focused on what was in front of him.

Shikamaru walked towards his son. He wanted to see how the game of Shogi was fairing between the two genin.

Sasuke just shrugged his shoulders and made his way toward Kawaki. He wasn't gonna try and help the Nara's get out of the corner Boruto's about to push them into.

He has played enough Shogi with Naruto to know that the inner workings of his brain were on another level.

So he was just gonna watch from afar.

He sat down next to Kawaki, who quickly pulled his sketchbook into his chest. Trying to hide what he was drawing.

Sasuke smirked, "Whatcha got there?" He asked.

"N-nothing." The blonde raven said.

"Oh, really so you won't mind me looking then, now would you?" Sasuke asked with a taunting smile.

"W-well no not really, but it's private," Kawaki said.

"Why do you wanna keep it a secret? You afraid the others are gonna make fun of you?" Sasuke asked.

"No. More like afraid I'm gonna get rejected." Kawaki said as he put his head down.

Sasuke sat straight, or as straight as he could get himself, and looked at his son.

"You like someone?" Sasuke asked.

"W-well yeah. I kinda do." The blonde raven said.

"How do you know you like this person?" Sasuke asked.

"Well uhm he is smart and kind and caring. He listens and is very observant. He's a strong hardcore ninja and he's emotionally strong too." Kawaki said.

"Does this mystery boy have a name?" Sasuke asked.

Kawaki just blushed lightly.

"Okay if you are not gonna talk give me your sketchbook so that I can actually see who he is," Sasuke said.

"Promise not to laugh? It's still a work in progress." Kawaki said.

"I promise." He said.

Kawaki, shakingly, handed Sasuke his sketchbook. He was afraid Sasuke would not react well, because his anxiety told his heart no.

Sasuke looked at the sketch in fascination.

(Not my art)

Sasuke smiled to himself and gently ran his fingers over the sketch.

"It's beautiful. Good job."

"Really?" Kawaki asked.

"Yeah. Now how did you find out that you liked him?" Sasuke asked.

"Well, when you and mom were talking about love I remembered feeling all of those things. Shikadai makes me want to come out of my shell and he makes my heart beat faster every time he smiles. When he's not around I get sad, but then I turn into a puppy when he's around." Kawaki said as his blush deepened.

"Yeah. I remember that feeling alright. Drove me fucking crazy half the time. I, at one point, thought I was dying."

Kawaki snorted, "What?"

"Yeah, but you have to remember I had never been in love before. So I didn't know the feeling."

"Never? Like you have never fallen in love with another guy in your entire life?" Kawaki asked shocked.

"Well before I turned sixteen I thought I was straight. So imagen my surprise when I started sleeping with your mother."

"So Mom was your first love?" Kawaki asked.

"First love, only love, last love," Sasuke said as he looked at the stars.

"How did you know that mom loved you back?" Kawaki asked.

"Oh, I knew alright. When your mom love's something or someone then he has this mentality to claim what's his. His cousin Karin had the biggest crush on me and Naruto got easily jealous." Sasuke said.

"But that's just an emotion. How can jealousy tell you that he loves you?" Kawaki asked.

"You don't get jealous when it's someone you don't love Kawaki. That's what people don't get."

"Hey speaking of. Where is Aunt Karin?" Kawaki asked.

"I have no idea," Sasuke said as he handed Kawaki his sketchbook back.

On the other side of Konoha is a familiar house located in a room where two bodies getting hot and bothered.

Karin, being one of them, plunged her tongue into the girl's throat while she was getting fingered.

The red-haired Uzumaki moaned out each time her G-spot was reached

She slid her hand from the girls small, but plumpish breasts towards her vaginal cavern.

Her long middle finger slipped in slowly.

She was knuckle-deep when the girl pulled away, accidentally slipped her finger out, and arched her back.

"Now that's not what I was expecting my kitten to do now is it?" Karin asked as she slowly moved her finger in and out.

"K-karin-ahh~" The girl moaned out.

"Again. Say my name again little kitty." Karin said.

"Karin!"

"Again."

"Karin!"

"One more time." The redhead said.

"Karin-ahh- Karin, Kari-" The girl was cut off by her orgasm ripping through her body.

"Now how did that feel?" Karin asked as she pulled her finger out of the moist cavern.

"So good, so good." She said breathlessly.

Karin smirked and got on her knees.

She positioned herself in between the girl's legs and licked up the slit.

"How does that feel?" Karin asked.

"Good, that feels good."

"Good to know. Now who does this belong to?" Karin asked as she cupped the girl's sex.

"To you," She breathed out.

"Who do these belong to?" Karin asked as she cupped the girl's small breast.

"To Karin Uzumaki." She breathed out.

"Who does this body belong to?" Karin asked as she traced the girl's hips.

"To Karin."

"Who do you belong to?" Karin asked.

"To Karin Uzumaki." She said again.

"Who do you love?" Karin asked.

"I love Karin Uzumaki."

"That's good to hear," Karin said as she went down toward the girl's Vagina.

"Now moan for me, Sakura," Karin said as she started eating the pinkette out.

Naruto was tired.

He was now entering the third trimester of his pregnancy, his feet were swollen, he had boobs, he felt fat, and his hormones were all over the place.

He really hated it. Not the pregnancy but the aftermath.

He wasn't going to work today because he was on maternity leave. He sat up in bed and looked to his side to find Sasuke still asleep.

He felt no other chakra signatures in the house.

Which meant Boruto and Sarada had already gone to training with Kanohamaru. Kawaki was most likely with his grandma's or talking to Shikadai.

Yeah, he knew of his son's crush on the small Nara, what mother wouldn't know? Madara and Hashirama were most likely off to train on the grounds. Tobirama and Izuna most likely went on one of their many hunts.

He couldn't understand what they were doing and he hadn't gotten the time to ask them yet. He'll get to it later.

He turned around and pulled Sasuke onto his back. The raven woke up a little because he was not expecting to be moved.

He felt a small weight on his chest and saw Naruto's blonde hair.

He saw the position Naruto was in and found that it couldn't be comfortable. So he pulled Naruto to lay on him.

His face was in the crook of Sasuke's neck and his entire body was laid on top of the raven.

"Sasuke I'm too heavy," Naruto mumbled into the raven's neck.

"Who said that?" Sasuke asked as he used his other hand to stroke Naruto's big belly. Seven months and Menma was looking beautifully healthy and sturdy.

Tsunade said he was strong and that he was going to be a force to be reckoned with when he gets older.

But for now, he was a bundle laying peacefully in his mother's womb. Protected by a chakra demon, Naruto Uzumaki, and Sasuke Uchiha.

He felt Menma kicking, most likely telling his father that he could protect himself, and didn't want Naruto to be uncomfortable.

"Have you seen me? I'm big and I'm fat," Naruto said.

"You're not fat baby. You're pregnant. Fat shouldn't be in your vocabulary," Sasuke said.

Naruto just grumbled something about Sasuke being too in love with him to see his flaws.

"I don't see your flaws, because they are just as beautiful as you are," Sasuke said.

Naruto just sighed and encircled his arms around Sasuke's neck. Sasuke looked to the side and saw the time. He knew Naruto hadn't eaten anything yet.

He sat up and got them both out of bed.

He carried Naruto like a child, chest to chest, and carried him downstairs to go make them some breakfast.

"See not fat," Sasuke said as he walked into the kitchen. He was proving his point quite nicely.

"Shut up~" Naruto whined out.

Sasuke just chuckled and gave Naruto a kiss on the forehead, before putting him on the kitchen island.

He pulled out bacon, eggs, and tomatoes.

He heated up the oil and started cooking the entire pack of bacon. He turned around and stood in between Naruto's legs.

He gave the blonde's stomach a kiss and then he gave Naruto a kiss on the lips.

"What do you want to do today?" Sasuke asked.

"Hmm I want to stay at home and I want to be cuddled the whole day," Naruto said.

"That sounds like a good plan," Sasuke said as he gave Naruto another kiss.

He turned around and turned the bacon over so that it didn't burn or get too crispy.

"Are you going to stay with me the rest of my pregnancy or are you going to take missions after today?" Naruto asked.

"Nah. I'm staying here for the next three months. I want to be here for when you pop. I want to be able to hold my son the moment he is born," Sasuke said.

"You and I both know that I am going to hold our son first," Naruto said.

"Yes, but I do not like the idea of someone else holding him after you do. So I'm not taking any missions up until after you give birth to Menma," Sasuke said.

"Are you gonna stay after that too or not?" Naruto asked.

"No. I will be staying for a while. I want to go over our wedding plans together. Besides I can't leave you alone with the kids. You'd kick my ass if I did," Sasuke said as he put the bacon onto a paper towel to drain most of the oil.

He cracked the eggs and covered the pan with a lid and turned back to his wife-to-be.

"Damn right, I will. You are not leaving me to do all the work. Smelly diapers are going to be your punishment," Naruto said.

Sasuke just chuckled and snuggled into the valley between Naruto's breasts. They were forming greatly thanks to the milk that Naruto's body was making.

Naruto had boobs before the pregnancy but they were getting bigger. Sasuke loved it.

During Boruto's pregnancy that was one of Sasuke's favorite things. Naruto's chest getting bigger just gave him more to suck on. That and Naruto's milk tasted like natural honey.

Naruto ran his hands through Sasuke's hair.

"I will have to start pumping or else I'm gonna start overflowing," Naruto said.

"Only during the day," Sasuke said.

"Hmm?" Naruto asked.

"Only pump during the day. I am sharing you with the baby, I at least want to have my reward for that. So only pump during the day so that I can have some at night," Sasuke said.

"So you want me to do the same thing we did while I was pregnant with Boruto?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah. I want us to do that again," Sasuke said.

Naruto gave Sasuke another kiss, before letting Sasuke go and make sure the eggs are done.

He took the eggs out and put them on a plate. He lightly salted and peppered them before he sat them both on the island. He took a fork and cut the eggs and then he picked up some bacon.

He fed Naruto the bacon and egg combination before taking a piece for himself.

"I love your baked eggs. Don't know how you get them that good each time," Naruto said.

"Well they are only good when I have someone very important to me to cook for," Sasuke said as he gave Naruto another bacon and egg combo.

"Of course, it's only with me. I'm just that precious," Naruto said.

"I like how confident you are," Sasuke said.

"Why shouldn't I be confident? I'm hot, smart, strong and I got the hottest piece of arm candy that no woman can score," Naruto said as he did an imaginary hair flip.

Sasuke just chuckled and continued to feed both himself and Naruto.

After breakfast Sasuke had put on some gray sweatpants and Naruto put on one of Sasuke's shirts. His sleepwear booty shorts were covered by said shirt.

He and Sasuke stayed in their room and cuddled each other for the entire day.

They watched movies, kissed a lot and they ate too.

Chapter 32

It had been a month since Naruto and Sasuke started staying at home. Naruto was exhausted. Not because he was eight months pregnant but because Sasuke was insatiable.

He and Sasuke had been going at it for about three hours now.

Naruto came on to him.

Now this wasn't because Naruto was horny, no on the contrary actually. Boruto was announcing that he was going out with Mitsuki.

Naruto had decided to get Sasuke to relax in the only way he knew how.

So he cornered Sasuke in the bathroom and started kissing him.

Sasuke and Naruto fell into the bed, heavily out of breath.

"You know I am really enjoying your sex drive during pregnancy," Sasuke said.

"Why, because you get some?" Naruto asked as he turned on his side to rest his head on Sasuke's chest.

"That and you look hot. I love your pregnancy hormones," Sasuke said.

Naruto just giggled and gave Sasuke a kiss.

They lay there for about ten minutes before Naruto saw the time.

"We have to get up. Mom and Mikoto can only be left alone in the kitchen for a certain period of time. We also have to get ready for lunch," Naruto said.

"Why do we even need to do this lunch with my parents and yours?"

Sasuke asked.

"Because we want to have a close family bond with our parents and the rest of our family because we didn't get to grow up with the love and support of our parents when we needed it the most," Naruto said as he pushed himself off Sasuke and out of bed.

"We turned out just fine without them," Sasuke said.

"No, we didn't. Now stop being lazy and get up," Naruto said as he limped to the bathroom.

"I don't want to get up. I want to stay in bed," Sasuke said.

Naruto leaned his head out of the open bathroom door and looked at his fiance.

He gave Sasuke a devilish smirk before saying, "Then I guess the shower railing isn't going to support me while you pound into me."

Right after saying that Naruto walked into the bathroom and started running the water.

Naruto smirked to himself the moment heard a loud thump and a lot of struggling before fast footsteps approached the bathroom. Sasuke wasn't always the fastest but he had just comprehended what he told him.

They spend the next twenty minutes in the shower.

~Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ~

Boruto was anxiously walking toward his house.

He was holding onto Mitsuki's hand and trying not to pass out.

He had told his mom a week before that he was gonna tell his dad and his grandparents about him and Mitsuki.

He and Mitsuki have been dating for about three, maybe four months now and he wanted to tell his family.

He and Mitsuki had already told Orochimaru. He took it pretty well and babbled on about how cute and strong his future grandchildren would be.

Yeah, Boruto left that room a blushing sputtering mess.

However, now he wanted his family to know. His mom knew heck he was the reason as to why Boruto and Mitsuki are together.

He really wanted to tell his dad, his siblings, his grandparents, his great-grandparents, and his great uncle's.

His sensei knew and told him to go for it.

He was just a bit worried about how his dad was going to react. He knew acceptance wasn't going to be a problem. Heck his entire family was gay.

His parents were both men, his little sister was a fucking Lesbian and his older brother was a walking bisexual disaster.

So acceptance wasn't a problem.

What was a problem was the fact that his dad was gonna lose his shit the moment he found out Boruto was dating someone and keeping it from him.

"How are you feeling princess?" Mitsuki asked.

"Nervous. Suki what if my dad tries to kill you?" Boruto asked.

Then your mom will yell at him and make him sleep on the couch. Your mom loves me too much to let your dad try and kill me," Mitsuki said.

"But still. My dad can be scary when he's mad," Boruto said.

"Who scares you more? Your mom or your dad," Mitsuki asked.

Boruto thought about it for about five seconds, before saying, "My mother without a doubt. He's scary."

"Exactly. Now since you are scared of your mom don't you think that your dad would be scared of him too?" Mitsuki asked.

"Well, you've got a point."

"Okay. Now let's get in there and tell your family. And if your dad does try to kill me then I've had a good run," Mitsuki said as he kissed Boruto's forehead.

~Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ~

Naruto and Sasuke ascended the stairs.

Naruto had a red and blue maternity dress with a pair of black flat shoes. Sasuke had a simple pair of black denims with a blue v-neck t-shirt and some sneakers.

He was holding Naruto's hand and just randomly kissed the back of Naruto's hand or his fingertips.

They walked into the kitchen and both were greeted with the sight of their mothers decking the table with honey-based riblets, mashed potatoes, roasted pork and mixed steamed vegetables.

The table was decorated with plates, cutlery and table mats.

Naruto called everyone for dinner.

Soon the table was filled with chatter and laughter.

As soon as everyone was seated they said their thanks to the hands that made the food.

Before they could all start eating Boruto asked for their attention.

"Uhm before we start eating I have one- no two announcements to make." Boruto said.

Naruto smiled and made everyone put down their forks to listen.

"Go ahead baby. We are listening," Naruto said.

"Thanks mom. Uhm well,l I'm gay," Boruto said closing his eyes.

He wasn't afraid of the backlash. He was afraid of the excited yells.

"Oh, that's wonderful!" Mikoto and Kushina exclaimed.

Minato and Fugaku clinked their bourbon glasses together. Madara, Izuna, Hashirama, and Tobirama gave each other a knowing look.

"That's wonderful news Boruto. Now tell them the second thing," Naruto said.

"Oh yes. What is the second part?" Kushina asked.

Boruto cleared his throat and said, "I have been dating Mitsuki for the last three to four months and we have toldUnclee Orochi first."

Sasuke jumped up and yelled, "You're too young for a boyfriend!"

"What?!" Boruto asked.

"You're too young to have a boyfriend! Mitsuki as nice as you are you aren't good enough for my son! No one is good enough for my son! Naruto I told you we should have put him on a team with just chicks! They would have occupied him with shopping like you and Sakura did to me!" Sasuke said.

"Mom you said you'd get him to relax before I said anything," Boruto said.

"That's what that was?!" Sasuke asked as he looked at Naruto.

Kushina and Mikoto were silently eating while watching the entire thing unfold.

"Well, how else do I get you to relax?! You gotta admit that sometimes you overreact with certain things!" Naruto said.

Hashirama and Izuna cleared their throats catching the attention of everyone.

"Before this goes further than it should I have something to announce," Hashirama said.

"Go on," Naruto said.

"Madara and I have recently started dating," He said.

"You what?!" Naruto asked as he jumped up. Why wasn't he told sooner?

"Tobirama and I are dating as well," Izuna said with a small blush on his face.

Naruto turned a murderous glare towards his uncle, "You said that you would rather die than date or court an Uchiha."

"Yes I did say that, but Izuna is not an Uchiha. He is better."

"Excuse me?!" Naruto asked.

"Well, those Uchiha genes of manipulation and control over others have certainly rubbed off on you. Good thing I made the better choice, huh?" Tobirama asked.

Naruto was getting ticked off and as usual he got worked up. However, there is something in the pregnancy book about why you shouldn't make a pregnant woman mad.

"Now you listen to me you self-centered, self-absorbed, self-righteous son of a" Naruto went to yell only to cut himself off. He knew the feeling that was rising in his stomach.

"What? Can't finish what you started?" Tobirama asked.

"S-Sasukee?" Naruto called.

The raven, who was still salty about earlier, replied with, "What are you gonna bribe me with sex to get you out of this one?"

Naruto lifted his hand hit his fiance over the head and latched onto his shoulder.

Sasuke looked at Naruto with a worrisome gaze seeing as the blonde's grip on his shoulder was not something he did when angry.

"Sasuke, my water just broke."

Chapter 33

Sasuke acted fast and moved the chairs out of the way to give Naruto some space.

"Should we call lady Tsunade?!" Sarada asked as she got ready to run.

"No. Not yet. Your mother's contractions just started. If we call Tsunade now then she will have to wait hours. So right now allow your mother some breathing room. He needs to move around." Sasuke said.

"But in the movie's they make the woman sit down," Sarada said.

"Well, those people in the movies are morons who don't know shit. So everyone back up and give your mother some space." Sasuke said.

They did as told and moved back.

The first contraction ripped through Naruto. Sasuke held his hand tightly and helped keep Naruto on his feet.

"Okay someone gets me some water and anybody else bring something chewy. Naruto needs something to chew on." Sasuke said.

Everyone sprung into action and quickly got to work.

Sasuke gave Naruto a kiss on his forehead.

"I'm sorry for yelling at you. I didn't mean to yell at you. I didn't mean to make you upset." Sasuke said.

Naruto laid his head on Sasuke's chest and said, "It's okay. I understand it. I'm sorry for using sex as a trick to calm you down. I didn't mean to make you feel used."

Sasuke just smiled and gave Naruto another forehead kiss, "It's okay. You were not wrong about how I overreact sometimes. I was just pissed that you knew what my weakness was." Sasuke said.

"Sasuke I know sex isn't your weakness. I am. Sex gets you to calm down. That's why I used it against you, but this was the only time I did. I promise." Naruto said as Sasuke helped him stay on his feat.

"I know baby. I know that you wouldn't do something like that. You love me too much to hurt me like that." Sasuke said.

Madara came into the room with a bottle of chilled water. He handed the large bottle over to Naruto.

"Thanks, Madara. Can you please tell everyone to go upstairs? Getting crowded by a lot of people could send Naruto into a panic and he could have an anxiety attack." Sasuke said.

Madara nodded his head and quickly told everyone to go upstairs and to not crowd Naruto.

Kawaki, the poor anxious soul, walked into the dining room with a packet of chewy snakes.

Naruto, being the mom he is, saw Kawaki's anxious breathing and pulled Kawaki to his side.

"It's okay sweetie. I'm gonna be okay. Don't worry." Naruto said.

Kawaki circled his arm's around the top of Naruto's baby bump and held him close.

"Don't worry. Your daddy's going to take care of me. I'm gonna be okay. Nothing bad is going to happen to me." Naruto said.

Kawaki still wouldn't calm down so Naruto decided on something else.

"Sasuke. Kawaki and I are going to walk around the house. You wanna come with us?" Naruto asked.

Sasuke jumped at the chance of helping his fiance and his son calm down.

Naruto leaned on a bit on Kawaki as they walked out of the house.

"You know I used to get anxious all the time as a kid," Naruto said.

They had just stepped off of the front porch and started walking around the house.

"Really?" Kawaki asked.

"Yes, all the time. I hated being in a too-crowded place because it brought back a lot of memories for me." Naruto said.

"But you're surrounded by lots of people all the time. Did the attacks just stop?" Kawaki asked hopefully.

"No. They didn't. Anxiety attacks don't stop. They get better, but they never stop." Naruto said.

"How do you make the attacks stop? How do you make them calm down?" Kawaki asked.

"Well when I feel the darkness try and encase my mind and make me feel small, I take a deep breath. I breathe in through my mouth and out of my nose. I try to remember where I am. If that doesn't work I think about my loved ones. I think about my friends, Boruto, Sarada, you, and Sasuke. I replay all the happy and fun times I had with my loved ones." Naruto said.

"But what if they don't work? What if it doesn't get better and only worsens?" Kawaki asked.

"Then you think of the one person who calms your heart and chases the darkness away," Naruto said.

"Do you have someone like that?" Kawaki asked.

"Of course. He's walking behind us right now." Naruto said as both he and Kawaki looked behind them to see Sasuke.

"Does he always chase the darkness away?" Kawaki asked.

"Always. He's the only one who can." Naruto said.

Kawaki just smiled and continued to help his mother walk around the house.

~Δ•°°•Δ•°°•ΔTime SkipΔ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ~

It had been about twenty-five hour's after Naruto went into labor. Which meant it was the next day.

Sarada had called Lady Tsunade about an hour before nine-thirty.

Why nine-thirty?

Well, the rule of longer, stronger, and closer together was taking place. The contractions were five minutes apart, they lasted one minute and had been for the past hour.

So Tsunade had to be there because the baby was about to be pushed out.

He and Sasuke decided to do a home birth. It was way better than in a crowded hospital room and Naruto felt safer doing it at home.

Besides, if he was gonna be in the same position that Menma was conceived in then he was gonna do it on the same surface Menma was conceived on.

So that's why he was currently sitting on the couch with Sasuke and Kawaki behind him and Boruto and Sarada both sitting at his side's holding his hands. They wanted to help out.

Madara and Hashirama were assisting Tsunade with whatever she needed.

Naruto had a cloth laid over his legs to not scar his children by seeing the actual birth.

"Okay, Naruto you have dilated to a full ten centimetres. So you gotta start pushing. I'm gonna count to three and you are gonna start pushing. Okay." Tsunade said.

Naruto nodded his head. He hated this part. It hurt, it was sticky, it was messy and it hurt.

"Okay, you ready?" Tsunade asked.

"Yeah. I'm ready. Boruto, Sarada let your dad take my hands because you gonna get severely hurt okay." Naruto said.

The two teens listened to Naruto and allowed their father to take their mother's hands.

"Okay, kid get back this is gonna get messy," Sasuke said.

They did as told and sat on the couch next to Kawaki. Both of the younger teens latched onto Kawaki and closed their eyes.

"Okay, Naruto. One, Two, Three, and Push!" Tsunade said.

Naruto did as told and yelled out as he gripped Sasuke's hands tightly.

At the last push, the cry of a baby was heard.

Tsunade held a small bloody baby in her hands. She cut the umbilical cord and quickly called for her grandfather.

"Gramps can you please bring me the basin of lukewarm water and a bath cloth please," Tsunade said.

Hashirama did as told.

Not even a second later Hashirama walked back into the living room with the basin and cloth.

Tsunade quickly washed the baby off and wrapped him up in a small blue blanket.

She carefully handed the baby over to Naruto and watched her grandson coo softly at the small child in his arms.

Just as she went to stand up again something caught her eye.

Upon closer inspection, her eyes widened and she looked at Naruto.

"Gaki you might wanna cut the greetings short because his twin is about to crawl out if you don't start pushing soon," Tsunade said.

Naruto and Sasuke looked at each other in shock.

That didn't last long seeing as the second baby started pushing his way out of his mother.

Naruto gave the baby to Hashirama and Sasuke took his hands in his again.

This time it didn't take as long to push the second twin out.

Tsunade once again held the baby up and cut the umbilical cord and once again washed the baby and put the small baby boy into another blue blanket. Wrapped up like a burrito.

She now handed both twins to their mother and this time made sure they were not triplets.

Both her grandsons were born on the third of October. Just a few days away from Naruto's birthday.

She cleaned Naruto up and put his legs down.

She now watched her grandson hold her great-grandson in his arms.

She felt tears well up in her eyes and she could feel the large warm hand on her shoulder.

Nobody stood behind her, but she could still feel it and she knew who it was. The large hand brought forth a warmth in her chest that made her heart swell and her eyes water.

'I'm so proud of you Nade. You raised our son and our grandson into fine young men. I couldn't be more proud of them and of you.' The ghost of the toad sanin, Jiraiya, whispered to her.

Her heart clenched as she heard his voice.

'Seeing his smiling face is something that makes me proud. Seeing our great-grandchildren being happy and carefree makes me feel like I did something right by being alive. I thank you, Nade for everything you have given me and everything that came from it.' He said as he kissed the side of her head before fading away.

Tsunades tears overflowed. Catching the attention of everyone in the room.

"Granny, what's wrong?" Naruto asked looking at his granny with concern.

"He would have been so happy to be here with us." She said.

Naruto immediately knew who she was talking about.

"He would have been so happy to meet them and get to know them. He would have loved seeing you be so happy." She said.

Naruto felt tears well up in his eyes, "Yeah I know. Pervy Sage would have loved this. He would also ask about the next grandkids and want to know when I would give him more." Naruto said as he felt tears streaming down his face.

Tsunade chuckled out a broken laugh, "He would do that wouldn't he?" She asked.

"Yeah, he would."

~Δ•°°•Δ•°°•ΔTime SkipΔ•°°•Δ•°°•Δ~

It had been about a week after Naruto had given birth. Both twins were very quiet and didn't cry much. There were a few times that the youngest would wake up and scream for his mother, but that would be solved quickly by Naruto just picking him up.

Right now they had to get ready. They were going out to dinner with the entire ex-rookie nine and their life partners so that they could reveal the names of both the babies.

Naruto squeezed himself into a tight white and orange kimono, Sarada put on a black and red Kimono, and Sasuke, Boruto, and Kawaki Voth wore dark blue and black kimono.

The twins both wore black onesies. The older twin's onsie said copy while the second twin's onsie said paste.

Both were adorable.

Twin one had Sasuke's raven black hair, Naruto's cerulean blue eyes, and his whisker marks. He looked like Sasuke when he was a baby but with a different eye color and Naruto's whiskers.

The second twin looked like Naruto when he was a baby, except he had Sasuke's eyes.

Both were chubby and healthy.

As soon as they were all dressed they left the house with the twins in a two-man stroller.

They passed the villagers who greeted them kindly and quickly made their way towards the Akimichi BBQ restaurant. The event was casual, but also formal.

They entered the large restaurant and saw everyone already there waiting for them to arrive.

Temari and Ino both quickly got up and ran over to Naruto and the babies.

They greeted each other before they started cooing at the small bundles in the stroller.

"Oh, they are so cute and handsome," Temari said.

"Ohh Sai I want another baby," Ino said.

Said the pale, raven-haired man almost choking on his drink.

"Oh, Naruto I can't wait. Can you please announce the names first?" Ino said as she looked at her blonde-haired friend.

"I will if you let Karui, ChoCho,  Hinata, Tenten, and Himawari through to see the twins as well," Naruto said as he looked at the other girls' desperate faces.

Temari and Ino moved out of the way and gave the other girls a chance to see the two beautiful boys.

Karui stood a bit away from them seeing as she felt out of place. She and Naruto were good friends seeing as he was the one who drafted the papers for her immigration into Kanoha.

Naruto honestly loved her. She was smart, kind, funny and she had that sass that cracked him up each time.

So he immediately pulled her closer to get a good look at his son's.

He was telling her to relax and that she was welcome.

Pretty soon they all sat down and ordered. While they waited for their food to be served they each looked at Naruto expectingly.

He just gave them a grin and put down his water.

He took the oldest twin out of the stroller and said, "This is Menma Uchiha-Uzumaki. The oldest of both twins."

Everyone cheered at the arrival of Menma and Naruto passed his baby over to Sasuke. He picked the second twin out of the stroller and kissed him on the forehead as well.

"This is Jiraiya Uchiha-Uzumaki. The second oldest of the twins and our little surprise." Naruto said.

Everyone immediately cheered at the arrival of the young twin.

Everyone at the table knew why he called his son Jiraiya. It was to carry on the name and honor his grandfather.

Chapter 34

It had been about four days after Naruto gave birth to the twins.

Menma was a very calm baby, but Jiraiya was another story.

All because he was a massive momma's boy.

If he wasn't being held by his mother he cried.

Naruto wasn't close to him he cried.

He doesn't hear Naruto's voice anywhere near him he cries.

If Naruto wasn't in the immediate vicinity the young blonde would break out into tears.

Like right now.

Naruto was holding a sobbing Jiraya in his arms. He was put down for a nap but as soon as Naruto put him down he started wailing.

Sasuke walked into their bedroom with a sleeping Menma in his arms. That one could sleep anywhere at any time.

"That one's gonna be a momma's boy when he grows up you know," Sasuke said as he laid Menma down in his and his brother's crib.

"Oh shut up. My baby boy can be attached to me all he wants. In a blink of an eye, they are going to grow up. As soon as they hit their teen years I'm going to be irrelevant," Naruto said as he held the now giggling Jiraiya to his chest.

Sasuke rolled his eyes and said, "Our kids love you too much to consider you irrelevant."

He circled his arms around Naruto's waist and gave the blonde a side-head kiss.

"Hmm, I have seen it happen. As soon as the boy's go into their early teens their moms are like that one fly that they can't get rid of. We become a nuisance to them," Naruto said.

Before Sasuke could argue with Naruto, Boruto walked in.

"Mom I'm tired and Sarada and her friends won't let me sleep," Boruto whined as he latched onto his mother.

Sasuke just shot a look at Naruto and said, "You are looking pretty good for a fly."

Naruto groaned as Sasuke was proven right.

The older raven let go and walked towards their bed. He put his shirt on the side and lay down. Getting comfortable.

Naruto gave his son a kiss on the head.

He pulled Boruto with him towards the bed and made the blonde lay down next to his father.

"Go to sleep Ruto. I still have to get your brother to sleep. But I'll talk to your sister and her friends," Naruto said as he bend down and once again gave Boruto a kiss on his forehead.

Boruto listened and within a few minutes he was out like a light.

Naruto looked at Jiraiya and gave him another kiss on the forehead.

"You know I hope you are a momma's boy because I won't be able to let you or your brothers and sister go. That would break my heart and I need you all," Naruto said.

Jiraiya looked up at his mother, Naruto was supporting his neck and gave him a sun-rivaling smile. Naruto gave him his in return.

Boruto and Sasuke both turned away from the two blondes because the sun was hurting their eyes.

Naruto and Jiraiya were giggling together. Jiraiya was making such cute baby noises that his mother could not resist wanting to pepper him with kisses.

He checked on Menma, making sure the young raven was comfortable, before walking out of his room.

He walked towards Sarada's room, he could hear loud giggling.

He lightly knocked on the door and waited for it to open.

Sarada opened it and before she could say anything a bunch of squeals cut her off.

It wasn't long before Jiraiya was ripped out of Naruto's arm's by a girl Naruto didn't know.

"Oh, what a beautiful little baby," The girl said.

She was a bit on the taller side. Her skin was tanned and she had dark brown eyes, green colored hair and she was wearing a pair of booty shorts and a crop top. Not someone Naruto would want Sarada to hang out with but she has her own life and can make her own choices.

"Uh, Helga you should give me my brother before he starts crying," Sarada said as she held her hands out towards the girl now named, Helga.

"Oh calm down Sarada. I'm just holding him. Besides babies love me." She said.

"I didn't say that, but you ripped him out of my mother's arms. He didn't say you could hold him." Sarada said.

Helga just rolled her eyes and held the struggling Jiraiya in her arms. The small child wanted to get back into his mother's arms, but she wouldn't allow the child to go back.

Cho-Cho, who didn't entirely like Helga, walked towards her and tried to take baby Jiraiya away from the greenete.

Helga wasn't having it and gripped Jiraiya. The small baby didn't like this and started screaming.

Naruto's mama bear instinct's kicked in and he quickly got Jiraiya out of the girl's hands.

He looked her up and down and decided he didn't like her. There was something very wrong with her or she's just too spoiled to know what proper manners are.

He looked at Sarada and gave her a very serious look, "Sweetie. Can you girls please keep it down? Your father and brothers are sleeping." He said.

"Sure, Mom. Promise." She said.

Naruto smiled and gave her a kiss on the forehead before closing the door and making his way downstairs.

He comforted Jiraiya by whispering sweet nothings into his ear while giving him forehead kisses.

He walked into the kitchen and was met with Tobirama.

They still haven't sorted thing's out after their fight, but Naruto decided that he was going to be the bigger person at the moment.

So he hugged Tobirama as soon as he was next to the white-haired man.

Tobirama was surprised but returned it nonetheless.

"What's got him crying?"

"Sarada's new friend. She ripped him out of my arms and when Cho-Cho wanted to take him from her she gripped him too tight." Naruto said.

"That green-haired girl?" He asked.

"Yeah. Is it just me or is she a bit spoiled, because I've never heard of a kid who rips baby's out of their mother's arms?" Naruto asked.

"She walked in here and had her nose in the air the entire time. I don't think she knows the difference between being confident and being a brat." Tobirama said.

"Yeah. She also rolled her eyes when Sarada pointed out what she was doing wrong. I don't like her. If these are the type of people that Sarada is surrounding herself with then I fear for when Sasuke wakes up. He's not gonna like the fact that she grabbed Jiraiya like that." Naruto said.

"That's her problem. Not our's. She wants to get herself hurt than let her. Besides Boruto, Sarada, Himawari, Cho-Cho, Inojin, Shikadai, and Kawaki won't let her live if she hurts Menma and Jiraiya. You know how fast Boruto will jump in to protect his little siblings," Tobirama said.

"I know that but still. I can't always have Boruto and his friends beating people up," Naruto said.

"Don't worry yourself with idiots and their problems. It will only stress you out." He said as he got up and walked out of the kitchen.

He wanted to go and give Izuna his love and affection.

As soon as Tobirama was up the stairs Naruto just sighed and looked at Jiraiya. He stopped screaming and was now just playing with the strings on Naruto's dress.

"He's right about that. Now speaking of idiots." Naruto said as he looked out the kitchen window into the garden where he saw Karin reading a book.

"When do you think your aunt's gonna tell me that she's sleeping with Sakura?" Naruto asked Jiraya.

The baby looked just as thoughtful.

Chapter 35

Naruto was having a nice day.

He had taken the twins out shopping for a couple of things. He wanted to get them new clothes and a new pack of diapers.

He had decided to get the twins fun educational toys. Specifically, toys they wanted. He did the same thing with Boruto and Sarada.

He walked through the store with Menma and Jiraiya in their twin stroller.

He picked out a couple of cute onesies. When he decided he had, had enough clothes he made his way towards the toy aisle.

It didn't take long before he was browsing through the aisle.

He had gotten them some really cute airplane figurines, a couple of teddy bears, a get-the-right-shape set, a ballpen play pin, and a build-a-block set.

Naruto put the last of the things in the trolley, which means he turned his back for like only a second.

He heard a couple of toy's falling from the shelf and looking behind him he saw that Menma had accidentally knocked some toys off the shelf when he grabbed a figurine.

Naruto was quick to put them back, but the struggle came when he had to get the toy out of Menma's hold.

He tried lightly pulling, but Menma had a very tight grip on the toy.

"Okay, Menma. Sweety you can't get that. We already have enough toys. So please give it to Mommy." Naruto begged.

Menma didn't budge. So Naruto went with the other option.

"Menma. Give mommy the toy or you are not getting any honey in your food." Naruto threatened.

The small raven immediately let go of the toy and pulled his hand into the stroller and behind his back.

Yeah. Little Raven had a sweet tooth.

Worked wonders when bargaining with him.

Naruto put the toy back and got up. Just in time to see another woman approaching him.

"Hello." He greeted her with a smile as soon as she was in front of the three.

"Hello." She said with a snarky tone. Naruto didn't know why.

"Is something wrong?" Naruto asked.

"Yes. Very wrong. Did you refer to yourself as these children's mother?" She asked.

"Yes. I did. Is there a problem?" Naruto asked.

"Yes. Sir, you are a man. You can't call yourself the mother of these children, just because you want to." She said.

"Uh, ma'am I am their mother," Naruto said.

"Sir I understand that you are confused, but that is no reason to let your children be dragged into this." She said.

"Uhh, ma'am I am their mother. I gave birth to them." Naruto said.

"What?!" She yelled. This startled Menma and Jiraiya and also got the attention of everyone in the store.

"Ma'am please keep your voice down. Yes, I am their mother. Is there something wrong with that?" Naruto asked with a raised brow.

"Of course! You gave birth to them and that makes not only you but them an abomination!" She yelled.

Everyone in the store gasped at the way she was talking to Naruto. Undisguised disrespect being directed towards the Hokage was something that shocked and enraged them.

A few of the men had to hold back their partners to ensure they didn't tackle to woman.

The store manager was not going to allow her Hokage to be disrespected in her store.

So she walked over to her and kindly asked, "Ma'am can you please refrain from yelling at the Hokage and his children in my store."

"Hokage? Oh please. No one is stupid enough to allow this faggot to rule over the village!" She yelled.

"Ma'am either you take it back and leave willingly or I throw you out of the store on your ass and ban you for life. You are making it very unpleasant for everyone and if you say one more thing that attack's our Hokage's image or his leadership skills then I will personally remove you with added force. So either say your sorry or get thrown out!" She said as she stood in front of Naruto and the twins.

"I will say what I want when I want, and how I want. If this is my Hokage then consider me a threat to his life and those abominations because I sure as hell ain't going to allow a faggot to rule over me." She said.

Everyone in the store immediately took a step back the moment they heard Naruto silently cry and saw Sasuke standing behind him with the most demonic expression on his face directed at the woman.

He walked towards her and asked, "What's your name?"

"What?"

"I asked you what's your name?!" He said louder.

"Kira, my name is Kira. Now I will go out with you later, but right now I'm busy." She said as she threw him a flirtatious smile.

"Okay, Kira. Listen and listen closely. The man you are attacking is not only the Hokage of Kanohagakure, but he is my fiancé, soon-to-be wife. If you think I am going to trade the mother of my children who is kind, caring, lovable, and hot, for you, a fugly, dumb, fucktard. You've got another thing coming. Now kindly leave, before I allow the Anbu to leave the shadows and drag you away to the darkest depths of the underworld where not even Kami-sama will look for you." Sasuke threatened.

"Wh-"

"I said leave before you get trampled by twenty ANBU," Sasuke said.

Kira didn't leave so the manager decided to drag her out by force.

Sasuke just gave everyone a look that said mind your own business.

They did as "told" and looked away.

Sasuke walked towards Naruto and picked him up. Making sure that the blonde was safely secure in his arms before he started taking control of the stroller. He made one of the ANBU push the trolley to the checkout.

He made sure that they had all the bags before walking home.

As soon as he got home he put the twins down for a nap, put away the things Naruto got, and made sure Naruto was asleep before he send a couple of ANBU to terrorize Kira throughout the night.

"Dad?" Boruto called out from the doorway in the living room.

"Yeah?" Sasuke asked as he stroked a sleeping Naruto's hair.

"What is going on here?" Boruto asked as he gestured to the scene in front of him.

"Your mom had a rough day. So I'm making sure he gets some relaxation. What's up?" Sasuke asked.

"Nothing much. Just coming back from my date with Suki." Boruto said.

"Okay, what did the snake do?" Sasuke asked as he sat up. Naruto is now in the sitting position with his head in Sasuke's neck.

"Nothing. He took me out to get some BBQ and after that he took me to the falls for a swim and-"

"You two made out in the pond and he made a move for more, but you backed out because you were afraid of it hurting and not being the right time. So you backed out said sorry and he brought you home to make sure you didn't guilt trip yourself about not doing it." Sasuke said.

Boruto went to protest, but just groaned, "Damn you're good."

"I know."

"How did you get it on the dot?" Boruto asked.

"Your mom did the same thing. On the dot actually. Just goes to show you. You two are the exact same when it comes to taking the next step. You can take a lot of hits and not blink, but the moment a dick comes near you you freak." Sasuke said.

"Oh Kami Dad!" Boruto said with a blood-red face.

"What? It's true. Your mom did the same thing. Starting with the making out right to the guilt-tripping himself about not doing it." Sasuke said.

"Yeah, but still. Hearing about your first time is kinda gross."

"Yeah, well you are gonna tell your mom about it as soon as Mitsuki let you go home after he breaks your back in." Sasuke said.

Boruto choked on his own spit at that.

He had difficulty catching his breath while his father cackled like a maniac.

Chapter 36

Sasuke was sitting on the back porch looking at the large sakura tree that stood proudly in the backyard.

He doesn't know why, but he was remembering all the times he and Naruto had spent together.

He couldn't help but smile as he remembered everything that has happened through the years.

He felt a hand on his shoulder and looked into those beautiful cerulean blue eyes that he's come to onow and love.

"What are you thinking about my love?" Naruto asked.

Sasuke held his hand out and allowed Naruto to sit in between his legs.

"I'm just thinking about everything that we've been through," Sasuke said as he helped Naruto sit down.

"Like what?" Naruto asked.

"Our first official kiss. You know the one under the huge Bonzai tree." Sasuke said.

"You mean the one where we had that screaming match about why you didn't want to go out with Sakura?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah, that one," Sasuke said.

"Still can't believe we ended up making out under that tree," Naruto said.

"I can. It was one of the most important days of my life." Sasuke said.

"Why?" Naruto asked.

"Because that was the first time you willingly fell into my arms. You came to me and I wanted you to do it. Even though I didn't know it at the time." Sasuke said.

"You know you told us when you first fell in love with me, but I never told you when I first fell in love with you," Naruto said.

"That time, I said, was one of many," Sasuke said.

"That you told. Now let me tell you mine." Naruto said.

"Alright."

"Do you remember our first A-rank? The one that was originally classified as a C-rank?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah."

"Well, do you remember when Haku was attacking us? Throwing us with senbon needles?" Naruto asked.

"Yeah. I jumped in front of you and protected you from the senbons. Why?" Sasuke asked.

"That moment was when I knew you were more than just a friend to me. You know about my past. My abandonment issues, social anxiety, and my panic attacks. You know about all the dark and shitty things that have happened to me." Naruto said.

"Yeah. It wasn't hard to miss. Though I think others didn't pay attention, because you put forth that you were an idiot." Sasuke said.

"Yeah. Do you know what I thought at that moment? When you saved me." Naruto said.

"No. What did you think my pretty little Kitsune?" Sasuke asked.

"I thought about all the times you and I fought. How we argued. How we pushed each other. Each time I thought about it I knew I wanted more of it. Not something toxic. I wanted someone to push me. Someone to have small meaningless arguments with. Someone who would get mad at me for being stubborn, but still hold me at night so that I didn't feel lonely." Naruto said.

"Naru," Sasuke said.

"I wanted to do those cheesy couple things with someone. Like going out on dates, taking lots and lots of pictures. I wanted to do all those things and more. Then I realized that the person who I wanted to do those things with was you. I didn't want Sakura or any other girl. I wanted you." Naruto said as he snuggled into Sasuke's chest.

"You wanted to do that with me?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah. You accepted me for me and showed me love, care, and affection. I had never gotten that in my life and knew that I would need something so stable in my life." Naruto said.

"You and I both know I wasn't stable," Sasuke said.

"I know, but that's what I loved about you. That I'm gonna kill you look really got me wet." Naruto said as he turned around and straddled Sasuke's waist.

"I know. That's why I used it so often." Sasuke said as he and Naruto got closer and closer before they started kissing.

It was sweet at first, but as it progressed it got hot and bothered.

"Fuck I love you," Naruto said as he ran his hands through Sasuke's hair.

"Love you two. Vixen." Sasuke said as he groped Naruto's ass.

~Δ•°°•Δ Scene Change Δ•°°•Δ~

Karin was sitting in the living room reading a book when Sakura came down the stairs.

She wore Karin's sweater and a pair of pink and red polka-dot panties.

She made her way over to Karin and laid her head on her red-haired lover's lap.

Karin wasn't talking to her, because she said something stupid while drunk.

She had been sitting in her room all day crying, but now she was ready to make up for what she did.

"I don't want Sasuke," Sakura said.

Karin looked at her, wanting her to continue.

"He doesn't want me and I understand that. He loves Naruto and nothing is going to change that. I'm sorry for saying what I did. You are not second best. You should have been my first choice in everything." Sakura said as tear's welled up in her eyes.

Karin ran her hand through Sakura's hair and let her continue.

"If I had just been stronger and gone against my mother's word then I could have been with you. I could have been married to you. I could have had our kids. I could have been happy, but I chose Sasuke. I'm sorry for hurting you. I know I never apologized for it. There's a long list of things I have to apologize for. I know that. Just please don't leave me." Sakura said.

Karin's stroke's stopped as she looked at Sakura with bulging eyes.

"I know I can be brash and stupid and weak and everything negative said about me is true, but please don't go. Don't leave me. I'm begging you." Sakura said as her tears flew freely down her face.

"My pretty little flower." Karin said as she pulled Sakura onto her lap, "I'm not gonna leave you."

"But what I said-"

"Was in the heat of the moment. I know you didn't meet in. I love you too petal. So don't worry about it. I forgive you and I love you." Karin said.

Sakura's sobbing continued to rip through the air as she held onto Karin.

~Δ•°°•Δ Scene Change Δ•°°•Δ~

Mitsuki and Boruto were out on a date that day when they saw the most peculiar thing.

Inojin was talking to a blushing Himawari.

(Inojin-> 15
Himawari-> 12)

Boruto, still being her big brother did not like it. At all.

So Mitsuki had to pull him away from the two who were obviously on a date.

"I'm gonna string him up by his neck and use him as a fucking piñjata. How dare he move in on Hima." Boruto raged while Mitsuki stared at his boyfriend in awe.

In Mitsuki's eyes, Boruto looked like a raging kitten. His whisker marks didn't help his case at all.

He just pulled Boruto into his chest and snuggled into his neck. Taking in the scent of his beautiful lover.

"Suki?" Boruto asked.

"Your so pretty when you're angry. You look like a kitten." Mitsuki said.

Boruto's face flushed a dark red at this and he covered his cheeks.

~Δ•°°•Δ Scene Change Δ•°°•Δ~

Naruto and Sasuke had just finished their intense makeout.

Sasuke's hair was disheveled and Naruto's collarbone was covered in saliva and hickeys.

"So pretty with my marks decorating your body," Sasuke said as he kissed them.

"I know."

"It's like Kami-sama made you just for me. No-one else. Just for me." Sasuke said as he rested his head in the valley of Naruto's breasts.

"Of course he did. Why else would I be drawn to you?" Naruto asked.

"Because you like strong dark-haired men," Sasuke said.

"That's one of the reasons. Another one is you rock my world." Naruto said.

"Only your's," Sasuke said.

"You make me feel like a Goddess," Naruto said.

"Because you are," Sasuke said.

"You make me want to be your submissive bitch in heat," Naruto said as he pulled on Sasuke's hair.

Sasuke groaned in bliss.

"Then how about we go upstairs and you show me how much of a submissive bitch you are," Sasuke said.

"First lift my dress and take a look at what's waiting for you," Naruto said.

Sasuke did as told and felt the familiar feeling of lace touching his fingertips.

Sasuke lifted the dress completely and saw Naruto wearing Victoria's secret black lace panties and a pair of black lace garters. Upon closer inspection, Sasuke saw the outline of an entire lace suit. Completed with a bra that was connected to Naruto's panties.

"Oh, Vixen. I didn't know that you wanted to get pregnant again and so early too." Sasuke said.

"Only for you," Naruto said.

Sasuke just smirked and took Naruto to their bedroom. He was so glad that Menma and Jiraiya were spending the night at his mother's house because he sure as hell ain't gonna keep Naruto quiet the entire time.

Chapter 37

Sasuke walked into their room with Naruto still in his arms.

He had watched as Naruto unlaced his dress and put on the colar that came with his bra.

"I fucking love you." Sasuke said as he put Naruto onto his feet. Allowing the blonde's black and red Kimono to fall smoothly down his body.

It exposed the beautiful black lace undergarments that Naruto put on just for him.

[image]

"Holly shit." Sasuke said as his pants tightened.

Naruto turned around and walked towards their bedside drawer. He opened the drawer and pulled out lube, a pair of handcuffs, finger vibrators and a blindfold.

Sasuke decided that closing and locking the door was going to be the best way not to get cock blocked if Boruto or Sarada came home.

"Today is going to be long. Now take off your clothes." Naruto said.

Sasuke didn't have to be told twice as he was quick to take off his clothes.

Naruto walked over to Sasuke and pulled him closer. Making him sit on the bed.

He sunk down onto his knees and sat in between Sasuke's legs.

Sasuke couldn't help but smirk as Naruto leaned down towards his member.

He started kissing the tip of Sasuke's member and started moving down to the base of Sasuke's member.

He kissed back up and as he reached the top he started to kitten lick Sasuke's frenulum.

Enjoying the small grunts and moans he received from his raven haired lover.

Sasuke looked at Naruto just as the blonde started to slowly suck on Sasuke's tip. He kept eye contact with the raven the entire time.

Sasuke's head flew back as he felt Naruto's tongue run over his frenulum once more.

He started bobbing his head. Each time taking in more than the last. He kept lightly sucking on Sasuke's frenulum.

As soon as he had most of the cock in his mouth, it was way to big to fit the entire thing, he hollowed out his cheaks and slowly bobbed his head.

He ran my fingers up and down the base of the cock that he could not reach with his mouth. Stroking it and giving it attention.

His cock pulsated and twitched at the touch of Naruto's fingers.

As he had de-hollowed his cheaks he used his tongue to go around the cock and started running it up and down.

Enjoying the feel of the large organ in his mouth.

Sasuke leaned back and let out moans and groans of pure bliss.

Naruto quickened his pace and soon Sasuke's warm salty cum was shot into his mouth.

Sasuke watched as his lover swallowed every drop of his cum and couldn't help but feel more turned on from the sight.

"Give me your hand." Naruto said.

Sasuke, once again, did as told and held his hand out to Naruto.

"What's your plan Vixen?" Sasuke asked as he watched as Naruto stood up and take off his underwear. Naruto than straddled Sasuke's waist.

Naruto took the finger vibrator and dipped it in the lube. He handed the remote to Sasuke and said,"Stretch me out, handsome."

Sasuke didn't wait as he circled his finger around Naruto's small pink hole.

About two seconds later Sasuke had pushed his finger into Naruto's hole and he pressed the button on the remote. Starting it at one.

He started fingering the blonde. The vibrator lightly touching his cavern walls.

Naruto's back arched and his nails digged into the raven's shoulders. Drawing blood.

As Sasuke was fingering Naruto he started sucking on the blondes chest. Leaving dark purple hickeys as he continued.

Sasuke pressed the button again and it went to the second setting. This time Sasuke scissored Naruto. Making sure that each and every part of the blondes dark cavern was touched by the vibrator.

Naruto's back arched and he reached over and grabbed the blindfold.

"Sasuke I'm stretched." Naruto said.

Sasuke just smirked and let go of Naruto's chest, before he slowly pulled his fingers, with the vibrator, out of Naruto's ass.

He looked at his fiance, but everything went black. He felt the familiar feeling of black crushed velvet blindfold.

"What is your plan here vixen?" Sasuke asked.

"I'm taking control up until I decide that you can have it back."

Naruto said as he handcuffed Sasuke's hand's together and made sure that they where on his back.

Sasuke felt Naruto move up and not long after did he feel a pulsating heat above his hardened member.

His head flew back with a groan as he was buried into Naruto to the hilt.

"Fuck. Naru please start moving." Sasuke said.

Naruto leaned down and whispered into Sasuke's ear,"Master has to beg his pet first."

'Oh they where doing that kind of fucking.' Sasuke thought.

"What do you say? Is master gonna beg for release or not?" Naruto asked as he clenched his wall's around Sasuke's member.

"Oh fuck. Naru please. Oh fuck. Do that again." Sasuke said.

"You meen this?" He asked as he once again clenched his wall's around Sasuke's member.

"Yes. Oh fuck. Kami. Baby do that again. Please. For the love of Kami do that again." Sasuke begged.

"I'll do you one better." Naruto said as he started to slowly jump up and down.

"Oh fuck." Sasuke said as he tried to grab hold of Naruto's waist, but the cuff's where in the way.

"Do you want to touch?" Naruto asked.

"Yes. Oh fuck please let me touch you." Sasuke said.

"Master is going to have to be patient." Naruto sadistically said.

Sasuke's heart dropped but his cock twitched.

Naruto started to slowly jump again. He's jump twice, extremely slow, stop, clench and repeat. It was driving Sasuke crazy. He was cumming over and over and it was to fucking slow for him.

So he decided that he had, had enough.

He broke the cuff's, took of his blindfold and flipped both of them around, before he took one big thrust into his blonde haired lover.

Naruto's toes curled and his back arched.

"Master's turn to be in control." Sasuke said as he pulled out and redispositioned himself, before he thrusted in again.

He hit Naruto's prostate head on each time. Naruto's back arched, his toes curled and his leg's where shaking as Sasuke continued to mutilate his prostate with each thrust. Not stopping for a breath.

Naruto's plea's, moans and groans echo'd throughout the room as Sasuke continued to leave his mark's on Naruto's beautifully tanned body.

After a while Naruto could feel it. The muscles in his lower regions tightened every few second's and before he could even warn Sasuke rope's of cum and slick left not only his ass, but his member.

"That's my bitch." Sasuke said as he emptied his load into Naruto's ass.

He pulled out and flipped Naruto onto his hand's and knees and without warning thrusted into Naruto's tight little hole.

Naruto's arm's gave out and his leg's where shaking at each thrust that Sasuke gave.

The raven moved his hands from Naruto's hip's to his thighs. He squeezed and molded them nicely. Making sure to leave dark blue fingerprints here and there.

"Sas- AHHH- Sasuke!" Naruto moaned out.

"That's right. Say my name baby. Say my name." Sasuke said as his thrust's got faster and more aggressive.

"Oh fuck. Oh fuck. Sasuke." Naruto moaned out through tears. He was getting overwhelmed. He felt his second orgasm approach and within a few seconds he released yet another string of cum and slick.

"Sasuke!"Naruto yelled as the raven continued to abuse his prostate.

{ < Time Skip > }

Naruto was not walking tomorrow. That was a definite. His waist was bruised with Sasuke's fingerprint's. His thighs where fucking purple. His ass was so sore it felt like someone had kicked it multiple times and he was fucking exhausted.

Why?

Because Sasuke wouldn't stop till it was midnight.

Yeah that's right. The raven wouldn't stop up until he had his fill of Naruto.

Right now he was still buried in Naruto's ass, while they both spooned each other. Naruto was obviously little spoon.

"I fucking love our sexcapades." Sasuke said.

"Sasuke I love you, but if you try and pull me into one more round I'm not gonna be able to walk, ever." Naruto said.

"Fine. I won't, but just know. I love you and the effort you put into planning this."

"I love you too."

"Oh and by the way. You look totally fuckable in lace." Sasuke said.

"I realized that this morning. Now I'm paying for it." Naruto said.

Sasuke just kissed his exhausted blonde's cheak and lulled him to sleep.

Chaptrt 38

Sakura stood nervously in front of Naruto's office door.

She was contemplating how to do it. How to not make an even bigger idiot out of herself than she already has? How to ask for forgiveness from the man who has helped her get through the most intense moments of her life.

I mean how do you apologize to someone whose kid's you have tried to hurt? Whose husband you tried to claim? Who she threatened on multiple occasions? How do you apologize to someone when you've screwed up so much?

She took a deep breath and went to knock on the door only to have it slide open.

Naruto sat at his desk and he was looking straight at her. Sakura lowered her head as a sign of embarrassment.

"Come in Sakura. Let's talk." Naruto said.

Sakura slowly entered the room and took a seat on one of the chairs in front of Naruto's desk. The door closed with a loud bang and Sakura could feel herself squirm.

"Now I believe that you didn't stand outside of my office for an hour for nothing. What do you want to talk about?" Naruto asked.

"I-uhh-umm- I-"She tried. She really did, but she just couldn't find the words for it.

"Sakura take a breath and collect yourself," Naruto said.

"I'm sorry about what I did!" She yelled.

"Sakura-" Naruto was cut off.

"No. I'm not done yet. I'm sorry for going through with the marriage. I'm sorry for taking Sasuke away from you. I knew you loved each other and I was rooting for you, but my mother she got into my head. And I know that that's no excuse for what I did and I know I need help. I'm sorry for hurting Sarada. I didn't mean to, but I was just so angry and I know that what I did was wrong. I also know that I'm not fit to be the mother of such a beautiful and intelligent girl. I'm sorry for threatening your family. I'm sorry for trying to hurt your twins. I know that no amount of apologies can make up for it, but just know that I regret my actions. I'm so sorry Naruto!"She said through tears. She couldn't control the sobs that were ripping through her.

She heard Naruto's chair move out and within a few seconds, she felt herself being pulled out of her chair and into a hug. She felt her shoulder get wet.

She and Naruto stood in his office for about an hour. Both crying their eye's out and apologizing for making the other cry. Which, in turn, made them cry harder.

They were both just so overwhelmed that they got the other back.

Sasuke didn't know this, but after he went rogue Naruto and Sakura fell into a deep depression. They not only lost a love interest but a very dear friend.

Naruto and Sakura had to pull each other out of that deep dark pit of despair.

They slowly became more than just teammates who acted more like acquaintances. They became family.

Brother and sister, but somewhere along the path of growing up, getting married, and having a career they forgot about it.

Sasuke and Karin walked into the office and saw both of their lovers crying while hugging each other.

"What the hell is going on here?" Sasuke asked.

"Progress," Karin said as she looked proudly at her girlfriend.

Sakura had promised to do better and this was proof of it.

"Okay, but why are they crying?" Sasuke asked.

"They finally got each other back. Their familial bond suffered greatly during this entire thing and I think that somewhere deep down fighting with each other was hurting them more than they would admit." Karin said.

Sasuke looked at Naruto and saw that he was currently crying happy tears. His blonde was happy to have his sister back.

~°•◇•°~

It was about another hour after that when both calmed down.

Sakura was coming to the house for dinner tonight and she was going to apologize to Sarada for everything she put her through.

Karin had taken Sakura home to get her cleaned up. The pinkette's eye's where swollen from all the tears she had cried.

Sasuke took Naruto home and helped the blonde get ready for the night.

Izuna, Tobirama, Madara, and Hashirama were out on a mission.

They decided to become Anbu seeing as sitting around the house and doing nothing all day wasn't something they were used.

Both the twins were out with Boruto and Sarada the whole day. They wanted to learn about taking care of babies and what better way than having a hand's on experience? Luckily Naruto taught them the basics before letting them go.

When Boruto and Sarada came home both were immediately alert, because Sasuke took the twins and told them that Naruto wanted to talk to them.

Both parents agreed that Naruto should be the one to tell them, seeing as he was more experienced with reading emotions than Sasuke was.

Mother and children sat down at the dining table. Both were seated in front of Naruto looking at him with questioning eyes.

"Tonight is going to be an emotional roller coaster for all of us," Naruto said.

"Why?" Boruto asked.

"Sakura is coming over and before you two start freaking hear me out," Naruto said.

They nodded and let Naruto explain.

"She came to my office today to apologize to me about everything she had done. She's coming here to make amends." Naruto said.

"What if she doesn't do that? What if she just make's it worse? Mom, she could hurt Sarada!" Boruto yelled as he stood up.

"Boruto-"

"No! Mom, she threatened you! She tried to kill the twins! She attacked Aunty Hinata! She hurt Sarada! She made us all worry about what's around the corner! She's been a threat to all of us since day one and you want to invite her into our home?!" Boruto yelled.

"Boruto." Sarada softly called out to her big brother.

"What?!" He harshly asked.

"You're making mom cry." She said.

Boruto looked at his mother and he was indeed crying.

Boruto's eyes widened and he was quick to go to his mother and hugged him.

"Mom I'm sorry. Please don't cry. I'm sorry." Boruto said.

While her mother and brother were having a moment Sarada went to find her father.

"Dad?" She asked as soon as she got to her parent's bedroom door.

"Yeah come in," Sasuke said.

She walked in and saw that he had just put Menma down for a nap.

"What's going on?" Sasuke asked.

"Boruto yelled at Mom and now they are making up," Sarada said.

"Yeah. Sound's like your brother. He's my son, but he's got your mother's attitude." Sasuke said.

Sarada just looked down and played with her fingers.

Sasuke just sighed and patted the bed.

Sarada was quick to sit down.

"You know. Your mother would never do anything if he thought that it could hurt you or your brother." Sasuke said.

Sarada stayed silent. Sasuke just sighed and sat down next to her.

"You know the night you were born we were scared shitless. Your shoulder got stuck and you were losing air. For the first time in my life, I was frozen in fear, but you know what your mother did? He reached his hand in and unhooked your shoulder and pulled you out. He was crying more than you did that day because he thought he lost you." Sasuke said.

Sarada looked up at her father with questioning eyes.

"You know Naruto practically raised you. He didn't give birth to you, but he has been your mother since day one. He was actually the one who held you for the first time. Smacked me a couple of times when he thought I wasn't holding you right." Sasuke said as he rubbed the back of his head.

"What?"

"Yeah. You remember all those gifts you got from me when you were younger?" Sasuke asked.

"Yeah," Sarada said.

"Well since I hadn't been in your life for most of it I never knew what to get you on your birthdays, but Naruto did. He's actually the reason as to why I knew so much about you. He'd call or write to me daily to brag about you and Boruto. He'd always tell me how you did in training or how smart you were, what book you were reading, what your word of the day was. Everything. He told me so much about you that I could envision you right in front of me." Sasuke said.

"Did you come close to what I actually looked like?" Sarada asked.

"No, because you are so much better than what I envisioned," Sasuke said.

"How so?" She asked.

"Because Naruto raised you. It is also because Naruto raised you that I know you can protect yourself from danger. You were scared of Sakura because in your mind she was bigger and stronger. However, I know for a fact that you are one hundred percent your mother's daughter. If Naruto felt that this wouldn't be safe then he wouldn't have done it. You and I know that." Sasuke said.

"What if I get scared? What if I freeze up? What if I have a panic attack?" Sarada asked.

"If at any time you do get scared, freeze up, or have a panic attack then you take my hand, or your mother's hand, or either of your big brother's hand's and you squeeze. Then you will say the following like a mantra in your head up until it goes away. Okay?" Sasuke asked.

"Okay."

"Good now repeat after me," Sasuke said.

"Okay."

"I am not afraid."

"I am not afraid."

"Of the demons that lurk at night."

"Of the demons that lurk at night."

"Of the terrors that are a fright."

"Of the terrors that are a fright."

"Because I am strong."

"Because I am strong."

"I am not afraid of the demons that lurk in the night, of the terrors that are a fright, because I am strong," Sasuke said.

"I am not afraid of the demons that lurk in the night of the terrors that are a fright, because I am strong," Sarada repeated after him.

"That's good. Now remember that, because I'm not. I gotta write that shit down somewhere." Sasuke said as looked around for a pen and paper.

Sarada started giggling at her father and shook her head.

"Hey don't laugh at me. I'm getting too old to remember stuff. Keep this a secret, but yesterday when your mom asked me to pick up some diet soda at the store I totally forgot that it had to be diet. So I just lied and said that they were out because your mom's scary when he's mad." Sasuke said.

"You did what?!" Naruto yelled as he barged into the room.

"Bey sweetie daddy love's you," Sasuke said as he kissed Sarada's forehead and bolted for the window, before jumping out.

Death is nicer than his soon-to-be wife.

He ran out of the compound and hid in the forest of death. Most of the creature's in there had his chakra level so it would be a while before Naruto would track him down, that's assuming he came after Sasuke.

The raven really hoped he didn't.

{ < Time Skip > }

Luckily for Sasuke, Naruto didn't come after him.

He decided to go home about two hours later.

By the look of it, Sakura was just arriving so Sasuke sunshined into their bedroom and quickly put on more suitable clothes.

He walked downstairs and found everyone in the living room. Sakura was down on her knees bowing to Sarada in an apologetic manner.

"I know that I wasn't the best mother. I wouldn't be surprised if you even considered me to be your mother at all, but what I do know is that I regret it. I regret hurting you. I regret breaking you down. I regret making you feel unsafe and unloved. I know what I did was wrong and I know that nothing could ever make up for what I did to you, but just know that I will always live with the guilt of hurting you. I will always regret what I did to you, but I know for a fact that what I feel now will never amount to the pain and suffering I put you through." Sakura said as she was once again crying her eye's out.

Sarada looked around the room and repeated the mantra in her head.

I am not afraid of the demons that lurk in the night of the terrors that are a fright, because I am strong. She said it over and over up until she got her own meaning from it.

The best way for her and Sakura to move on from the past is by forgetting it.

She got on her knees and put her hands on Sakura's shoulders. She lifted the pinkette up and hugged her.

"I forgive you." She whispered.

Everyone, except Naruto, looked at them in shock.

"For everything that you did to me, I forgive you. We need to move on from the past and go into the future. You know what you did was wrong. That's all that matters." She said,

Sakura just cried harder and said, "You really are Naruto's daughter."

About an hour after that everyone sat down to eat.

It was a great day and lots of progress was made. Something that made Naruto's heart swell in pride as he looked at his daughter. She really surprised him tonight and he was proud of it.

[image] [image] [image] [image]

It had been a week since the entire Sakura convention and Naruto doesn't know why, but he was pulled out of bed, by most of the women he knew and pushed into a room with all of the women he knew.

He doesn't even know how they got into his house.

However, right now they were at Hinata's house and everyone was running around and doing something.

Naruto was sat in the dining hall and ate mini tarts while Sakura and Hinata ran around the house with clipboards and earpieces.

"Where the hell is Kushina?!" Hinata roared into hers.

"No, Sai. I said in a full suit. If you and Ino show up in crop-top you won't be having another kid! Ever!" Sakura yelled into her's.

"What do you mean she's not coming?! I paid that bitch so she better be here!" Hinata said.

"No! The white lilies go on the table and the rest of them go into the pond! Get it right!" Sakura yelled.

"Oh no, she won't! I want security doubled in and around the place. If they aren't on the list then they aren't allowed in! That's final!" Hinata yelled.

"No. We want the white doves because some of the children are afraid of butterflies! How many times do I have to say that?!" Sakura yelled.

"You know what they are doing?" Naruto asked TenTen who was sitting next to him. She was thoroughly cleaning a pair of twin daggers that Naruto wasn't really looking at.

"You will know as soon as your mother gets here," Tenten said with a smile directed at the blonde.

"Sir! You yell at me one more time and I will send a chakra-infused punch up your ass!" Sakura yelled.

"Well, it's gotta be intense if Sakura is yelling that much," Naruto said.

"Oh, you have no idea," TenTen said.

{<Scene Change>}

Sasuke was frustrated. He was dragged out of bed, didn't know where his fiance was and nobody was telling him anything.

"Okay. We have about seven hours to get this man in a suit, get his hair done and make him take weird ass photos with us that we can use as blackmail." Sugetsu said. Sasuke didn't even know when his best friend got to Konoha.

"Okay, can you please tell me what is going on now?" Sasuke asked.

"Dude, how haven't you figured it out yet?" Kiba asked as he ran around with huge potted plants.

"Because nothing big was planned for the day," Sasuke said.

"Oh, my Kami. Sasuke it's your wedding day." Shikamaru said.

"Naruto and I haven't planned that yet. So it can't be." Sasuke said as he shook his head.

"Yeah. That's kinda why your friends planned it for you guys. Your plates have been so full recently with watching over the kids, taking care of the twins, taking care of not only the clan but the village, and then the Kara threat. We thought that we could help you guy's out by doing this for you." Sai said as he stepped into the room.

"How can they plan a wedding in a week?" Sasuke asked.

"They didn't. They have been since the day you proposed to Naruto, but it was going a bit slow. However, when Sakura had made up with you guys it went like twenty times faster. Now we are here. So get into that tux that your mother and father bought you or so help me, Kami I will tell the girls you are resisting." Gaara said.

He doesn't know where the hell the redhead came from or when he got here, but he wasn't about to argue with him.

He got up and went to put on his tux. It was an entirely black tux which was paired up nicely with a white button-up and a gray tie. He had a nice pair of black dress shoes. The entire outfit was brought together by a black blazer jacket.

"Okay. The most important thing is done what's next? Oh, we have to make sure that every one of our guests has a sun and moon pendant that Sakura and Karin designed. It's a gift from the bride and groom. Now the question is. Who's gonna do it?" Shikamaru asked as he looked around the room of unwilling participants.

"I'll do it. We can put some of the academy students on it and it would be like the first D-rank mission added to their names." Shino said.

"Free child labor. Digging it." Kiba said

Shino just shook his head and went to round up his students.

"Okay. Someone is gonna have to help the camera crew set up their equipment somewhere not in the way. Who's gonna help with that?" Shikamaru asked.

"I can. I have the perfect place for them." Sai said as he ran out the door.

"Okay. The next task on the list is....."

That's how it went for the next six hours. Everyone was setting things up and Naruto's Anbu was patrolling the village with an extra keen eye. Nothing was gonna ruin their favorite Hokage's big day, Naruto, against orders, snuck them muffins and stuff after a particularly long and hard day of work.

Kami and the rest of the Gods were watching the entire thing from the Takamagahara. They couldn't wait for the wedding to start.

The reason why the entire thing was being filmed was because people from all nations wanted to see it, but there wasn't enough room in Konoha for them all to fit into. So Ino suggested broadcasting it live on all channels just to allow people to see it.

Naruto was looking at his wedding dress with tears in his eyes. It was so beautiful.

It was a white and pinkish-red dress. The sleeves were not attached to the dress itself and the dress had two overlapping flower petal shapes that pushed up his breasts. It was a pinkish-red color and he loved it. The middle was white and had a lint going around it with white lilies on the side. After that came another piece of pinkish white and it was wrapped around Naruto's waist. The rest of the dress was white and as it went down it got bigger. He got a nice pair of white flats which he thought were adorable.

Naruto felt overwhelmed by the fact that this was his dress. It would be Sarada's when she gets married. Boruto's when he gets married, that's to say if he's okay with wearing a dress.

Naruto felt someone pat his eye's with a tissue.

"Don't cry Naru. You are gonna ruin your mascara." Hinata said.

"Yeah, and I worked hard on those cat eyes so don't ruin them," Sakura said.

"I'm sorry. It's just. This is exactly what I pictured it would look like." Naruto said.

"Yeah. You know this is the dress your mom wore when she married your dad." Hinata said.

"Yeah. That's why I'm so happy right now." Naruto said.

"Girls," Kushina called as she walked into the room," We have a problem outside. Can you two please go deal with it so that I can have a moment alone with my son?" She asked.

Both girls nodded and pulled up their sleeves. They were ready to knock the living daylight out of someone if they decided to interfere with the wedding.

Kushina walked up to Naruto and wiped away his tears before pulling him into a hug.

"You know." Kushina started," The day I died I remembered that I wouldn't be able to watch you take your first steps. Say your first words. Your first sentence. Pull your first prank. Become a ninja. Fall in love." She said as she pulled away and stroked his whiskered cheeks, "Get married."

Kushina had tears lightly falling down her face.

"Mom," Naruto said as he tried to keep his tears at bay.

"I couldn't be there for you in the way that I wanted to. However, I thank Kami every day for giving me the two most amazing gifts. Your father and you. I am so proud of you Naruto. I can't even begin to describe it to you. You exceeded all my expectations and limits. I'm so proud that even after everything you've been through you still have a smile on your face. It makes me swell with joy. Knowing that you got your happy ending." She said.

"Thank you, Mom. I needed that." Naruto said.

Now I'm guessing you have been wondering who exactly has the stupidity of trying to crash Naruto's wedding? Let's see, shall we?

{ < With Sakura and Hinata > }

Hinata and Sakura stood in front of Mebuki Haruno who was carrying a can of spray paint.

"Mother, what exactly are you going to do with that?" Sakura asked with a raised brow.

"Well, obviously I'm gonna ruin Naruto's dress with it. Now help me sneak inside. We have to get this over and done with fast." Mebuki said.

"Mother, why do you want to ruin Naruto's dress?"

"Well obviously to stop him from marrying Sasuke. No one is marrying the Uchiha but you. That's final." Mebuki said.

"Mother. I have moved on from Sasuke. I don't want to marry him." Sakura said.

"My dear you can't say that. You should marry Sasuke because it help's us rise in social stature and-"

"Mother I like girls," Sakura said.

"Oh, my this nonsense again. Sakura I have said it before and I will say it again. You are not marrying a woman and bringing shame to our family name." Mebuki said.

"Mother our name is already stained enough, because of you! Do you think my liking women bring shame upon us?! What about you trying to ruin the Hokage's wedding, because of your own selfishness!" Sakura yelled.

"Sakura do not yell at me! I am-"

"Delusional?! Self-centered?! Narcissistic?! Unreasonable?! Heartless?! Idiotic?! I couldn't agree more! Sasuke and Naruto are going to get married whether you like it or not! I am going to love Karin Uzumaki for the rest of my life, whether you like it or not! I will be my own person and not your mindless puppet, whether you like it or not! No either go away or I will call the Anbu on you and let them lock you up in Hozuki Castle!" Sakura yelled.

Mebuki looked her daughter in the eyes and said," You wouldn't dare."

"ANBU!" Sakura yelled.

She dared.

The situation was explained and Mebuki was taken away with the threat of her going to Hozuki Castle for a week.

{ < Time Skip > }

It was finally time. The day was long and tiring, but now all the hard work was paid off. It was finally time for the wedding to begin.

The guests were seated, the camera was rolling and everything was perfect.

Sakura made everyone stand as soon as the music started.

The song Blue Bird was being played on the piano as Naruto walked down the aisle with his father.

Sasuke could feel his soul leave his body. He was once again falling in love with Naruto. The blonde's pure, radiant beauty is what pulled him in the first time.

He was reminded of all the times he and Naruto shared. The good and the bad. He loved all of them.

He loved the fights he had with Naruto. He loved the kisses they shared. The times they held hands. The dates they went on. The long mornings spend getting ready for the day. He loved them all because they each had Naruto in them.

He couldn't help it as he once again fell in love.

Naruto felt his knees grow weak and his breath hitch.

He couldn't help it. His future husband was Sasuke Uchiha.

He couldn't help to remember every time he fell deeper and deeper in love. Every time they hugged. Every time they kissed. Every time they said I love you. Every time they held each other. Every single memory Naruto had of them was good. Even the fights.

Every step he took he could remember it all. He could feel himself, yet again fall deeper in love with this man.

He got to the altar and his father handed him away to Sasuke. Kissing him on the forehead and with a proud smile.

They stood in front of each other and allowed the officiator, a sober Tsunade, to do her thing.

"Ladies and gentlemen. We are gathered here to witness not only the union between two lovers but two best friends and Kindred spirits. We are here to witness the eternal bond of love tighten its hold. If you wish to object now then stand up and leave or forever hold your peace." Tsunade said as she started glaring at everyone in front of her. If one stood up she would end them on the spot.

No one stood up.

"Alright. I was told that the bride and groom had prepared vows." She said with a sinister smirk.

Both just rolled their eyes at the old woman and Sasuke started speaking first.

"Naruto if you would have told a twelve-year-old me that I would one day be marrying you he would have taken your head off. However, I can say with honesty that you make my life better. You make me want to be more. You make me a better man and I can't thank you enough for it. Every day I look at you I can't help but add on to the ever-growing list of things I love about you. You are my one and only love and I hope that in the next life and the life after that, that we will always find each other because I can't see myself being as happy with anyone else other than you." Sasuke said.

The woman coo'ed at this.

"Naruto?" Tsunade asked.

"You know. Every day of my life I feel whole. I feel loved. All because of you. Every year, every month, every week, every day, every hour, every minute, and every second I can't help, but fall deeper and deeper in love with you. You make me happy in even the darkest of times. You make me laugh at even the silliest of things. You are the light at the end of my tunnel. You make me whole every step of the way and I can't thank you enough for that. I hope that we get to be together for eternity. I hope that we can have more kids. Watch our kids grow up. Grow old together. I hope that you continue to love me as much as you do now because I know that I will never stop."Naruto said.

"Can the ring bearers please bring the rings up?" Tsunade asked.

Boruto and Sarada walked down the aisle with Menma and Jiraiya on their hips. Both babies had a beautiful pair of silver and blue rings.

"Sasuke do you take Naruto as your lawfully wedded wife? Will you hold him up when he can not stand? Will you care for him when he is sick? Will you care for him when he feels there is no one else? Will you turn your back on the world if they turn their back's on him? For as long as you both shall live?" She asked.

"In this life and the next. I do." Sasuke said.

Menma, as practiced, gave his father the ring and Sasuke put the circular object on Naruto's ring finger.

"Naruto do you take Sasuke as your lawfully wedded husband? Will you hold him up when he can not stand? Will you care for him when he is sick? Will you care for him when he feels there is no one else? Will you turn your back on the world if they turn their back's on him? For as long as you both shall live?" She asked.

"In this life and the next. I do." Naruto said.

Jiraiya gave his mother the ring and they watched as Naruto put it on Sasuke's finger.

"I now pronounce you husband and wife. Sasuke you may kiss your bride." Tsunade said with a smile.

Sasuke didn't have to be told twice as he pulled Naruto in by his waist and pulled him into a kiss.

{<Time Skip>}

It was now the reception. Everything was beautiful.

Sakura and the girls had really outdone themselves.

The fairy light's where hung all around, making it look all the more magical. The tables were decorated with a white cloth and a singular white lily pod in the middle. Surrounding it was red roses. Each table had one.

There was a bar and a buffet which was stacked full. Most people were on the dance floor shaking it with Naruto and Sasuke.

Kawaki was currently standing against one of the pillars and looking out onto the dance floor.

He was cut off from this however as he was dragged away by the young Nara.

Shikadai dragged Kawaki and pulled them both behind a tree. He pushed Kawaki against it and pulled the raven\blonde into a kiss.

It wasn't hot or steamy, but it was like someone staking a claim.

When they pulled away Shikadai looked Kawaki straight in the eye and said, "You are hopeless when it comes to me giving you signs that I like you back you idiot. So I'm just gonna say it. I like you Kawaki."

Kawaki didn't wait long and kissed Shikadai again.

The pineapple head was surprised, but not against it.

They would go on to get married and adopt a couple of kids.

Boruto and Mitsuki would also get married. Boruto wore the dress. They would then go on to have four beautiful children. Two boys and two girls.

Sarada and Cho-Cho would also get married, but instead of dresses, they wore black suits. Naruto and Karui were both hollering about how beautiful their daughters looked.

Menma and Jiraiya would soon be joined by five more brothers. Daiki, Saki, Minato, Fugaku, and a Sasuke Jr.

Naruto and Sasuke lived happily married to their big family.

Karin and Sakura got married and Sakura gave birth to one baby boy and one baby girl. Both their pride and joy.

Hinata got over men and decided that women were not her cup of tea either and became an Ace.

Kara did rear its ugly head, but Naruto and Sasuke took care of it pretty quickly.

So Konoha went on to live on in history as the biggest and strongest nation.

Something everyone knew about.

~The end~
